UN Will Investigate Arab - Israel Dispute

Urge Full Probe Of Border Battle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP)— The U. N. Security Council decided today to inquire fully into Arab-Israeli border incidents including the recent killings at Kibya, Jordan.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American delegate, told the council the United States is disturbed by reports of truce violations along the border. He said the council must act if these reports are confirmed by Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, Denmark, chief of staff of the truce supervision organization in Palestine, who is coming here to report on the situation.

Killings Were Unlawful

"Nations should not take the law into their hands," Lodge said. A raid last Wednesday by Israelis on the Jordan village of Kibya killed 66 Arabs. Jordan charged the raid was carried out by Israeli armed forces but Israel denied its army was involved. Israel said the raid was in retaliation for the killing by Arabs of an Israeli mother and two children.

Abba Eban, Israeli delegate, informed the council it should consider "violations by Arab states of the general armistice agreements and of Security Council resolutions relating thereto." He charged that regular and irregular Jordan forces attacked civilians in Israel, and that brutal assaults by raiders from Jordan were made on lives and property in Israel.

The Council met in urgent session yesterday at the request of the United States, Britain and France to discuss an item listed as "The Palestine Question." Lebanon's Charles Malik objected that the Western Powers should say what they meant. He proposed the Council accept a wording in effect condemning Israel for the Kibya raid.

Wrangle For 3 Hours

The Council tangled for more than three hours yesterday and succeeded only in asking Bennike to come here. The meeting today was delayed 40 minutes while delegates tried to persuade Malik to accept a compromise wording put up by Alexis Kyrou, Greece, with approval of the Western Powers. He accepted it after talking with delegates of other Arab countries.

This provided that the Council would discuss the situation as follows:

"The Palestine question, compliance with and enforcement of the general armistice agreements with special reference to recent acts of violence and in particular the incidents at Kibya Oct. 14 and 15; report by the chief of staff of the U. N. truce supervision organization."

Labor Leader Bill Hutcheson Succumbs At 79

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 20 (AP) — William L. Hutcheson, 79, former head of the giant AFL carpenters' union and a militant figure in labor's struggle for recognition, died today of a heart ailment.

Hutcheson was head of the carpenters' union for 36 years until he stepped down in January, 1952, in favor of his son, Maurice A. Hutcheson.

The husky labor leader entered Methodist Hospital Oct. 15 after complaining of severe pains in the abdomen, and he suffered a heart attack Oct. 15. He had been in a critical condition since.

Cooled Toward Party

One of the few major labor leaders espousing the Republican cause, Hutcheson was mentioned as a possible candidate for the vice presidency in 1944, but he cooled toward the party, mostly because of the Taft-Hartley law.

However, he continued as a staunch Republican and took part in one of the major non-labor battles of his career at the national convention at Chicago last year.

The Republican State Convention had instructed the 32-member Indiana delegation to support Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. But Hutcheson and publisher Eugene C. Pulliam refused to be bound by the instructions and supported Dwight D. Eisenhower throughout.

Hutcheson was a bitter opponent of the administrations of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and was almost alone among labor leaders in criticizing him for what he called "government's inroads on free enterprise."

Hutcheson had a stormy labor career and his battles with John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers at times got to the swinging stage.

Become Reconciled

Lewis punched the 215-pound Hutcheson on the jaw during a debate at the 1935 AFL convention and the 6-foot-2 carpenters' chief attempted to return a haymaker, missed and skidded across a table and to the floor. Lewis subsequently withdrew 10 unions from the AFL's fold.

However, the two eventually became reconciled and the bushy-browed miners' boss, along with the late AFL President William Green, came to Indianapolis in 1952 for a testimonial in honor of "Big Bill," as Hutcheson was generally known.

Farm Price Supports For 1954 Announced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced today the government will support the price of oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums produced in 1954 at 85 per cent of parity—the same percentage as this year.

In dollars and cents, however, support prices will be lower for oats, barley, and grain sorghums —but not for rye. This results from a progressive shifting from the old 1910-14 base to a modernized parity formula.

Cab Driver Sorry He Tipped Police On Kidnap-Slayers

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20 (AP)—Cab driver John Hager, now sorry he tipped off police to the confessed kidnap-slayers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, today told his part of the affair to high police officials.

He testified before Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell who is leading the investigation here into the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom money.

Lt. Louis Shoulders, who got Hager's tip and a key man in reports of discrepancies in police accounts of the case, was reported suffering a nervous condition.

Hager told newsmen before entering the inquiry room he has "been hounded so much by this thing that my wife has become a nervous wreck. People call me on the telephone with all kinds of remarks.

"All this because I decided to tip off Lt. Shoulders, and the kidnapers and murderers of this boy got caught. It's gotten so I wish I had never called the police. And you can bet your bottom dollar I won't call them again on anything."

Hager's tip led to the arrest by Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan of Carl Austin Hall here Oct. 6. Later Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, Hall's woman friend, was arrested.

Dr. Charles M. Bauman, Lt. Shoulders' doctor, told newsmen the officer was "emotionally upset and I believe he should not be questioned at this time."

"He told me he wants to go down and tell his story and is confident he will be cleared," Dr. Bauman said.

He said Shoulders was "completely wrought up" because he "cannot understand why, after he broke the case, they should investigate him simply because they can't find the money."

Order Strike Vote For Rail Workers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — Leaders of 15 unions today ordered a strike vote among one million non-operating railroad workers to back up demands for improved fringe benefits.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of a negotiating committee set up by the unions, announced at the same time that the unions have asked the National Mediation Board to step into the five months old dispute.

Leighty, president of the Telegraphers Union, said it is "possible but rather unlikely" that a strike will be called Dec. 1 when the strike ballots are returnable.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 20 (AP) — Three persons were killed and two were rescued unharmed when an Argentine air force bomber crashed in the River Plate near here today.

Peace Appeal Sent Soviets By Churchill

Russians Retaliate With Criticism Of British Minister

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP)— Prime Minister Churchill appealed to the Soviet Union today to co-operate for peace. The Soviets, almost at the same time, reopened criticism of Churchill, thereby throwing fresh doubt on the chances for Four-Power meetings.

In the House of Commons, Churchill expressed hope the Kremlin would accept the West's bid for a Big Four conference of foreign ministers as "an invaluable step toward reducing world tension." He also reiterated his wish for talks on a top level involving himself, President Eisenhower and Premier Malenkov. He sidestepped an answer on whether he might go alone to Moscow.

Appears First Time

Churchill appeared in the House for the first time in four months.

He expressed regret he had been unable, because of ill health, to go to a Bermuda conference with Eisenhower and Premier Laniel of France. Now, he noted, Soviet Russia has been invited to a foreign ministers' session at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9.

"I think such a meeting would be an invaluable step toward a reduction of international tension and a solution of major European problems," he said. "We hope Mr. Molotov (Soviet foreign minister) will accept.

"This involves no change in our outlook," he added with a glance toward Laborites who have accused the government of abandoning proposals for a top-level meeting.

"Our view remains that friendly, informal and personal talks between the leading figures in the countries mainly involved might do good and could not easily do much harm."

Well To Remember

He said, however, "it is as well to remember that there is a limit to what can be done by one government." This referred to U. S. opposition to top-level talks unless the Russians concede some points on lower levels.

Asked about a report he is ready to meet Malenkov alone if Eisenhower shuns a big top level meeting, Churchill declined to confirm or deny. Then he was asked by a Laborite if he would "fulfill the promise of millions of people by making a declaration that he would be prepared to meet Mr. Malenkov as soon as possible." Churchill did not think this was "a suitable opportunity" for discussion of that topic.

Almost as if by design, the Soviet press carried a bitter attack on Churchill today. A year or more ago, the Moscow papers frequently described Churchill as an archcriminal or worse, but recently they have refrained from attacking him. Today Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, said Churchill in a recent speech sought to issue an ultimatum to France on ratification of the treaty for a European Defense Community.

Singer La Rosa Signs New Pact

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Singer Julius La Rosa struck out on his own today after getting his walking papers from the Arthur Godfrey shows in the presence of a nationwide radio and television audience.

Saying he always would be grateful to Godfrey, who plucked him from obscurity two years ago and made him a star, La Rosa nevertheless professed to be "a very confused guy" as a result of his sudden exit from the shows.

Meanwhile, arrangements were being made for La Rosa to appear regularly the next 52 weeks on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town on CBS television Sunday nights. And La Rosa's newly signed manager said the 23-year-old singer's contract, which was with CBS rather than Godfrey, was being studied with a view to planning personal appearances and other activities.

The apparent family fuss in the Godfrey organization also resulted in the departure of band leader Archie Bleyer from Godfrey's daytime and Wednesday night shows. Bleyer's contract on the Monday night Talent Scouts has eight weeks to run.

Conference Set

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow.

Adenauer Hints New Bid To Get German Freedom

BONN, Germany, Oct. 10 (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer strongly hinted tonight that the West Germans will try to regain their independence by other means if the European Army Pact is not ratified.

He told reporters the Germans are impatient over delay to the six-nation European defense community project because it is putting off the day when the occupation will end. The Bonn-Allied peace contract is not scheduled to go into effect until the EDC treaty is ratified.

If the EDC comes to nothing, Adenauer said, the Germans will "have to take the initiative."

This was taken as an indication the Germans would demand that the occupation by the United States, Britain and France be ended, although the pre-condition of West German membership in the European Defense Community had not been fulfilled.

Earlier, in a parliamentary speech, Adenauer said that the West Germans expect to get their independence through the Bonn peace contract.

"After all the German people have done to clear the way for ratification of the EDC, our people would not understand if they did not receive their promised independence," he said.

This was part of Adenauer's keynote speech to the Bundestag, the lower house, after he announced formation of a new four-party coalition government to rule for the next four years.

He made another bid for world peace and an end to the East-West arms race through a security pact between Russia and the European Defense Community.

Then, speaking with the greater authority given him by his election Sept. 6, he urged speedy ratification of the stalled European pact as the way to independence and peace for the German people.

Leyte Blast Probe By Navy Continues

BOSTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry focused attention on a catapult safety valve today as it sought to determine the cause of an explosion and fire which killed 36 aboard the Navy carrier Leyte last Friday.

The court heard testimony that the valve on the port catapult—around which the fire centered—had been remounted only a week before the fire after it had been taken ashore for re-adjustment.

That testimony came from Cmdr. Frederick J. Brazil, of Guadaloupe, Calif., air officer of the carrier.

Hazing Mishap Fatal To Student

Calvin Dougherty, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dougherty, Greenwood, Ind., was injured Sept. 21 when he ran into an obstruction while racing against time on orders of upper classmen, Dean Guy Oakes said.

Students Riot In Rome Over Trieste Issues

ROME, Oct. 20 (AP)—Italian students and Rome riot police battled in front of the Soviet embassy today as Trieste demonstrations broke out in a half dozen parts of the city.

Earlier, several thousand teenagers chanting Trieste slogans, paraded past the United States and British embassies, and hooted "Down with Tito" in front of the Yugoslav legation.

The fighting developed when riot police, backed up by a few troops, pushed the howling youths back from a 12-foot wall around the Russian embassy.

A dozen were bruised in the melee as police swung their clubs and the demonstrators fought back with sticks. Within moments the youths were shoved quickly into side streets and dispersed.

Wife Almost Shot Wayne

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20 (AP)—John Wayne, the movies' No. 1 boxoffice star, was a rough man to live with, drunk or sober, his wife told a divorce court today.

The former Esperanza Baur said she almost shot him by mistake when he came home drunk one morning and entered by smashing the door.

On another occasion he slapped her for putting avocado in a sandwich, she said. In Acapulco, Mexico, he berated her for swimming in the ocean with some people she did not know were nude, she said.

Resuming the stand on the second day of the trial of her suit for separate maintenance and Wayne's cross-complaint asking a divorce, Mrs. Wayne again brought up the name of actress Gail Russell, at whose home she charged her husband once spent a night.

During a recess today a lawyer representing Miss Russell threatened legal action against Mrs. Wayne, saying his client is "outraged at the untruths concerning her at this trial."

The attorney was unsuccessful, however, in obtaining an audience with Superior Judge Allan Ashburn, who is trying the stormy case, already tabbed as one of the most bitter in movieland history.

Miss Russell is the estranged wife of Guy Madison, another screen he-man like Wayne.

Gen. Mark Clark Gets N. Y. Welcome

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — An estimated 300,000 New Yorkers paid tribute today to Gen. Mark W. Clark, former United Nations commander of Far Eastern forces, in one of the city's traditional Broadway ticker-tape parades.

Clark afterward told a cheering crowd at City Hall that he found the Communists "a treacherous, evil foe, seeking world domination."

Dulles Demands Russians Show Peaceful Intent

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles challenged Moscow tonight to show peaceful intentions by agreeing to a Western proposal for a meeting to discuss unification of divided Germany.

The proposal for such a meeting of foreign ministers at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9, was put into final form and sent to Russia during a session of American, British and French foreign ministers in London. Dulles returned from this session only yesterday.

Dulles pictured Russia's forthcoming decision on this plan as a critical sign of whether Moscow is prepared to deal with the West on concrete terms in an effort to ease world tensions.

In an apparent reference to British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's often-made proposal for a meeting of the heads of state of Great Britain, France, the United States and Russia, Dulles said in an address prepared for the Herald-Tribune Forum:

"It is our view that few things would be more dangerous than a meeting which produced illusion of agreement, without the reality of agreement.

"Therefore we (the American, British and French foreign ministers) proposed a meeting of foreign ministers about Germany.

"This will provide an answer to whether the Soviet government is willing to have a meeting on terms which will provide an actual testing of its intentions in terms sufficiently concrete to be significant."

Diplomats Believe Russia Will Stall

BERLIN, Oct. 20 (AP)—Western diplomats behind the Iron Curtain look for Russia to stall on the German problem until next spring.

Their forecast is that the Kremlin will pass up the West's invitation to a Four-Power conference at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9. Two reasons are emphasized here for Russian reluctance to negotiate about Germany now:

West German rearmament apparently has been sidetracked as far as this winter is concerned.

Week-Long Party Honors Anniversary

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20 (AP) — Salvatore Viviano, 76, a spaghetti maker, and his wife are really celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Postpone Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP)—The U.N. Security Council today voted to postpone debate on disputed Trieste until Nov. 2 in order to give Britain, France and the United States time to work out a solution through direct diplomatic action.

Famed Composer, Fred E. Ahlert, Succumbs At 61

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Fred E. Ahlert, 61, composer of a number of popular songs, including Bing Crosby's theme, "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day," died today of a heart attack.

Ahlert once was president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

He was conferring with Herman Starr of the Music Publishers Holding Corp. here when he was stricken.

Songs he wrote included "I'll Get By," "Mean to Me," "Walking My Baby Back Home" and "I Don't Know Why."

Dulles Sends Special Envoy To Panmunjom

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles announced today he will send a special envoy to Panmunjom, Korea, tomorrow to negotiate with Communist Chinese and North Korean representatives on arrangements for a Korean political conference.

His task force leader for this diplomatic encounter with the Reds, he said, will be 55-year old Arthur Dean, former law partner of his in New York. A month ago Dulles delegated to Dean the principal responsibility for achieving a Korean settlement if possible.

Dean will leave by air tomorrow and meet with the Reds Monday. Dulles announced that they had accepted an American proposal for the session and he called this one more practical step toward a Korean settlement.

Dulles made his Korean announcement at a news conference which followed by 24 hours his return from a meeting with the British and French foreign ministers at London. Shortly before the news conference, Dulles made a report on the London talks to President Eisenhower.

In response to reporters' questions Dulles brought out these foreign policy developments and views:

1. The United States has in effect suspended a 60 million dollar aid-to-Israel program because of what Dulles called Israel's defiance of a U.N. truce team's ruling against diversion of Jordan River waters. Syria had protested Israel's development of the river.

Dulles said the action was taken by the United States—and that the Israelis knew about it—in advance of the border incident of last week. In that incident several score of villagers in the Arab nation of Jordan were slain by Israelis in retaliation for killing of Israel civilians.

2. The foreign ministers meeting in London agreed that in dealing with Russians it was important to take one step at a time and to avoid detracting in any way from a proposed meeting with the Russians on Germany by injecting other matters into the situation.

3. In a general way Dulles supported unofficial reports of the last few days that the United States and Britain will be slow to withdraw their troops from Zone A of Trieste where they stand between embittered Italians and Yugoslavs. He endorsed the idea of a Five-Power conference on Trieste as a useful step toward a settlement and said it was being explored among the governments concerned the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Yugoslavia.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Foreign nations owe the United States nearly 11 billion dollars and paid about 750 millions interest and principal last year.

Changes Mind In Favor Of Repatriation

Czechs, Poles Agree To Question Soldier; Reds Angry At Delay

BULLETIN

PANMUNJOM, Wednesday, Oct. 21 (AP)—An official Indian spokesman today identified the American prisoner of war who has asked for repatriation to the United States as Edward S. Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va.

PANMUNJOM, Wednesday, Oct. 21 (AP)—Polish and Czech members ended their strike against the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission today in order to question an American war prisoner who changed his mind without coaxing and decided to return to Allied territory.

An Indian spokesman said the two Communist delegations had agreed to attend a NNCR session at which the American will be questioned.

Furious At Failure

The Communist high command was furious at the failure of its efforts to win back 22,400 Chinese and North Korean prisoners. The Reds in a long note Tuesday blamed the United States for obstructing its "explanation" work.

If a NNRC subcommittee can validate him, the American probably will be turned over to the United Nations and American commands at 4 p.m. today (2 a.m. Wednesday).

The prisoner was one of 23 Americans held by Indian custodial troops as prisoners refusing repatriation. Thus far the U. N. Command has deferred any effort to persuade them to return home.

The Communist high command has been badly beaten at the start of its 90-day campaign to induce balky Chinese and North Koreans to go home.

The command's complaint was in a note sent to the Allies at a time when the situation was so grave that the Swedish member of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission conceded "anything might happen."

The Communist Pole and Czech delegates were boycotting the commission because it refused to force the prisoners to listen to Red persuaders. Thus the explanation work was stalled indefinitely.

Based On Agreement

(The source said the whole armistice was based on an agreement that both sides would have a chance to persuade reluctant prisoners to return. He declared that if the North Koreans cannot be persuaded to listen, the Communists would withdraw from the repatriation commission permanently and this would blow up the Korean peace conference.)

The note to Gen. John E. Hull, United Nations commander, was signed by Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Gen. Peng Teh-huai.

It charged that "your side" had planted large numbers of South Korean and Nationalist Chinese "agents" among the Chinese and North Korean prisoners at Panmunjom.

The Communists declared this was done "so as to continue your intrigue of obstructing the repatriation of these captured personnel of our side." This has been a constant Communist propaganda charge but it was the first time it was made by the Red high command.

Mining Company President, Stockholders Are Women

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The National Coal Assn. came up with a new type of display today: It produced the only woman in the United States who also is president of a coal mining company.

A neat display it was, too.

For Mrs. Lillian Gildroy, president of the Bair-Collins Coal Co. of Roundup, Mont., is an attractive, graying lady with so much charm she should run for office. Which she has, and therefore is mayor of Roundup (pop. 4,000).

There once was a superstition it was bad luck for a woman to go down into a mine, and probably most people still think it's strictly a man's world. But that's because most people never heard of Bair-Collins, a company with around 50 employes and an annual business of between $700,000 and $800,000.

Bair-Collins has only five stockholders. All are women.

It wasn't planned that way, Mrs. Gildroy told a news conference set up as part of the Coal Association's annual convention.

When Charley Bair died, he left his stock to his two daughters. When Fred Collins died, his widow and daughter got his stock. None of these has taken an active part in running the company.

Certainly Mrs. Gildroy had no idea, when she started with the company as a stenographer in 1922, that a stockholders meeting eventually would be marked "Ladies only."

In 1923, she married the mine superintendent, Gilbert Gildroy. By 1939 she was secretary-treasurer. Gildroy went on to become president. When he died last year, she became president.

Churchill appeared in the House for the first time in four months.

He expressed regret he had been unable, because of ill health, to go to a Bermuda conference with Eisenhower and Premier Laniel of France. Now, he noted, Soviet Russia has been invited to a foreign ministers' session at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9.

"I think such a meeting would be an invaluable step toward a reduction of international tension and a solution of major European problems," he said. "We hope Mr. Molotov (Soviet foreign minister) will accept.

"This involves no change in our outlook," he added with a glance toward Laborites who have accused the government of abandoning proposals for a top-level meeting.

"Our view remains that friendly, informal and personal talks between the leading figures in the countries mainly involved might do good and could not easily do much harm."

Well To Remember

He said, however, "it is as well to remember that there is a limit to what can be done by one government." This referred to U. S. opposition to top-level talks unless the Russians concede some points on lower levels.

Asked about a report he is ready to meet Malenkov alone if Eisenhower shuns a big top level meeting, Churchill declined to confirm or deny. Then he was asked by a Laborite if he would "fulfill the promise of millions of people by making a declaration that he would be prepared to meet Mr. Malenkov as soon as possible." Churchill did not think this was "a suitable opportunity" for discussion of that topic.

Almost as if by design, the Soviet press carried a bitter attack on Churchill today. A year or more ago, the Moscow papers frequently described Churchill as an archcriminal or worse, but recently they have refrained from attacking him. Today Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, said Churchill in a recent speech sought to issue an ultimatum to France on ratification of the treaty for a European Defense Community.

Singer La Rosa Signs New Pact

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Singer Julius La Rosa struck out on his own today after getting his walking papers from the Arthur Godfrey shows in the presence of a nationwide radio and television audience.

Saying he always would be grateful to Godfrey, who plucked him from obscurity two years ago and made him a star, La Rosa nevertheless professed to be "a very confused guy" as a result of his sudden exit from the shows.

Meanwhile, arrangements were being made for La Rosa to appear regularly the next 52 weeks on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town on CBS television Sunday nights. And La Rosa's newly signed manager said the 23-year-old singer's contract, which was with CBS rather than Godfrey, was being studied with a view to planning personal appearances and other activities.

The apparent family fuss in the Godfrey organization also resulted in the departure of band leader Archie Bleyer from Godfrey's daytime and Wednesday night shows. Bleyer's contract on the Monday night Talent Scouts has eight weeks to run.

Conference Set

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow.

Adenauer Hints New Bid To Get German Freedom

BONN, Germany, Oct. 10 (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer strongly hinted tonight that the West Germans will try to regain their independence by other means if the European Army Pact is not ratified.

He told reporters the Germans are impatient over delay to the six-nation European defense community project because it is putting off the day when the occupation will end. The Bonn-Allied peace contract is not scheduled to go into effect until the EDC treaty is ratified.

If the EDC comes to nothing, Adenauer said, the Germans will "have to take the initiative."

This was taken as an indication the Germans would demand that the occupation by the United States, Britain and France be ended, although the pre-condition of West German membership in the European Defense Community had not been fulfilled.

Earlier, in a parliamentary speech, Adenauer said that the West Germans expect to get their independence through the Bonn peace contract.

"After all the German people have done to clear the way for ratification of the EDC, our people would not understand if they did not receive their promised independence," he said.

This was part of Adenauer's keynote speech to the Bundestag, the lower house, after he announced formation of a new four-party coalition government to rule for the next four years.

He made another bid for world peace and an end to the East-West arms race through a security pact between Russia and the European Defense Community.

Then, speaking with the greater authority given him by his election Sept. 6, he urged speedy ratification of the stalled European pact as the way to independence and peace for the German people.

Leyte Blast Probe By Navy Continues

BOSTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry focused attention on a catapult safety valve today as it sought to determine the cause of an explosion and fire which killed 36 aboard the Navy carrier Leyte last Friday.

The court heard testimony that the valve on the port catapult—around which the fire centered—had been remounted only a week before the fire after it had been taken ashore for re-adjustment.

That testimony came from Cmdr. Frederick J. Brazil, of Guadaloupe, Calif., air officer of the carrier.

Hazing Mishap Fatal To Student

Calvin Dougherty, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dougherty, Greenwood, Ind., was injured Sept. 21 when he ran into an obstruction while racing against time on orders of upper classmen, Dean Guy Oakes said.

Students Riot In Rome Over Trieste Issues

ROME, Oct. 20 (AP)—Italian students and Rome riot police battled in front of the Soviet embassy today as Trieste demonstrations broke out in a half dozen parts of the city.

Earlier, several thousand teenagers chanting Trieste slogans, paraded past the United States and British embassies, and hooted "Down with Tito" in front of the Yugoslav legation.

The fighting developed when riot police, backed up by a few troops, pushed the howling youths back from a 12-foot wall around the Russian embassy.

A dozen were bruised in the melee as police swung their clubs and the demonstrators fought back with sticks. Within moments the youths were shoved quickly into side streets and dispersed.

Wife Almost Shot Wayne

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20 (AP)—John Wayne, the movies' No. 1 boxoffice star, was a rough man to live with, drunk or sober, his wife told a divorce court today.

The former Esperanza Baur said she almost shot him by mistake when he came home drunk one morning and entered by smashing the door.

On another occasion he slapped her for putting avocado in a sandwich, she said. In Acapulco, Mexico, he berated her for swimming in the ocean with some people she did not know were nude, she said.

Resuming the stand on the second day of the trial of her suit for separate maintenance and Wayne's cross-complaint asking a divorce, Mrs. Wayne again brought up the name of actress Gail Russell, at whose home she charged her husband once spent a night.

During a recess today a lawyer representing Miss Russell threatened legal action against Mrs. Wayne, saying his client is "outraged at the untruths concerning her at this trial."

The attorney was unsuccessful, however, in obtaining an audience with Superior Judge Allan Ashburn, who is trying the stormy case, already tabbed as one of the most bitter in movieland history.

Miss Russell is the estranged wife of Guy Madison, another screen he-man like Wayne.

Gen. Mark Clark Gets N. Y. Welcome

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — An estimated 300,000 New Yorkers paid tribute today to Gen. Mark W. Clark, former United Nations commander of Far Eastern forces, in one of the city's traditional Broadway ticker-tape parades.

Clark afterward told a cheering crowd at City Hall that he found the Communists "a treacherous, evil foe, seeking world domination."

Dulles Demands Russians Show Peaceful Intent

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles challenged Moscow tonight to show peaceful intentions by agreeing to a Western proposal for a meeting to discuss unification of divided Germany.

The proposal for such a meeting of foreign ministers at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9, was put into final form and sent to Russia during a session of American, British and French foreign ministers in London. Dulles returned from this session only yesterday.

Dulles pictured Russia's forthcoming decision on this plan as a critical sign of whether Moscow is prepared to deal with the West on concrete terms in an effort to ease world tensions.

In an apparent reference to British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's often-made proposal for a meeting of the heads of state of Great Britain, France, the United States and Russia, Dulles said in an address prepared for the Herald-Tribune Forum:

"It is our view that few things would be more dangerous than a meeting which produced illusion of agreement, without the reality of agreement.

"Therefore we (the American, British and French foreign ministers) proposed a meeting of foreign ministers about Germany.

"This will provide an answer to whether the Soviet government is willing to have a meeting on terms which will provide an actual testing of its intentions in terms sufficiently concrete to be significant."

Diplomats Believe Russia Will Stall

BERLIN, Oct. 20 (AP)—Western diplomats behind the Iron Curtain look for Russia to stall on the German problem until next spring.

Their forecast is that the Kremlin will pass up the West's invitation to a Four-Power conference at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9. Two reasons are emphasized here for Russian reluctance to negotiate about Germany now:

West German rearmament apparently has been sidetracked as far as this winter is concerned.

Week-Long Party Honors Anniversary

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20 (AP) — Salvatore Viviano, 76, a spaghetti maker, and his wife are really celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Postpone Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP)—The U.N. Security Council today voted to postpone debate on disputed Trieste until Nov. 2 in order to give Britain, France and the United States time to work out a solution through direct diplomatic action.

Famed Composer, Fred E. Ahlert, Succumbs At 61

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Fred E. Ahlert, 61, composer of a number of popular songs, including Bing Crosby's theme, "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day," died today of a heart attack.

Ahlert once was president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Songs he wrote included "I'll Get By," "Mean to Me," "Walking My Baby Back Home" and "I Don't Know Why."

Dulles Sends Special Envoy To Panmunjom

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles announced today he will send a special envoy to Panmunjom, Korea, tomorrow to negotiate with Communist Chinese and North Korean representatives on arrangements for a Korean political conference.

His task force leader for this diplomatic encounter with the Reds, he said, will be 55-year old Arthur Dean, former law partner of his in New York. A month ago Dulles delegated to Dean the principal responsibility for achieving a Korean settlement if possible.

Dean will leave by air tomorrow and meet with the Reds Monday. Dulles announced that they had accepted an American proposal for the session and he called this one more practical step toward a Korean settlement.

Dulles made his Korean announcement at a news conference which followed by 24 hours his return from a meeting with the British and French foreign ministers at London. Shortly before the news conference, Dulles made a report on the London talks to President Eisenhower.

In response to reporters' questions Dulles brought out these foreign policy developments and views:

1. The United States has in effect suspended a 60 million dollar aid-to-Israel program because of what Dulles called Israel's defiance of a U.N. truce team's ruling against diversion of Jordan River waters. Syria had protested Israel's development of the river.

Dulles said the action was taken by the United States—and that the Israelis knew about it—in advance of the border incident of last week. In that incident several score of villagers in the Arab nation of Jordan were slain by Israelis in retaliation for killing of Israel civilians.

2. The foreign ministers meeting in London agreed that in dealing with Russians it was important to take one step at a time and to avoid detracting in any way from a proposed meeting with the Russians on Germany by injecting other matters into the situation.

3. In a general way Dulles supported unofficial reports of the last few days that the United States and Britain will be slow to withdraw their troops from Zone A of Trieste where they stand between embittered Italians and Yugoslavs. He endorsed the idea of a Five-Power conference on Trieste as a useful step toward a settlement and said it was being explored among the governments concerned the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Yugoslavia.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Foreign nations owe the United States nearly 11 billion dollars and paid about 750 millions interest and principal last year.

Changes Mind In Favor Of Repatriation

Czechs, Poles Agree To Question Soldier; Reds Angry At Delay

BULLETIN

PANMUNJOM, Wednesday, Oct. 21 (AP)—An official Indian spokesman today identified the American prisoner of war who has asked for repatriation to the United States as Edward S. Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va.

PANMUNJOM, Wednesday, Oct. 21 (AP)—Polish and Czech members ended their strike against the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission today in order to question an American war prisoner who changed his mind without coaxing and decided to return to Allied territory.

An Indian spokesman said the two Communist delegations had agreed to attend a NNCR session at which the American will be questioned.

Furious At Failure

The Communist high command was furious at the failure of its efforts to win back 22,400 Chinese and North Korean prisoners. The Reds in a long note Tuesday blamed the United States for obstructing its "explanation" work.

If a NNRC subcommittee can validate him, the American probably will be turned over to the United Nations and American commands at 4 p.m. today (2 a.m. Wednesday).

The prisoner was one of 23 Americans held by Indian custodial troops as prisoners refusing repatriation. Thus far the U. N. Command has deferred any effort to persuade them to return home.

The Communist high command has been badly beaten at the start of its 90-day campaign to induce balky Chinese and North Koreans to go home.

The command's complaint was in a note sent to the Allies at a time when the situation was so grave that the Swedish member of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission conceded "anything might happen."

The Communist Pole and Czech delegates were boycotting the commission because it refused to force the prisoners to listen to Red persuaders. Thus the explanation work was stalled indefinitely.

Based On Agreement

(The source said the whole armistice was based on an agreement that both sides would have a chance to persuade reluctant prisoners to return. He declared that if the North Koreans cannot be persuaded to listen, the Communists would withdraw from the repatriation commission permanently and this would blow up the Korean peace conference.)

The note to Gen. John E. Hull, United Nations commander, was signed by Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Gen. Peng Teh-huai.

It charged that "your side" had planted large numbers of South Korean and Nationalist Chinese "agents" among the Chinese and North Korean prisoners at Panmunjom.

The Communists declared this was done "so as to continue your intrigue of obstructing the repatriation of these captured personnel of our side." This has been a constant Communist propaganda charge but it was the first time it was made by the Red high command.

Mining Company President, Stockholders Are Women

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The National Coal Assn. came up with a new type of display today: It produced the only woman in the United States who also is president of a coal mining company.

A neat display it was, too.

For Mrs. Lillian Gildroy, president of the Bair-Collins Coal Co. of Roundup, Mont., is an attractive, graying lady with so much charm she should run for office. Which she has, and therefore is mayor of Roundup (pop. 4,000).

There once was a superstition it was bad luck for a woman to go down into a mine, and probably most people still think it's strictly a man's world. But that's because most people never heard of Bair-Collins, a company with around 50 employes and an annual business of between $700,000 and $800,000.

Bair-Collins has only five stockholders. All are women.

It wasn't planned that way, Mrs. Gildroy told a news conference set up as part of the Coal Association's annual convention.

When Charley Bair died, he left his stock to his two daughters. When Fred Collins died, his widow and daughter got his stock. None of these has taken an active part in running the company.

Certainly Mrs. Gildroy had no idea, when she started with the company as a stenographer in 1922, that a stockholders meeting eventually would be marked "Ladies only."

In 1923, she married the mine superintendent, Gilbert Gildroy. By 1939 she was secretary-treasurer. Gildroy went on to become president. When he died last year, she became president.

State Senator Crothers, 44, Dies While Addressing Jury

ELKTON, Md., Oct. 20 (AP)—Sen. Crothers (D-Cecil) was fatally stricken in the Courthouse here today while addressing a jury in a trial. The 44-year-old state senator had been under treatment for a heart condition.

Crothers was making his first appearance in the Courthouse in several weeks, his activities having been limited by his illness.

Observers said he paused in his remarks to the jury, moved as if to step forward, then slumped to the floor.

The Elkton Fire Department ambulance rushed to the scene and carried the stricken lawmaker to Union Hospital here. He lived only a few minutes after he was admitted to the hospital. Death came about 3 p.m.

The widely known senator was defending Louis Alagia on a gambling charge.

Friends said Crothers appeared to be very ill when he arrived at the Courthouse today.

He is survived by his wife and a son who is a student at McDonogh School near Baltimore.

He was born in Elkton March 7, 1909, attended public schools here and graduated from the University of Maryland in 1929. He finished his training at the University's law school in 1933.

He was elected to the Senate in 1950 and served in the General Assembly's advisory body, the Legislative Council. He was chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Crothers also served as chairman of the State Board of Correction from August of 1946 until May of 1947. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the Elkton Banking and Trust Co.

Funeral services will be held at Elkton Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. Friday. The body may be viewed at Pippin Funeral home Thursday night.

Humphrey Claims Static Defense Leads To Defeat

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, fresh from a National Security Council meeting, said tonight a static defense would be the "surest formula for defeat." He hinted instead at a trimmed military establishment accenting mobility and imaginative use of new weapons.

Such a program, he sad, "will and must be supported by whatever appropriations logic and necessity demand."

Humphrey's scornful reference to "static defense" was made in a wide ranging policy speech prepared for delivery to a preparedness dinner of the San Francisco Republican Finance Committee. Copies were distributed in advance by the Republican National Committee at Washington.

Humphrey promised tax reduction only when "the threat of aggression recedes and our huge expenditures for defense can decline."

He also indicated that budget balancing would have to line up behind "expenditures for adequate defense."

The Treasury secretary's remarks on defense appeared to be a considered slap at proponents of a continental defense based on a huge and costly expansion of radar lookouts.

He spoke less than a week after attending a meeting in Washington of the National Security Council, where the main lines of strategy are hammered out. It was reported after the closed meeting that the Security Council debated first results of the "new look" taken by the new joint chiefs of staff at the military establishment and defense strategy.

Humphrey said:

"We live in an age witnessing a revolution in scientific and production techniques. In such an age, the surest formula for defeat would be a static defense—committed to old-fashioned strategy—served by obsolete weapons."

The defense program, Humphrey declared, must be "balanced by adequate, fluid and imaginative, mobile and elastic."

He Had Reason To Get Divorce

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP)—James J. Goss, a mounted policeman, won a divorce from Janet Goss on a cruelty charge yesterday, alleging that she:

Kicked him, bit him, threw a poker at him, broke a pot over his head and stuck a knife in his back.

"Had he gone on living with this woman," commented Judge Seymour Karminski, "I have not the slightest doubt that he would not have escaped so easily next time."

Randall Guilty Of Aiding In Elkins Murder

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20 (AP)—Eric Preston Randall was found innocent of murder today, but guilty of being an accessory to the crime.

A Criminal Court jury deliberated a little less than three hours before returning its verdict.

Atomic Defense Quietly Reviewed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee has quietly begun a general inquiry into United States defenses against atomic attack.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) disclosed this today by making public a letter to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), a committee member who recently urged that the group make "a complete review of this nation's defenses" against possible hydrogen and atomic bomb attack.

"I agree with you," Saltonstall wrote, "that no more important question lies before us and for that reason I had for some time been working to set in motion a thorough investigation of it headed by someone thoroughly familiar with the problems which it presents."

The committee chairman said that on Oct. 9 he had named Robert C. Sprague of North Adams, Mass., an industrialist, to make an investigation of all the nation's defense plants.

He added that he had asked Sprague to have a preliminary report ready when Congress convenes in January.

Protests Disarmament Plan 'Watered Down'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) protested to President Eisenhower today that the State Department "watered down" a world disarmament resolution adopted by the Senate last July.

After a half-hour visit at the White House, Flanders said he told the President the State Department "took the sparkle out of our disarmament resolution."

He cited that the Department got the Senate to drop a section asking that the President form a commission to study world disarmament.

Russians Permit Use Of Shotguns

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 20 (AP)—For the first time since the war, the Rusians have given permission for Austrians to use shotguns in the Soviet occupation zone of this country.

This was announced today by the Austrian government.

GOP's Policies Make Depression Reuther Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther charged today that "typical Republican trickle-down economic philosophy" led to the 1929 depression and that the same pattern was emerging again.

He hit at the Eisenhower administration, Wall Street and big business in declaring before a convention of the CIO National Maritime Union that the New Deal had been taken over by the "big steal."

"The big steal will be on a tax front," he said.

Reuther defined the "trickle down" policy as the practice of piling enough food on banquet tables of the wealthy so that crumbs would trickle down to the poor.

Warning of possible economic "trouble" ahead, he said the cause of the 1929 depression was not overproduction but under-consumption through a "trickle" policy.

"We in the labor movement know the price of freedom is high and we on the working front are more than willing to pay our share, but the wealthy are not paying their share," Reuther said.

He declared that repeal of the excess profits tax was in the offing, and added:

"The administration is going to pick the pockets of the American public. They are flirting with a manufacturers' tax and that is a tax with a built-in sales tax and that tax will be paid by the little people."

In an hour long speech, Reuther said:

"Give a worker a tax reduction and that will show up in high speed velocity buying power—give the wealthy man a tax reduction and all you do is expand his savings."

Shocking Book

TALIHINA, Okla., Oct. 20 (AP)—Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," was left lying on a store counter here and the brave citizens stealing a quick peek were shocked.

Some wag had wired the book and those touching it were given an electrical jolt.

Heavy Rainfall

Randall Guilty Of Aiding In Elkins Murder

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20 (AP)—Eric Preston Randall was found innocent of murder today, but guilty of being an accessory to the crime.

A Criminal Court jury deliberated a little less than three hours before returning its verdict.

Atomic Defense Quietly Reviewed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee has quietly begun a general inquiry into United States defenses against atomic attack.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) disclosed this today by making public a letter to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), a committee member who recently urged that the group make "a complete review of this nation's defenses" against possible hydrogen and atomic bomb attack.

"I agree with you," Saltonstall wrote, "that no more important question lies before us and for that reason I had for some time been working to set in motion a thorough investigation of it headed by someone thoroughly familiar with the problems which it presents."

The committee chairman said that on Oct. 9 he had named Robert C. Sprague of North Adams, Mass., an industrialist, to make an investigation of all the nation's defense plants.

He added that he had asked Sprague to have a preliminary report ready when Congress convenes in January.

Protests Disarmament Plan 'Watered Down'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) protested to President Eisenhower today that the State Department "watered down" a world disarmament resolution adopted by the Senate last July.

After a half-hour visit at the White House, Flanders said he told the President the State Department "took the sparkle out of our disarmament resolution."

He cited that the Department got the Senate to drop a section asking that the President form a commission to study world disarmament.

Russians Permit Use Of Shotguns

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 20 (AP)—For the first time since the war, the Rusians have given permission for Austrians to use shotguns in the Soviet occupation zone of this country.

This was announced today by the Austrian government.

GOP's Policies Make Depression Reuther Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther charged today that "typical Republican trickle-down economic philosophy" led to the 1929 depression and that the same pattern was emerging again.

He hit at the Eisenhower administration, Wall Street and big business in declaring before a convention of the CIO National Maritime Union that the New Deal had been taken over by the "big steal."

"The big steal will be on a tax front," he said.

Reuther defined the "trickle down" policy as the practice of piling enough food on banquet tables of the wealthy so that crumbs would trickle down to the poor.

Warning of possible economic "trouble" ahead, he said the cause of the 1929 depression was not overproduction but under-consumption through a "trickle" policy.

"We in the labor movement know the price of freedom is high and we on the working front are more than willing to pay our share, but the wealthy are not paying their share," Reuther said.

He declared that repeal of the excess profits tax was in the offing, and added:

"The administration is going to pick the pockets of the American public. They are flirting with a manufacturers' tax and that is a tax with a built-in sales tax and that tax will be paid by the little people."

In an hour long speech, Reuther said:

"Give a worker a tax reduction and that will show up in high speed velocity buying power—give the wealthy man a tax reduction and all you do is expand his savings."

Shocking Book

TALIHINA, Okla., Oct. 20 (AP)—Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," was left lying on a store counter here and the brave citizens stealing a quick peek were shocked.

Some wag had wired the book and those touching it were given an electrical jolt.

Heavy Rainfall

ALBUQUERQUE, Oct. 20 (AP)—Albuquerque had its heaviest rain in six months last night during a thunderstorm.

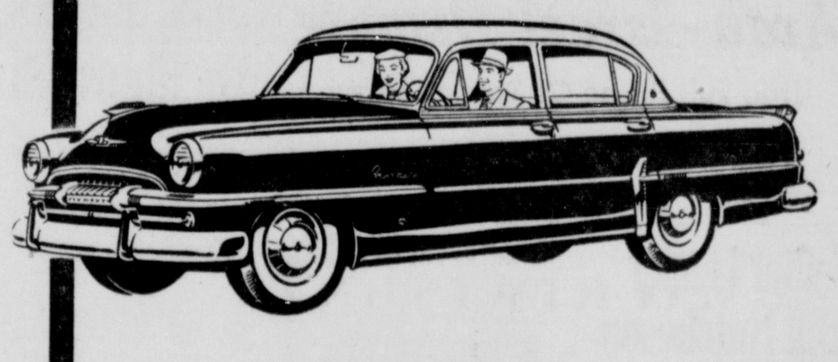

The rainfall ranged from .35 to .6 of an inch. This made the total for the year to date 3.82 inches.

Appeal Refused

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP)—African Leader Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta today was refused permission to appeal against a seven year sentence on charges of managing Mau Mau terrorism in Kenya.

Southwest Faces Another Dust Bowl Threat

EDITORS NOTE: Roosevelt county in New Mexico-bordering on the West Texas Panhandle—is in the heart of the Southwest's drought country. Conditions there typify those in the whole drought area. Editor Gordon K. Greaves of the Portales Daily News here tells the fears and troubles of drought-suffering Roosevelt County farmers.

By GORDON K. GREAVES
(Written for The Associated Press by the editor of the Portales Daily news.)

PORTALES, N. M., Oct. 20 (AP)—Just one good three-day wind—such as can be expected in this country almost any day now—will shroud these high plains with convincing imitations of the black blizzards of the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s.

Everyone seems to recognize the signs — powder dry land, very little cover on fields, and the pressing temptation to graze off what little cover there is.

All added together, there isn't much else to expect but a lot of dust, and a lot of badly drifted fields.

Unless it rains, and unless, somehow, the wind doesn't blow.

Outlook Grim

The outlook would be pretty grim, if there weren't a few bright spots. All fields aren't bare. Some farmers got up good stands of broomcorn. A few even made some money on the straw, and can afford to leave the stalks in the field.

And in the irrigated valley, the same dry, still weather that caused dry land crops to shrivel, was just what was needed to make cotton, peanuts and green beans grow.

Irrigation farmers say they've never seen better crops.

This has been one of the dryest years on record in this county. There was no planting moisture until July 19, and then the moisture in too many cases wasn't sufficient to penetrate down to the hard pan, and give the growing crops a reserve for the hot weather of late August.

A lot of row crops that looked promising on Aug. 1, simply shriveled up and stopped growing by Sept. 1 and made scarcely enough grain to bother combining.

The Soil Conservation Service Advisory Board, made up of local farmers, put out an appeal for farmers to leave their crops in the field. The board pointed out that the little amount of grain that could be salvaged wouldn't be worth the risk of having their fields blow out.

Have Little Choice

But the farmers say they have little choice in the matter. Those shriveled stalks, and underdeveloped heads of grain are all the fodder they have for their livestock.

Unless that government hay-buying program gets under way in the next week, it will be too late.

A good many farmers already are running binders as close to the ground as they can set them, to get as much feed as they can for their cattle.

Norris Williams, Soil Conservation Service technician here, that 75 per cent of the farm land in this area has insufficient cover to withstand normal winds. He observes that this percentage is getting larger each day as farmers cut feed, or turn in cows to graze.

Leon Nash, himself a dry land farmer, and a PMA committeeman, says the number of livestock owners applying for cut-rate feed has been increasing all through the summer.

He reports 959 applications on file now, and new ones being added at the rate of 20 or so each week. That represents just about all the livestock owners in the county, and adds up to over 47,000 head of cattle. A lot of rugged individualists who like to stand on their own feet, are reluctantly accepting government feed for their cattle now.

Dr. Samuel Johnson, famous English writer, was the first man to talk about "the power of the press."

Costello Due For Release From Prison

MILAN, Mich., Oct. 20 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello will be released from Milan Federal Penitentiary Oct. 29 after serving approximately 12 months of an 18-month sentence for contempt of Congress.

Warden B. M. Heritage said today the 62-year old Costello would gain his freedom under a "conditional release" granted for good behavior under federal penal regulations.

Costello, convicted of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions at a Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee hearing in New York in 1951, was sentenced to an 18-month term by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan April 8, 1952.

Judge Ryan also fined Costello $5,000.

A series of appeals, including one to the United States Supreme Court, kept Costello out of prison until Oct. 11, 1952.

Costello started serving his term at the Atlanta (Ga.) Federal Prison and was transferred here in December of 1952.

He was convicted of the contempt charge at a second trial in New York in April of 1952. His first trial ended in a mistrial when a juror said an attempt had been made to influence the jury.

The prison sentence marked the second time Costello had been behind bars. He served a 10 months jail term in 1915 for carrying a gun.

Man learned to shave in the beginning as a protective measure. Long beards were easy to seize and thus enabled an opponent to cut of an enemy's head.

Manufacturers' Tax In Canada

Tax reductions now prescribed by law will cause loss of revenues that will make "the budget balancing problem in the 1955 fiscal year"—beginning next July 1—"at least the same in magnitude as the one we faced this year." The words are those of Budget Director Dodge in his first major address since taking office.

One of the tax reductions to which Dodge referred is the cut in certain excise taxes scheduled for next April 1. President Eisenhower in presenting his tax program to the nation in a radio address on May 19 had declared that this reduction "should not be put into effect pending the development of a sounder system of excise taxation, for which I shall make specific recommendations to the Congress next January."

The whole problem of excise taxes, a retail sales tax, or a general manufacturers' tax is part of the all-over tax studies now being conducted by the U. S. Treasury and the House Ways and Means Committee. In his press conference on September 30 the President said that the administration did not plan to ask for a federal retail sales tax, but refused to rule out a manufacturers' excise tax.

Some opponents of a retail sales tax are no less opposed to a general manufacturers' tax as being merely a sales tax in disguise and as being equally regressive. But a manufacturers' tax would produce revenue that is urgently needed, and opponents of regressive taxes have been known in the past to sacrifice principle to expediency. A. A. Ballantine, undersecretary of the Treasury in the Hoover administration points out that the late Florello La Guardia, whom Ballantine credits with the chief role in killing a manufacturers' excise tax in Congress in 1932, later as mayor of New York accepted a retail sales tax.

Ballantine, who had a hand in preparing the tax proposal in 1932, notes that it was modeled on a Canadian tax, which Ballantine describes as "non-pyramiding, as the tax is applied only once in the chain of sales." The Canadian tax has been in effect since 1920. The current rate is 10 per cent, raised in April 1951 from the 8 per cent rate imposed in 1936. The revenue from the additional 2 per cent is now applied to Canada's old-age pension system.

The Canadian government maintains that competitive factors in manufacturing and distributing tend to eliminate "pyramiding" in the Canadian levy. According to a 1951 study by the Canadian Tax Foundation such a contention is difficult to estabish empirically.

The Canadian levy is accompanied by a complicated system of adjustments and exemptions. The tax is on finished products; the government attempts to maintain a blanket exemption on producers' goods.

An adjustment is made for manufacturers who sell directly to the public. For example, a furniture manufacturer who sells to a retailer pays a tax on the selling price less 10 per cent; if the same manufacturer sells directly to the consumer, he pays a tax on the selling price less 25 per cent.

Canadian experience with the manufacturers' excise tax has established a rule-of-thumb concept that in a buyers' market the tax is absorbed by the manufacturer, and in a sellers' market the tax is passed on to the consumer. The tax was not a major issue in the recent Canadian political campaign.

Unsinkable Miss

Data available from Greek mythology doesn't include the elapsed time of the best round trip swim made by Leander during his frequent negotiations of the Hellespont to visit his lady love. It has now been ascertained, however, that such a trip can be made in just under two hours, over the seven miles of rough water and current in the Turkish Dardanelles.

Miss Florence Chadwick, channel swimmer of considerable renown, has made the trip and says it is her last.

The Dardanelles swim completes what might be called a grand slam for Miss Chadwick who, within a period of five weeks, successfully plowed her way across four of the Old World's most historic stretches of water.

On September 4 the California girl eclipsed existing records by swimming the English Channel, west to east, in 14 hours and 42 minutes. On September 20 she made the Europe to Africa crossing of the Strait of Gibraltar in just over five hours. On October 7 she swam the Bosphorus, which means going from Europe to Asia and back, in an hour and a quarter. And now the Hellespont.

Miss Chadwick's announcement that she is retiring from channel swimming is taken at face value, because she is an essentially modest person who appears to have done her swimming more for the challenge it presented than for the publicity. She says her next venture will be golf, and it is not difficult to believe that the women's fairway hierarchy is looking seriously to its laurels.

Clouds Over Trieste

Dictator Tito's belligerent moves in the Trieste affair can help nobody but the Russians. If his threats are carried out, the result could be war.

There is, of course, no time limit on the withdrawal of British and American troops who are now in Zone A and who must leave it before the Italians are entitled to take possession. Presumably they can stay there indefinitely or at least so long as danger exists. And Tito must be aware of the fact that he is continually dependent on United States financial aid which he would lose if he translated his belligerent talk into action.

That both Yugoslavia and Italy are throbbing with excitement over the prospect is undeniable. The other Western states are counting on time to cool the parties off.

In the interest of peace and the self-preservation of both countries, Belgrade should abandon its war-like attitude and Rome should renounce an ambition which is reported to include not only the occupation of Zone A but eventual acquisition of Zone B which is now held by the Yugoslavs.

Men Wanted

Depression or prosperity, the best opportunities for jobs in the next decade will be found in three fields—medicine, engineering and teaching. That is the conclusion reached by 75 experts, who were nominated by the National Manpower Council to study conditions and prospects and who have just compiled the results of their extensive investigations.

How can they be so certain that an economic recession will not affect their conclusions? Well, the answer is that there is such a "gross unbalance" in these professions that no foreseeable change in the situation can make supply equal the demand for talent. No matter what happens, they say, the country will need more doctors, teachers, and engineers than are now being turned out.

"Coming Out Of Ether"

Several months ago I was being shown through a large midwestern hospital when we came to a long, wide corridor divided into many open cubicles. Each contained a bed occupied by persons recovering from surgical procedures. Some were getting oxygen; others, blood transfusions or sugar or salt solution into a vein. The place was alive with anesthetists, nurses, and surgeons. "This is our recovery room said the medical director.

The idea of a special room or ward for "coming out of" the effects of an operation is not new but is being revived in many hospitals throughout the country. The nurses in attendance have been trained to take care of the emergencies that might arise after surgery. In addition, the equipment and supplies to handle such cases are concentrated in the recovery room rather than spread or duplicated all over the hospital. This plan also makes space available for people who require an operation but can go home as soon as the effects of the anesthetic wears off. In this way, hospital beds are saved for more serious cases.

The recovery room is a great help to the nurses who care for the other patients in the hospital. When no recovery room is provided, the man or woman is returned to his own room immediately after leaving the operating room. Unless he has a special, one of the floor nurses must leave whatever she is doing to take care of the unconscious patient. There is no objection to this so long as there are enough nurses but a shortage of trained personnel creates a problem. The worst time is just before lunch when every one is ready to eat or when some of the nurses are at lunch and several patients are brought down from the operating rooms at the same time.

In the recovery room, care of the patient is not hampered by relatives or visitors. Actually, few operated persons want "company" at a time like this. The special room also has proved a boon to the ward patient. Those who are convalescing are not reminded of their "coming too" ordeal of a week or so previously. Furthermore, the patient is saved embarassment. In hospitals without recovery rooms, the person just operated upon often is returned to the ward in the middle of visiting hours, and if friends and relatives of the other ward patients are asked to leave every one is peeved.

Rooming in is another hospital innovation. In this plan the baby sleeps in the same room with the mother instead of in the nursery, and she gives her child as much care as she can. The effect of such an arrangement is chiefly psychological in that from the moment of birth, the baby obtains the feeling of being wanted and protected. Furthermore, nursery epidemics are discouraged. There are some drawbacks, however: The mother may not get enough rest or the baby may come into contact with visitors who have respiratory infectins.

TOMORROW: Uterine displacements.

MORNING SNEEZES

Mrs. K. writes: My brother, who lives with us, starts sneezing as soon as he gets up and sneezes constantly all through breakfast. This is annoying to the rest of us. Have you any idea what causes it?

REPLY

Morning sneezing may result from allergy to soap or to some irritant in the bath towel. It also occurs in those who have long standing infection of the nose, throat, or sinuses; irritation is produced when secretions begin to drain. Occasionally the change in temperature between the bedroom and the bathroom or breakfast nook is responsible. This would lead to the same effect as walking into or out of an air conditioned room.

HEART ATTACK

C. V. writes: Does a heart attack make a person fall to the ground?

REPLY

Not always. In mild attacks, the individual may walk about, hoping that something will happen to relieve distress. In contrast, in a severe attack the victim may go into shock and is found lying on the floor or sidewalk

ALCOHOLISM AND HEALTH

G. T. writes: Does alcoholism make the body less resistant to tuberculosis?

REPLY

Yes, because the health habits of most alcoholics leave much to be desired. They eat poorly, smoke too much, and stay up too late, all of which tend to lower resistance. This in turn paves the way for respiratory infections, including pulmonary tuberculosis.

PEELING LIP

G. B. writes: Several years ago I had a severe sunburn of the lower lip and since that time it keeps shedding its outer layer. Can you advise?

REPLY

Consult your physician on this problem because lesions that fail to heal may be serious.

Kansans' Strong Sense Of Political Morals May Whip Up Election Cyclone; GOP Would Lose Normally Republican Stronghold In Any Election Right Now

WICHITA, Kans. — The people of Kansas are not prudish, but they have a strong sense of political morals and can also be as unpredictable as the cyclons that sweep their prairies. Both may contribute to what could be done of the most surprising political upsets of modern times.

Having kept a bone-dry prohibition statute on their books longer than any other state in the union, having outlawed cigarets for a considerable period, and having fought the slavery issue easier and more righteously than any other Western state, righteous wrath rises readily among Kansans.

Twice in the last two decades Kansas has seen a native son become chairman of the Republican National Committee, and twice folks back home have turned thumbs down on their native son when, because of woman trouble or lobbying trouble, he failed to observe the traditional morals of the home folks.

The latest Kansas boy who became national chairman, Wesley Roberts, plus the drought, plus farm prices, plus Ezra Taft Benson, is what is whipping up the political cyclone in this normally rock-ribbed Republican state.

Vengeful Roberts

The Wes Roberts affair shook the Republican party in Kansas to its foundation. To the credit of Kansas leaders it should be noted that it was they and not the White House which forced the issue, exposed the alleged lobbying of the national chairman and caused Ike to reverse the blessing he had bestowed on the gentleman from Kansas.

But Roberts, having been given the hotfoot out of Washington, is now back in Kansas quietly seeking revenge against the Republicans who contributed to his downfall. This is one of the inside reasons for the split in the Republican party today and why the Democrats might well carry the state if elections were held tomorrow.

Chief objects of Roberts' wrath are Lt. Gov. Fred Hall; Attorney General Harold Fatzer, the man who conducted the move against him; State Chairman C. I. Moyer and Alvin McCoy, reporter for the Kansas City Star, who first uncovered and had the courage to write the interesting saga of Roberts' lobbying activities.

Lt. Gov. Hall is conceded the best Republican candidate to run for governor and the best man to beat the Democrats in the general election. If he gets it, however, it will be over the dead body of Wesley Roberts. And Roberts has some powerful friends — namely Sen. Frank Carlson, the kindly political angel who ushered him into the national chairmanship, plus Gov. Ed Arn.

It was Governor Arn who dragged his feet on the Roberts lobbying probe last winter and whose general administration of Kansas affairs has contributed to the down-at-the-heel reputation of the Republican party.

Once before, in 1930, the political cyclones that sweep the Kansas prairies staged an upset that was indicative of things to come. In 1928, Herbert Hoover had defeated Al Smith in a crushing election. Even the Solid South had split open to elect Hoover. Some said it would be years before the Democratic party could recover.

But two years later, in 1930, Kansas amazed the nation by going Democrat. Sen. Henry Allen, a close friend of Hoover's, a fine senator, and a former governor of the state was defeated by George McGill, Democrat.

McGill, now a member of the U. S. Tariff Commission, has been surveying the Kansas situation, and he may run again. Whether he does or not, if the Democrats put up a good man and the Republicans continue to fight among themselves, another political cyclone may sweep the state.

One-Party Press

Kansas newspapers present what Democrats consider an interesting example of the so-called one-party press.

Officially, at least, there is not one Democratic newspaper of any consequence in the Sunflower state. The press has been so intertwined with Republican politics for many years the late Lacey Haines of the Kansas City Star even masterminded the state GOP.

Many Republican papers, however, such as the Harris group, the papers owned by the Seaton family, the Murdoch family and others have followed the tradition of William Allen White in turning the spotlight on their state's fouled-up political nest. In contrast, Stewart Newlin, editor of the Wellington News and friend of Wes Roberts and Governor Arn, plus some others, believe in a virtual blackout of GOP criticism.

Kansas Democrats, however, are cheered by what happened last week in Wisconsin. They figure that if a Democrat could be elected for the first time in history in a Republican district there with every newspaper opposing him, the same thing could happen in Kansas.

Full details of the Wisconsin race are even more significant than the immediate election returns. The Republicans, sensing defeat, poured in thousands of dollars, bought column-long ads in 53 weeklies one week, half-page ads in the same weeklies the next week, and several full-page ads in the daily newspapers.

Following this more than half the weeklies in the district ran free editorials, boosting Republican candidate Arthur Padrutts, the editorials having been written by Joyce Larkin right in Padrutt's campaign headquarters. Some 10,000 reprints of a Dunn County news editorial, blaming price drops on the Democrats, were also mailed out.

In addition volunteer road-gangs ranged over the main highways, posting expensive, luminous signs — the kind that glow at night — on trees and poles for Padrutt. More than 35,000 handwritten postcards featuring Padrutt's family picture were sent out, plus 15,000 handwritten postcards with a special message for the town of Eau Claire. A four-page throwaway on Padrutt was also distributed.

In contrast, Democrat Lester Johnson had half a dozen farmers from his home county telling other farmers about him. He purchased a few ads in weekly papers, but lacked the funds to do much advertising. He handed out a few blotters and sent some literature to rural box-holders, but couldn't afford much of this. Nevertheless he won.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (INS) — As this is written, a Broadway and Hollywood publicity man and sometime magazine contributor, Irving Hoffman, is starting on a four month trip around the world. It may be his last. The eyesight of this still young man is failing so badly that he — who has roamed the world at every possible opportunity in recent years wants to be certain he sees the rest of it before the long night sets in.

Our paths have seldom crossed. His life was bound to the theater, the screen and the anonymous production of some of our better known Broadway columns from time to time. But I'd occasionally see him on an off-Broadway story, like a trial or an investigating committee's hearing, and once I came upon him in a wholly anachronistic setting—an atomic bomb test in the Nevada desert.

The purpose of the above, really, is to salute (in a state of wonder) a man who goes to more effort to get a "plug" in a newspaper for a client than any publicist of my experience. Lord only knows how many reputations as industrious diggers for detail the man has made for blokes who find it more and more tiresome through the years to pick up a telephone.

Here's an example of the man's work in behalf of a picture named "The Golden Blade," starring one Piper Laurie. The picture, which I will not see until it shows up on color radio or, still later, reaches my neighborhood, apparently has to do generally with the sensual efficacy of red headed females.

Hoffman sends a 7-½ page typewritten treatise on red hair that has only one mention of the Universal-International film. The American Peoples' Encyclopedia, which is the most up-to-date I know about, could not begin to scrutinize the subject as thoroughly.

From this tract I learn, or believe I learn, that the pigment for red tresses is found only in human beings, that the color is caused by iron, and that it is known in the pigment set as C15H20N209. A blonde's head contains approximately 180,000 (Hoffman slumps a bit on that one and should have had a more accurate count,) a brunette 120,000 hairs and a red a scrawny 50,000, no matter how luxurious it looks.

Get this:

"William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, listed it as a basic ingredient in a cure for epilepsy. 'Make up an essence,' he directed, 'and in it put the red hair of a female who has just met a violent death.' G. Calvert Holland, an old-time hair expert, may have lived a hundred years ago, but he sure was thinking of those Hollywood redheads when he described red-haired misses. 'They have,' he said, 'well-formed chests and active abdominal viscera.'

"Prof. Hans von Hartig, a criminologist, maintains one characteristic of redheads is that they are trigger-happy. As examples, he cites Wild Bill Hickock, Jesse James, Sam Bass and Bob Younger—all redheads . . . 'bunk,' says the Manchester Guardian (!) True or not, statistics show that more red-headed women end up in jail than blondes. And here's one for the books: very few maniacs have red hair.

"Judging from their plays, the Greeks really had a word for red hair, and it wasn't good. When actors wore black wigs, they signified villains; blonde wigs meant young heroes; red wigs—unfaithful slaves.

"The first great red-haired beauty—Helen of Troy—was still so beautiful at the age of 40, when she was executed, her executioner was ordered to blindfold himself—just in case . . . Even though Cleopatra was a dazzling redhead, she always wore a black wig. Then there was Laura, whose chestnut curls were the inspiration for Petrarch's famous sonnets ('the gold and topaze of the sun are shade beside the hair above those eyes.') . . . And Theresa Guiccioli, Byron's last mistress to whom the English poet wrote dozens of love letters, all in English, a language she didn't understand . . . and Louise de Lorraine, the wife of Henry III, who . . ."

And so on. This gives you an idea.

There are pages more of it, and about half way through it I forget the name of the picture. But, anyway, happy trip, Mr. H. See it all, and it will always be with you.

(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — No more fantastic revelation of invisible government in America has been made in a long time than that which has just been disclosed by the acting lieutenant governor of New York State, Arthur H. Wicks, who is also leader of the Republican party in the Senate of the Empire State.

Mr. Wicks was making a speech primarily to defend himself against charges that he repeatedly visited in Sing Sing Prison Joseph S. Fay, convicted labor extortionist, but, inadvertently perhaps, he managed at the same time to tell a story of interest far beyond the limits of New York State—a story which does not necessarily exculpate him from blame. But the facts he exposed are shocking in their significance.

Organized labor will set up and take notice as men of good citizenship in that movement recognize at once the dangers to their future which can develop if any stranglehold on the life of America, such as Mr. Wicks describes, is developed.

Cites "Other Government"

"The dictionary," declared Mr. Wicks, "says that democratic government is popularly determined authority which directs and restrains the actions of men. If that is so, there is more than one government in our state, that is, more than one authority directing and restraining the actions of part of our society at least.

"If you are a legislator in Albany, you would not be there long before you realized that within and under the democratic right of men to organize, the laboring men and labor interests have organized a government, that under and by their own direction, they have determined their own leaders. And the constituted and accepted leaders of labor are the men who, with incredible facility and success, make decisions that strike across the lives and interests of all of us.

"It is impossible for any competent representative in government to be unconscious or unmindful of the organized interests of this other government."

Mr. Wicks said he felt it his duty, in behalf of the people of his district, to seek out Joseph Fay—wherever he might be—and to obtain assistance in settling jurisdictional disputes in his district because very large construction projects might otherwise be held up. Mr. Wicks declared:

"That he (Fay) was in prison, and being there was still the accepted influence of his labor group, was obnoxious to me. Labor chose to continue to respect his opinions while he was in jail—it was labor's decision to make, not mine. He was not my representative, but the one to whom I went for the sake of those I represented.

"And so I went to him. It was lamentable, but was it any more lamentable than it is in our national foreign policy to seek peace and society's welfare by audience with a Premier Stalin or a Marshal Tito—meeting with them, not because they are Communists, not in order to compromise our truth with errors, but meeting with them because they are, good or bad, the accepted leaders of their people who are making demands on our society?"

Settled From Pirson Cell

Mr. Wicks gave three examples of how big construction projects, involving many millions of dollars, were threatened by strikes and how in each instance Joseph Fay from his prison cell accomplished a settlement. He said that Fay "was the one man whom labor trusted and in whom they had confidence."

What a sorry story of American life Mr. Wicks has laid bare, even though it might be mentioned that there are millions of American who are definitely opposed to the policy of their own government in conducting diplomatic relations with gangster governments in Moscow and Peiping.

Mr. Wicks is emphatic that he went to Fay "under no anticipation that he would expect or require any personal favor" and that Fay never asked for any. The acting lieutenant governor says he has made no appeal in behalf of Fay. But the question that will be asked is why Fay was so willing to help the acting lieutenant governor if he didn't expect that his favorable attitude in settling strikes might win him some kind of support from the Republican leader later on.

The fortunes of Mr. Wicks in politics will be disposed of by the people of the State of New York, but the oppressive rule of a privately operated labor government is the problem of nearly every state in the union.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Americanization

Way back in my boyhood, it was called Americanization. It was an approach to the children of immigrants or to the immigrants themselves so that they might more readily understand this country, its traditions, its ideals and it's institutions without so uprooting the individual that he was left without a moral basis for life.

It is now nalf a century since I was absorbed in this process and I now learn that the YMHA's and Jewish Community Centers all over the United States are celebrating the centennial of the first such organization, which was established in Baltimore, in 1854.

The American people are a composite of some 50 nations or races or whatever you wish to call them. This must be a good country or so many people would not have come to it and stayed here. And they still not only continue to migrate to this land of ours but quarrel when limitations are put on immigration. And this can be said as well: nobody ever came to the United States as an immigrant who was content to live in the land of his birth. People were driven to America by religious persecution, and by unfavorable economic and social conditions.

The children of these immigrants are quickly translated into Americans by the public school system, which wears off the rough edges of strangeness and gives to all children an equality of opportunity that is the characteristic of this country.

In my childhood, we used to play on the streets after school, unorganized play except that one boy always asserted leadership and somehow his capacities dominated the group. If this strong boy was a decent fellow, the gang was decent; if he tended to be a thief, the gang went criminal. The elders played a small part in the lives of the children; they worked a 12-hour day and came home tired and irritable. Even more than that, the children knew that their parents were "greenhorns," as they were called, and doubted their knowledge because they did not speak English.

My experience as a child has been reproduced generation after generation. At this moment, the same difficulties, the same problems assert themselves among the newest immigrants. When children play on streets, they form gangs and gangs can be good or bad; they can be a substitute for organized play or they can become the breeding grounds for crime.

Those of us who were fortunate enough to join clubs or go to playrooms in social settlements were given an added opportunity for Americanization. The YMHA's, as the YMCA's, were not, in those days, situated in the slum areas where I was brought up, but there was the Educational Alliance, the University Settlement, the Henry Street Settlement and a number of similar institutions which took us to their bosoms and gave us opportunities for self-improvement which were otherwise unavailable.

I went to the Educational Alliance on the East Side of New York, which, at that time, devoted itself to Americanization. When I think of General David Sarnoff and Eddie Cantor, I cannot avoid recalling the circumstances of their childhood and the remarkable results achieved by these associations not in uprooting children from their ancestry, but in transplanting them to wholesome soil and helping them to grow straight into the sun.

And Americanization is a good term for this process, because the American ideal of human freedom and dignity, of playing the game by the rules, yet playing as an individual, competitively taking the risks and expecting just rewards without prejudice or discrimination—these concepts of life are not European and they did not come to us naturally. They had to be taught by precept and experience.

I am willing to wager that no boy who in those years went through the Americanization process became a racketeer or a spy. We were Americans, we belonged.

Half a century away, I think that I can say that the Americanization influences of the Educational Alliance did more for me than any other force that I encountered. In those days boys' clubs also played a part in building character in men. While this work was not limited to Jewish immigrants and their children, it is interesting that the Jewish group is celebrating a century of such work in and for America. It is a work that should be continued among the newer immigrants.

Manufacturers' Tax In Canada

Tax reductions now prescribed by law will cause loss of revenues that will make "the budget balancing problem in the 1955 fiscal year"—beginning next July 1—"at least the same in magnitude as the one we faced this year." The words are those of Budget Director Dodge in his first major address since taking office.

One of the tax reductions to which Dodge referred is the cut in certain excise taxes scheduled for next April 1. President Eisenhower in presenting his tax program to the nation in a radio address on May 19 had declared that this reduction "should not be put into effect pending the development of a sounder system of excise taxation, for which I shall make specific recommendations to the Congress next January."

The whole problem of excise taxes, a retail sales tax, or a general manufacturers' tax is part of the all-over tax studies now being conducted by the U. S. Treasury and the House Ways and Means Committee. In his press conference on September 30 the President said that the administration did not plan to ask for a federal retail sales tax, but refused to rule out a manufacturers' excise tax.

Some opponents of a retail sales tax are no less opposed to a general manufacturers' tax as being merely a sales tax in disguise and as being equally regressive. But a manufacturers' tax would produce revenue that is urgently needed, and opponents of regressive taxes have been known in the past to sacrifice principle to expediency. A. A. Ballantine, undersecretary of the Treasury in the Hoover administration points out that the late Fiorello La Guardia, whom Ballantine credits with the chief role in killing a manufacturers' excise tax in Congress in 1932, later as mayor of New York accepted a retail sales tax.

Ballantine, who had a hand in preparing the tax proposal in 1932, notes that it was modeled on a Canadian tax, which Ballantine describes as "non-pyramiding, as the tax is applied only once in the chain of sales." The Canadian tax has been in effect since 1920. The current rate is 10 per cent, raised in April 1951 from the 8 per cent rate imposed in 1936. The revenue from the additional 2 per cent is now applied to Canada's old-age pension system.

The Canadian government maintains that competitive factors in manufacturing and distributing tend to eliminate "pyramiding" in the Canadian levy. According to a 1951 study by the Canadian Tax Foundation such a contention is difficult to estabish empirically.

The Canadian levy is accompanied by a complicated system of adjustments and exemptions. The tax is on finished products; the government attempts to maintain a blanket exemption on producers' goods.

An adjustment is made for manufacturers who sell directly to the public. For example, a furniture manufacturer who sells to a retailer pays a tax on the selling price less 10 per cent; if the same manufacturer sells directly to the consumer, he pays a tax on the selling price less 25 per cent.

Canadian experience with the manufacturers' excise tax has established a rule-of-thumb concept that in a buyers' market the tax is absorbed by the manufacturer, and in a sellers' market the tax is passed on to the consumer. The tax was not a major issue in the recent Canadian political campaign.

Unsinkable Miss

Data available from Greek mythology doesn't include the elapsed time of the best round trip swim made by Leander during his frequent negotiations of the Hellespont to visit his lady love. It has now been ascertained, however, that such a trip can be made in just under two hours, over the seven miles of rough water and current in the Turkish Dardanelles.

Miss Florence Chadwick, channel swimmer of considerable renown, has made the trip and says it is her last.

The Dardanelles swim completes what might be called a grand slam for Miss Chadwick who, within a period of five weeks, successfully plowed her way across four of the Old World's most historic stretches of water.

On September 4 the California girl eclipsed existing records by swimming the English Channel, west to east, in 14 hours and 42 minutes. On September 20 she made the Europe to Africa crossing of the Strait of Gibraltar in just over five hours. On October 7 she swam the Bosphorus, which means going from Europe to Asia and back, in an hour and a quarter. And now the Hellespont.

Miss Chadwick's announcement that she is retiring from channel swimming is taken at face value, because she is an essentially modest person who appears to have done her swimming more for the challenge it presented than for the publicity. She says her next venture will be golf, and it is not difficult to believe that the women's fairway hierarchy is looking seriously to its laurels.

Clouds Over Trieste

Dictator Tito's belligerent moves in the Trieste affair can help nobody but the Russians. If his threats are carried out, the result could be war.

There is, of course, no time limit on the withdrawal of British and American troops who are now in Zone A and who must leave it before the Italians are entitled to take possession. Presumably they can stay there indefinitely or at least so long as danger exists. And Tito must be aware of the fact that he is continually dependent on United States financial aid which he would lose if he translated his belligerent talk into action.

That both Yugoslavia and Italy are throbbing with excitement over the prospect is undeniable. The other Western states are counting on time to cool the parties off.

In the interest of peace and the self-preservation of both countries, Belgrade should abandon its warlike attitude and Rome should renounce an ambition which is reported to include not only the occupation of Zone A but eventual acquisition of Zone B which is now held by the Yugoslavs.

Men Wanted

Depression or prosperity, the best opportunities for jobs in the next decade will be found in three fields—medicine, engineering and teaching. That is the conclusion reached by 75 experts, who were nominated by the National Manpower Council to study conditions and prospects and who have just compiled the results of their extensive investigations.

How can they be so certain that an economic recession will not affect their conclusions? Well, the answer is that there is such a "gross unbalance" in these professions that no foreseeable change in the situation can make supply equal the demand for talent. No matter what happens, they say, the country will need more doctors, teachers, and engineers than are now being turned out.

"Coming Out Of Ether"

Several months ago I was being shown through a large midwestern hospital when we came to a long, wide corridor divided into many open cubicles. Each contained a bed occupied by persons recovering from surgical procedures. Some were getting oxygen; others, blood transfusions or sugar or salt solution into a vein. The place was alive with anesthetists, nurses, and surgeons. "This is our recovery room said the medical director.

The idea of a special room or ward for "coming out of" the effects of an operation is not new but is being revived in many hospitals throughout the country. The nurses in attendance have been trained to take care of the emergencies that might arise after surgery. In addition, the equipment and supplies to handle such cases are concentrated in the recovery room rather than spread or duplicated all over the hospital. This plan also makes space available for people who require an operation but can go home as soon as the effects of the anesthetic wears off. In this way, hospital beds are saved for more serious cases.

The recovery room is a great help to the nurses who care for the other patients in the hospital. When no recovery room is provided, the man or woman is returned to his own room immediately after leaving the operating room. Unless he has a special, one of the floor nurses must leave whatever she is doing to take care of the unconscious patient. There is no objection to this so long as there are enough nurses but a shortage of trained personnel creates a problem. The worst time is just before lunch when every one is ready to eat or when some of the nurses are at lunch and several patients are brought down from the operating rooms at the same time.

In the recovery room, care of the patient is not hampered by relatives or visitors. Actually, few operated persons want "company" at a time like this. The special room also has proved a boon to the ward patient. Those who are convalescing are not reminded of their "coming too" ordeal of a week or so previously. Furthermore, the patient is saved embarassment. In hospitals without recovery rooms, the person just operated upon often is returned to the ward in the middle of visiting hours, and if friends and relatives of the other ward patients are asked to leave every one is peeved.

Rooming in is another hospital innovation. In this plan the baby sleeps in the same room with the mother instead of in the nursery, and she gives her child as much care as she can. The effect of such an arrangement is chiefly psychological in that from the moment of birth, the baby obtains the feeling of being wanted and protected. Furthermore, nursery epidemics are discouraged. There are some drawbacks, however: The mother may not get enough rest or the baby may come into contact with visitors who have respiratory infectins.

TOMORROW: Uterine displacements.

MORNING SNEEZES

Mrs. K. writes: My brother, who lives with us, starts sneezing as soon as he gets up and sneezes constantly all through breakfast. This is annoying to the rest of us. Have you any idea what causes it?

REPLY

Morning sneezing may result from allergy to soap or to some irritant in the bath towel. It also occurs in those who have long standing infection of the nose, throat, or sinuses; irritation is produced when secretions begin to drain. Occasionally the change in temperature between the bedroom and the bathroom or breakfast nook is responsible. This would lead to the same effect as walking into or out of an air conditioned room.

HEART ATTACK

C. V. writes: Does a heart attack make a person fall to the ground?

REPLY

Not always. In mild attacks, the individual may walk about, hoping that something will happen to relieve distress. In contrast, in a severe attack the victim may go into shock and is found lying on the floor or sidewalk

ALCOHOLISM AND HEALTH

G. T. writes: Does alcoholism make the body less resistant to tuberculosis?

REPLY

Yes, because the health habits of most alcoholics leave much to be desired. They eat poorly, smoke too much, and stay up too late, all of which tend to lower resistance. This in turn paves the way for respiratory infections, including pulmonary tuberculosis.

PEELING LIP

G. B. writes: Several years ago I had a severe sunburn of the lower lip and since that time it keeps shedding its outer layer. Can you advise?

REPLY

Consult your physician on this problem because lesions that fail to heal may be serious.

Kansans' Strong Sense Of Political Morals May Whip Up Election Cyclone; GOP Would Lose Normally Republican Stronghold In Any Election Right Now

WICHITA, Kans. — The people of Kansas are not prudish, but they have a strong sense of political morals and can also be as unpredictable as the cyclons that sweep their prairies. Both may contribute to what could be done of the most surprising political upsets of modern times.

Having kept a bone-dry prohibition statute on their books longer than any other state in the union, having outlawed cigarets for a considerable period, and having fought the slavery issue easier and more righteously than any other Western state, righteous wrath rises readily among Kansans.

Twice in the last two decades Kansas has seen a native son become chairman of the Republican National Committee, and twice folks back home have turned thumbs down on their native son when, because of woman trouble or lobbying trouble, he failed to observe the traditional morals of the home folks.

The latest Kansas boy who became national chairman, Wesley Roberts, plus the drought, plus farm prices, plus Ezra Taft Benson, is what is whipping up the political cyclone in this normally rock-ribbed Republican state.

Vengeful Roberts

The Wes Roberts affair shook the Republican party in Kansas to its foundation. To the credit of Kansas leaders it should be noted that it was they and not the White House which forced the issue, exposed the alleged lobbying of the national chairman and caused Ike to reverse the blessing he had bestowed on the gentleman from Kansas.

But Roberts, having been given the hotfoot out of Washington, is now back in Kansas quietly seeking revenge against the Republicans who contributed to his downfall. This is one of the inside reasons for the split in the Republican party today and why the Democrats might well carry the state if elections were held tomorrow.

Chief objects of Roberts' wrath are Lt. Gov. Fred Hall; Attorney General Harold Fatzer, the man who conducted the move against him; State Chairman C. I. Moyer and Alvin McCoy, reporter for the Kansas City Star, who first uncovered and had the courage to write the interesting saga of Roberts' lobbying activities.

Lt. Gov. Hall is conceded the best Republican candidate to run for governor and the best man to beat the Democrats in the general election. If he gets it, however, it will be over the dead body of Wesley Roberts. And Roberts has some powerful friends — namely Sen. Frank Carlson, the kindly political angel who ushered him into the national chairmanship, plus Gov. Ed Arn.

It was Governor Arn who dragged his feet on the Roberts lobbying probe last winter and whose general administration of Kansas affairs has contributed to the down-at-the-heel reputation of the Republican party.

Once before, in 1930, the political cyclones that sweep the Kansas prairies staged an upset that was indicative of things to come. In 1928, Herbert Hoover had defeated Al Smith in a crushing election. Even the Solid South had split open to elect Hoover. Some said it would be years before the Democratic party could recover.

But two years later, in 1930, Kansas amazed the nation by going Democrat. Sen. Henry Allen, a close friend of Hoover's, a fine senator, and a former governor of the state was defeated by George McGill, Democrat.

McGill, now a member of the U. S. Tariff Commission, has been surveying the Kansas situation, and he may run again. Whether he does or not, if the Democrats put up a good man and the Republicans continue to fight among themselves, another political cyclone may sweep the state.

One-Party Press

Kansas newspapers present what Democrats consider an interesting example of the so-called one-party press.

Officially, at least, there is not one Democratic newspaper of any consequence in the Sunflower state. The press has been so intertwined with Republican politics for many years the late Lacey Haines of the Kansas City Star even masterminded the state GOP.

Many Republican papers, however, such as the Harris group, the papers owned by the Seaton family, the Murdoch family and others have followed the tradition of William Allen White in turning the spotlight on their state's fouled-up political nest. In contrast, Stewart Newlin, editor of the Wellington News and friend of Wes Roberts and Governor Arn, plus some others, believe in a virtual blackout of GOP criticism.

Kansas Democrats, however, are cheered by what happened last week in Wisconsin. They figure that if a Democrat could be elected for the first time in history in a Republican district there with every newspaper opposing him, the same thing could happen in Kansas.

Full details of the Wisconsin race are even more significant than the immediate election returns. The Republicans, sensing defeat, poured in thousands of dollars, bought column-long ads in 53 weeklies one week, half-page ads in the same weeklies the next week, and several full-page ads in the daily newspapers.

Following this more than half the weeklies in the district ran free editorials, boosting Republican candidate Arthur Padrutts, the editorials having been written by Joyce Larkin right in Padrutt's campaign headquarters. Some 10,000 reprints of a Dunn County news editorial, blaming price drops on the Democrats, were also mailed out.

In addition volunteer road-gangs ranged over the main highways, posting expensive, luminous signs — the kind that glow at night — on trees and poles for Padrutt. More than 35,000 handwritten postcards featuring Padrutt's family picture were sent out, plus 15,000 handwritten postcards with a special message for the town of Eau Claire. A four-page throwaway on Padrutt was also distributed.

In contrast, Democrat Lester Johnson had half a dozen farmers from his home county telling other farmers about him. He purchased a few ads in weekly papers, but lacked the funds to do much advertising. He handed out a few blotters and sent some literature to rural box-holders, but couldn't afford much of this. Nevertheless he won.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (INS) — As this is written, a Broadway and Hollywood publicity man and sometime magazine contributor, Irving Hoffman, is starting on a four month trip around the world. It may be his last. The eyesight of this still young man is failing so badly that he — who has roamed the world at every possible opportunity in recent years wants to be certain he sees the rest of it before the long night sets in.

Our paths have seldom crossed. His life was bound to the theater, the screen and the anonymous production of some of our better known Broadway columns from time to time. But I'd occasionally see him on an off-Broadway story, like a trial or an investigating committee's hearing, and once I came upon him in a wholly anachronistic setting—an atomic bomb test in the Nevada desert.

The purpose of the above, really, is to salute (in a state of wonder) a man who goes to more effort to get a "plug" in a newspaper for a client than any publicist of my experience. Lord only knows how many reputations as industrious diggers for detail the man has made for blokes who find it more and more tiresome through the years to pick up a telephone.

Here's an example of the man's work in behalf of a picture named "The Golden Blade," starring one Piper Laurie. The picture, which I will not see until it shows up on color radio or, still later, reaches my neighborhood, apparently has to do generally with the sensual efficacy of red headed females.

Hoffman sends a 7-½ page typewritten treatise on red hair that has only one mention of the Universal-International film. The American Peoples' Encyclopedia, which is the most up-to-date I know about, could not begin to scrutinize the subject as thoroughly.

From this tract I learn, or believe I learn, that the pigment for red tresses is found only in human beings, that the color is caused by iron, and that it is known in the pigment set as C15H20N209. A blonde's head contains approximately 180,000 (Hoffman slumps a bit on that one and should have had a more accurate count,) a brunette 120,000 hairs and a red a scrawny 50,000, no matter how luxurious it looks.

Get this:

"William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, listed it as a basic ingredient in a cure for epilepsy. 'Make up an essence,' he directed, 'and in it put the red hair of a female who has just met a violent death.' G. Calvert Holland, an old-time hair expert, may have lived a hundred years ago, but he sure was thinking of those Hollywood redheads when he described red-haired misses. 'They have,' he said, 'well-formed chests and active abdominal viscera.'

"Prof. Hans von Hartig, a criminologist, maintains one characteristic of redheads is that they are trigger-happy. As examples, he cites Wild Bill Hickock, Jesse James, Sam Bass and Bob Younger—all redheads . . . 'bunk,' says the Manchester Guardian (!) True or not, statistics show that more red-headed women end up in jail than blondes. And here's one for the books: very few maniacs have red hair.

"Judging from their plays, the Greeks really had a word for red hair, and it wasn't good. When actors wore black wigs, they signified villains; blonde wigs meant young heroes; red wigs—unfaithful slaves.

"The first great red-haired beauty—Helen of Troy—was still so beautiful at the age of 40, when she was executed, her executioner was ordered to blindfold himself—just in case . . . Even though Cleopatra was a dazzling redhead, she always wore a black wig. Then there was Laura, whose chestnut curls were the inspiration for Petrarch's famous sonnets ('the gold and topaze of the sun are shade beside the hair above those eyes.') . . . And Theresa Guiccioli, Byron's last mistress to whom the English poet wrote dozens of love letters, all in English, a language she didn't understand . . . and Louise de Lorraine, the wife of Henry III, who . . ."

And so on. This gives you an idea.

There are pages more of it, and about half way through it I forget the name of the picture. But, anyway, happy trip, Mr. H. See it all, and it will always be with you.

(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — No more fantastic revelation of invisible government in America has been made in a long time than that which has just been disclosed by the acting lieutenant governor of New York State, Arthur H. Wicks, who is also leader of the Republican party in the Senate of the Empire State.

Mr. Wicks was making a speech primarily to defend himself against charges that he repeatedly visited in Sing Sing Prison Joseph S. Fay, convicted labor extortionist, but, inadvertently perhaps, he managed at the same time to tell a story of interest far beyond the limits of New York State—a story which does not necessarily exculpate him from blame. But the facts he exposed are shocking in their significance.

Organized labor will set up and take notice as men of good citizenship in that movement recognize at once the dangers to their future which can develop if any stranglehold on the life of America, such as Mr. Wicks describes, is developed.

Cites "Other Government"

"The dictionary," declared Mr. Wicks, "says that democratic government is popularly determined authority which directs and restrains the actions of men. If that is so, there is more than one government in our state, that is, more than one authority directing and restraining the actions of part of our society at least.

"If you are a legislator in Albany, you would not be there long before you realized that within and under the democratic right of men to organize, the laboring men and labor interests have organized a government, that under and by their own direction, they have determined their own leaders. And the constituted and accepted leaders of labor are the men who, with incredible facility and success, make decisions that strike across the lives and interests of all of us.

"It is impossible for any competent representative in government to be unconscious or unmindful of the organized interests of this other government."

Mr. Wicks said he felt it his duty, in behalf of the people of his district, to seek out Joseph Fay—wherever he might be—and to obtain assistance in settling jurisdictional disputes in his district because very large construction projects might otherwise be held up. Mr. Wicks declared:

"That he (Fay) was in prison, and being there was still the accepted influence of his labor group, was obnoxious to me. Labor chose to continue to respect his opinions while he was in jail—it was labor's decision to make, not mine. He was not my representative, but the one to whom I went for the sake of those I represented.

"And so I went to him. It was lamentable, but was it any more lamentable than it is in our national foreign policy to seek peace and society's welfare by audience with a Premier Stalin or a Marshal Tito—meeting with them, not because they are Communists, not in order to compromise our truth with errors, but meeting with them because they are, good or bad, the accepted leaders of their people who are making demands on our society?"

Settled From Pirson Cell

Mr. Wicks gave three examples of how big construction projects, involving many millions of dollars, were threatened by strikes and how in each instance Joseph Fay from his prison cell accomplished a settlement. He said that Fay "was the one man whom labor trusted and in whom they had confidence."

What a sorry story of American life Mr. Wicks has laid bare, even though it might be mentioned that there are millions of American who are definitely opposed to the policy of their own government in conducting diplomatic relations with gangster governments in Moscow and Peiping.

Mr. Wicks is emphatic that he went to Fay "under no anticipation that he would expect or require any personal favor" and that Fay never asked for any. The acting lieutenant governor says he has made no appeal in behalf of Fay. But the question that will be asked is why Fay was so willing to help the acting lieutenant governor if he didn't expect that his favorable attitude in settling strikes might win him some kind of support from the Republican leader later on.

The fortunes of Mr. Wicks in politics will be disposed of by the people of the State of New York, but the oppressive rule of a privately operated labor government is the problem of nearly every state in the union.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Americanization

Way back in my boyhood, it was called Americanization. It was an approach to the children of immigrants or to the immigrants themselves so that they might more readily understand this country, its traditions, its ideals and it's institutions without so uprooting the individual that he was left without a moral basis for life.

It is now nalf a century since I was absorbed in this process and I now learn that the YMHA's and Jewish Community Centers all over the United States are celebrating the centennial of the first such organization, which was established in Baltimore, in 1854.

The American people are a composite of some 50 nations or races or whatever you wish to call them. This must be a good country or so many people would not have come to it and stayed here. And they still not only continue to migrate to this land of ours but quarrel when limitations are put on immigration. And this can be said as well: nobody ever came to the United States as an immigrant who was content to live in the land of his birth. People were driven to America by religious persecution, and by unfavorable economic and social conditions.

The children of these immigrants are quickly translated into Americans by the public school system, which wears off the rough edges of strangeness and gives to all children an equality of opportunity that is the characteristic of this country.

In my childhood, we used to play on the streets after school, unorganized play except that one boy always asserted leadership and somehow his capacities dominated the group. If this strong boy was a decent fellow, the gang was decent; if he tended to be a thief, the gang went criminal. The elders played a small part in the lives of the children; they worked a 12-hour day and came home tired and irritable. Even more than that, the children knew that their parents were "greenhorns," as they were called, and doubted their knowledge because they did not speak English.

My experience as a child has been reproduced generation after generation. At this moment, the same difficulties, the same problems assert themselves among the newest immigrants. When children play on streets, they form gangs and gangs can be good or bad; they can be a substitute for organized play or they can become the breeding grounds for crime.

Those of us who were fortunate enough to join clubs or go to playrooms in social settlements were given an added opportunity for Americanization. The YMHA's, as the YMCA's, were not, in those days, situated in the slum areas where I was brought up, but there was the Educational Alliance, the University Settlement, the Henry Street Settlement and a number of similar institutions which took us to their bosoms and gave us opportunities for self-improvement which were otherwise unavailable.

I went to the Educational Alliance on the East Side of New York, which, at that time, devoted itself to Americanization. When I think of General David Sarnoff and Eddie Cantor, I cannot avoid recalling the circumstances of their childhood and the remarkable results achieved by these associations not in uprooting children from their ancestry, but in transplanting them to wholesome soil and helping them to grow straight into the sun.

And Americanization is a good term for this process, because the American ideal of human freedom and dignity, of playing the game by the rules, yet playing as an individual, competitively taking the risks and expecting just rewards without prejudice or discrimination—these concepts of life are not European and they did not come to us naturally. They had to be taught by precept and experience.

I am willing to wager that no boy who in those years went through the Americanization process became a racketeer or a spy. We were Americans, we belonged.

Half a century away, I think that I can say that the Americanization influences of the Educational Alliance did more for me than any other force that I encountered. In those days boys' clubs also played a part in building character in men. While this work was not limited to Jewish immigrants and their children, it is interesting that the Jewish group is celebrating a century of such work in and for America. It is a work that should be continued among the newer immigrants.

Engineers Will Form Association

A meeting has been scheduled for October 29 in Hagerstown at which time an organization to be known as the County Engineers Association will be formed.

Attending will be J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor for Allegany County, and Harry Skelly, general foreman for the county roads department.

Chapman was authorized to attend the session today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The roads supervisor informed the board that the new organization is being planned by Roger Willard, engineer for Washington County.

Main item on the agenda will be discussion of the 12-year program for secondary county roads under the State Roads Commission plan, Chapman said. The procedure to be followed in lining up a program in the various counties will be outlined and the financing of such roads will also come in for discussion.

Allegany County is in the process of planning a program for secondary road building but the results will not be ready for several months, Chapman said.

State tax monies will be used and there will be some federal aid for the construction of secondary roads, the commissioners said. Just how the program will be worked out is not as yet fully known, they added.

The new association to be formed at the Hagerstown meeting will be comprised of county engineers, supervisors, superintendents and general foreman and other officials of the various county road units throughout the state.

CLOTHESPINS ARE FOR THE KIDS

Let the kids make dolls, planes, or fences with your clothespins. You don't need them any more.

Modern electric dryers have taken the place of clothespins and clotheslines.

Give away your liniment too—no more aching backs from lugging soggy, heavy clothes up the cellar stairs and out to the line. No more up-and-down, up-and-down bending from wash basket to line.

And while you're at it, give away the family almanac and crystal ball . . . now you don't have to worry about the weather. Rain, high winds, snow or hail, you can now dry clothes indoors, anytime, getting sunshine-fresh, fluffy results.

See the modern electric dryers now at your local appliance dealer or the nearest utility company store.

Engineers Will Form Association

A meeting has been scheduled for October 29 in Hagerstown at which time an organization to be known as the County Engineers Association will be formed.

Attending will be J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor for Allegany County, and Harry Skelly, general foreman for the county roads department.

Chapman was authorized to attend the session today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The roads supervisor informed the board that the new organization is being planned by Roger Willard, engineer for Washington County.

Main item on the agenda will be discussion of the 12-year program for secondary county roads under the State Roads Commission plan, Chapman said. The procedure to be followed in lining up a program in the various counties will be outlined and the financing of such roads will also come in for discussion.

Allegany County is in the process of planning a program for secondary road building but the results will not be ready for several months, Chapman said.

State tax monies will be used and there will be some federal aid for the construction of secondary roads, the commissioners said. Just how the program will be worked out is not as yet fully known, they added.

The new association to be formed at the Hagerstown meeting will be comprised of county engineers, supervisors, superintendents and general foreman and other officials of the various county road units throughout the state.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Edith Willison vs. Thomas R. Willison, Robert Y. Borst vs. William R. Borst and Charles L. Johnson, Jr. vs. Juanita Johnson.

LaVale PTA Will Meet

A new president will be elected by the LaVale School Parent-Teacher Association Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the school.

Edgar T. Duke will preside at his last meeting. He is moving to Akron where he has accepted a position in the research department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Nominations will be received from the floor for the selection of his successor.

Mrs. Aden Everstine, psychiatric social worker for the State Department of Health in Allegany County, will speak and show a film.

Kelly Plant To Close For Annual Inventory

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here will close next week for its annual inventory, according to company officials.

Bulletins announcing this year's week's layoff have been distributed to the employes, the officials stated.

Agents Attend State Conference

A three-day meeting of county farm agents and home demonstration agents from Maryland counties is being held at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Representing Allegany County are Ralph F. McHenry, farm agent; his assistant, Joseph M. Steger, and Miss Joanne Reitz, home demonstration agent.

Pence Receives Award For Work On Fishing Rodeo

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, has received an award of merit from Better Fishing, Inc., for his part in the Fishing Rodeos sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

The award recognizes the part Pence has played in providing more fishing fun for boys and girls of the area.

The 1953 rodeo, which ended the department's playground activities, was attended by some 1,700 children of Allegany County.

It was the fifth such event held at Oldtown under the sponsorship of the city and sports groups of Allegany County.

Parish PTA Aiding Three Projects

The SS. Peter and Paul Parent-Teacher Association discussed working on the Games booth at the parish fair, next week and voted to continue its projects. John W. Kreidler presided at the meeting held Sunday evening in the parish hall.

It was agreed to purchase approximately $150 worth of equipment for the convent;

Plans also were made to continue endorsing the physical education program at the school; and the association met the requirement of $131. to take care of the book list that cannot be covered at home.

Following the meeting the parents were taken on a conducted tour of the school. They were shown the cafeteria, where the facilities were explained, the shower rooms, gymnasium and commercial rooms of the high school. The boys and girls of the eighth grade had been trained to serve as the guides.

The annual covered dish supper will be held in January.

CDA Has Italian Program

The Italian members of Court Cardinal Gibbons, 529, CDA presented a program of Italian songs and dances at the monthly social of the court, Monday evening in the Social Center. Mrs. Nellie Fannelli was chairman for the party.

Fifteen members, whose birthdays occur in September and October, were honored.

A donation of $10 was voted to the Community Chest.

Mrs. Carolyn Ruppert, chairman of the sewing group, displayed a number of dolls which the group dressed for the Associated Charities for Christmas distribution.

Approximately 50 members attended.

Talk Series Are Planned

A series of lectures entitled, "Meet Your Teen-Ager" will be given by Rev. Jude, F. F. M. Cap., for members of the St. Mary's Mother's Club, early in 1954. He also addressed the group on "Patterns of Happiness," at the meeting recently.

Mrs. Francis Kastner presided and announced a bake sale to be held November 2, for the benefit of the second grade. Mrs. John Long and Mrs. James Hollinan will be in charge.

A penny games party is to be held October 25. Mrs. Charles Kifer was named chairman and Mrs. Marcus Naughton is to supervise the candy both.

Refreshments with a Halloween motif were served by Mrs. William Hay and Mrs. Mary Ann King, assisted by the seventh grade mothers.

The sixth grade mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Seaders and Mrs. Joseph Sirna will entertain at the meeting November 12.

Local Church Women Group Sets World Peace Program

Cumberland Council of United Church Women will play a major role in the observance of World Community Day on Friday, November 6, in a nation-wide effort in behalf of World Peace.

According to Mrs. M. H. Burgess, public relations chairman of the local group, the Rev. Seth C. Morrow, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will address a city-wide meeting at the church starting at 7:30 p. m. on November 6. To that meeting will be taken packages of clothes, towels, blankets, pillow cases, quilts and other donations for the refugees of Europe. Cumberland's contributions will be shipped to New Windsor, in Carroll County, one of four collection depots in the United States. The other three are in New York, St. Louis and Oakland, Calif.

"As wars are made in the minds of men," says Mrs. L. G. Bridgers, president of Cumberland's United Church Women, "so shall peace also come through the minds and hearts of the peoples of the world."

And so Christian women across the country, for their World Community Day observance this year, on November 6, are busy collecting "Helps for Homes," the needed items to make more comfortable the homes, camps, makeshift shelters of people of other lands. These gifts will be sent "from our hearts to theirs" in India and the Near East, in Germany, Greece, Trieste, in Pakistan, Hong Hong, and Korea. And as they prepare these "Helps," United Church Women are studying conditions and legislation and the work of the agencies of the United Nations.

In many homes and churches, cartons are now filling up with bright and gay washcloths and towels; with pillowcases and sheets —double, single and crib size; with blankets and quilts — soft and warm, but lightweight; with curtains and drapes to cover bare and draughty windows or doors, and with tablecloths to cover worn tables. By extending their hands across the sea and sharing something serviceable, church women are expressing their concern. These gifts really say, "From our house in the U. S. to your house, with love."

Other officers of the Cumberland Council are: Miss Twila Willison, general chairman for the Nov. 6 observance; Mrs. John C. Wolverton, secretary treasurer; and Mrs. E. W. Athey, co-chairman.

Any one in the Cumberland area who wishes to make a material contribution to world good will, may take or send a package to the meeting on November 6. With the entire nation uniting in a vast flood of clothes and accessories to the stricken people of Korea, Pakistan, Berlin, Trieste, Hong Kong and the Near East, the World Community Day November 6 is expected to wield a powerful influence in the cause of peace and to win new good will for the American people.

Flintstone Soldier Arrives In Seattle

M/Sgt. Billy A. Beck, RD 1, Flintstone, arrived in Seattle, Wash., Monday aboard the transport General M. M. Patrick.

The ship carried some 1,317 servicemen returning from the Far East. Sgt. Beck was one of nine Marylanders in the group.

VFW Installs New Officers

Two new officers were installed during a recent meeting of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW.

James A. Stemple, former post commander, was installed by Commander George E. Speis, as three-year trustee and succeeds J. Conners, who resigned to return to military school.

Cornelius Rice was installed as junior vice-commander, and succeeds Francis Conlon, who resigned due to business reasons.

The services of Vernon Winner, post service officer, are available to servicemen, their wives and families without charge. He was instructed in the Service Officers' School and may be contacted by phoning 3540.

Tentative plans were made to resume "Old Fashioned Country Store Nights" on Wednesday nights.

Raymond F. Whitehair was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and will provide entertainers to present floor shows at the regular Saturday night dances.

Driver Fined $306 On Overload Count

A Hyndman, Pa. truck driver pleaded guilty to an overload charge in a hearing before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Albert Wayne Thompson was fined $306.75 including court cost. Thompson was arrested north of Cumberland on Bedford Road yesterday by Richard F. Boyle. The driver was hauling rock from a nearby quarry. Thompson was charged with an overload of 5100 pounds on the second axle. Owner of the truck is Edgar I. Shaffer, of Hyndman.

Lawrence Durr, RD 2, and Mervin Trail, this city, are among 411 students enrolled for the 1953-54 session at Bridgewater (Va.) College. Donald William Border, formerly of this city now of Yuba City, Calif., is also a student there.

Widow Seeks $25,000 Damage

A $25,000 damage suit for the benefit of the widowed mother and three children of a quarry worker who was killed when his automobile was struck by a train was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was filed by Attorney Edward J. Ryan for the benefit of Mrs. Pearl Green and her three sons, William, Randy and Ralph and named the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as defendant.

Mrs. Green states in her declaration that her husband, William, was killed October 19, 1952, while driving to work at a quarry near Corriganville. She said that he had to cross B&O tracks to reach the quarry. After he drove his car onto the tracks it was struck by an east-bound train.

The declaration contends that the train sounded no whistle or gave any other warning signal before the fatal crash.

St. Mark's Men's Club Mark Layman's Sunday

The Men's Club of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Park and Harrison Streets, had charge of the morning worship services Sunday which was designated at Laymen's Sunday.

Robert W. Jones, a staff member of the Board of Education, was the speaker. He used as his topic, "Personal Pronouns," stressing the importance of the "we" in all church activities. Emphasis was also placed on the work of the United Nations. Saturday, October 24, has been announced as United Nations Day by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Three Local ABL Scientists Honored

St. John's Plans Father-Son Banquet

The annual Father-Son Banquet of St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Arch Street, will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the church.

The supper is sponsored by the mens Bible Class and will be served by women of the congregation.

W. Va. Crisis Stage Reached In Forest Fire Danger Period

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 20 (AP)—The Conservation Department said today that the crisis had arrived in the Fall forest fire season.

"With no rain-relief in sight and the mass of fallen leaves, we can expect a big blowup at any time," State Forester Hays Helmick said. "Only good luck and extreme public cooperation can prevent disaster at this point."

Helmick said the department was afraid that rising winds might increase an already dangerous number of fires in all parts of the state. He said that gathering winds particularly south of the Kanawha River, helped push the acreage burned yesterday to 5,000 acres.

Lester McClung, assistant state forester in charge of fire control, put into motion today plans to use heavy equipment on several of the more serious fires in Boone and Kanawha Counties.

Helmick said that "the danger is as acute as it was at this time in 1952, our disaster year" Last year's record forest fire outbreak swept across about 600,000 acres in West Virginia.

Two United States Presidents, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, were awarded the Nobel peace prize.

Navy Awards Its Highest Civilian Honor To 3 Local ABL Scientists

The Navy yesterday gave its highest civilian honor to three scientists at the Allegany Ballistics laboratory credited with important parts in developing guided missiles, rockets and jets.

Dr. Ralph Preckel, Dr. Lyman Bonner, and Richard Winer, all of this city, were awarded the Distinguished Public Service Medal.

The laboratory is at nearby Pinto and the award was presented in ceremonies there by Raymond H. Fogler, assistant secretary of the Navy. Others who honored the three scientists included Rear Admiral W. S. Parsons, deputy chief of the Navy's bureau of ordnance; A. E. Forster, president of Hercules Powder Co., and J. M. Martin, general manager of the Hercules heavy explosive division.

Hercules operates the laboratory for the Navy.

The official citation said Preckel, Bonner and Winer directed the work which resulted in a major development in propellants for guided missiles, rockets and the jet-assisted takeoff system for aircraft. Their work was credited with increasing both the performance and safety of these weapons.

Other distinguished guests at the ceremony were:

Captain H. J. Kossler, Captain C. K. Bergin, Captain K. E. Price, Captain U. S. Brady, Cmdr. J. B. Kackley, Cmdr. H. W. Howard, Cmdr. E. C. Midgett, Lt. R. C. Howell, E. M. Mitchell and Leo L. Pollak, all of the U. S. Navy, and A. E. Forster, J. M. Martin, F. M. Hakenjos, Ashworth Burslem and Leroy Keane, of Hercules Powder Company, Wilmington.

Forster is president of Hercules Powder Company and Martin is general manager of the Hercules Explosives Department.

Lt. Cmdr. N. L. Smith, assistant inspector of Navy material at the Pinto installation, introduced the speaker to the ABL employes. The address by Fogler was made from a platform erected at the north side of the administration building.

The river work, he declared, will offer more flood protection at present than completing Wills Creek, now slated in the last phases.

Ask Time To Stockpile

Another problem discussed yesterday was the source of sand and gravel of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

The firm, represented by W. Earle Cobey, W. R. Carscaden and Albert S. Paye, asked consideration of a plan which would allow the company to stockpile sand and gravel from Smith Island, which will be removed during channel work.

The proposal, presented by Paye, calls for deepening and widening of the existing channel enough to lower the water level in Wills Creek as desired by the Corps of Engineers.

The channel would bypass Smtih Island on the West Virginia side and the company could excavate the usable sand and gravel, which would be stockpiled for an estimated 15 year supply. The channel would be maintained at all times and upon the completion of the stockpiling operation, Paye said, the channel would be built substantially as presently planned by the Corps of Engineers.

It was emphasized that the chief requirement of the plan to keep the company in business . . . and to keep the costs of property acquisition down, would be the rescheduling of work on the river.

City officials promised cooperation on the proposal.

Also present at the meeting were C. William Gilchrist and Paul Pickens, representing the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce; J. H. Simmons and Charles Fryer, for the Town of Ridgeley, and James A. Avirett, of the City Planning and Zoning Commission.

St. Mark's Men's Club Mark Layman's Sunday

The Men's Club of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Park and Harrison Streets, had charge of the morning worship services Sunday which was designated at Laymen's Sunday.

Robert W. Jones, a staff member of the Board of Education, was the speaker. He used as his topic, "Personal Pronouns," stressing the importance of the "we" in all church activities. Emphasis was also placed on the work of the United Nations. Saturday, October 24, has been announced as United Nations Day by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Three Local ABL Scientists Honored

W. Va. Crisis Stage Reached In Forest Fire Danger Period

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 20 (AP)—The Conservation Department said today that the crisis had arrived in the Fall forest fire season.

"With no rain-relief in sight and the mass of fallen leaves, we can expect a big blowup at any time," State Forester Hays Helmick said. "Only good luck and extreme public cooperation can prevent disaster at this point."

Helmick said the department was afraid that rising winds might increase an already dangerous number of fires in all parts of the state. He said that gathering winds particularly south of the Kanawha River, helped push the acreage burned yesterday to 5,000 acres.

Lester McClung, assistant state forester in charge of fire control, put into motion today plans to use heavy equipment on several of the more serious fires in Boone and Kanawha Counties.

Helmick said that "the danger is as acute as it was at this time in 1952, our disaster year" Last year's record forest fire outbreak swept across about 600,000 acres in West Virginia.

Two United States Presidents, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, were awarded the Nobel peace prize.

Navy Awards Its Highest Civilian Honor To 3 Local ABL Scientists

The Navy yesterday gave its highest civilian honor to three scientists at the Allegany Ballistics laboratory credited with important parts in developing guided missiles, rockets and jets.

Dr. Ralph Preckel, Dr. Lyman Bonner, and Richard Winer, all of this city, were awarded the Distinguished Public Service Medal.

The laboratory is at nearby Pinto and the award was presented in ceremonies there by Raymond H. Fogler, assistant secretary of the Navy. Others who honored the three scientists included Rear Admiral W. S. Parsons, deputy chief of the Navy's bureau of ordnance; A. E. Forster, president of Hercules Powder Co., and J. M. Martin, general manager of the Hercules heavy explosive division.

Hercules operates the laboratory for the Navy.

The official citation said Preckel, Bonner and Winer directed the work which resulted in a major development in propellants for guided missiles, rockets and the jet-assisted takeoff system for aircraft. Their work was credited with increasing both the performance and safety of these weapons.

Other distinguished guests at the ceremony were:

Captain H. J. Kossler, Captain C. K. Bergin, Captain K. E. Price, Captain U. S. Brady, Cmdr. J. B. Kackley, Cmdr. H. W. Howard, Cmdr. E. C. Midgett, Lt. R. C. Howell, E. M. Mitchell and Leo L. Pollak, all of the U. S. Navy, and A. E. Forster, J. M. Martin, F. M. Hakenjos, Ashworth Burslem and Leroy Keane, of Hercules Powder Company, Wilmington.

Forster is president of Hercules Powder Company and Martin is general manager of the Hercules Explosives Department.

Lt. Cmdr. N. L. Smith, assistant inspector of Navy material at the Pinto installation, introduced the speaker to the ABL employes. The address by Fogler was made from a platform erected at the north side of the administration building.

Silcox Will Open Mortuary And Ambulance Service

Silcox Service, the city's newest ambulance and mortuary concern, opens Thursday in Colonial-type quarters at 404 Decatur Street.

The service will be operated by Lee Silcox and his wife, Ruth E. Silcox.

The building, in keeping with its type structure, is furnished in the Colonial aspect and will have eight rooms available for services. Two double drawing rooms on the first floor allow for two completely private services. Two more of the double reporting rooms are available on the second floor.

Silcox Service is the only business of its type to offer off-street parking, Silcox said.

Silcox has been associated with the mortuary and ambulance service business here since 1936. Prior to that he had been in the field from 1931 at Connellsville, Pa., his hometown.

During a two and a half year period when he was on the West Coast, Silcox operated a tire business. While there he was instructor-trainer for the Pacific Area, American Red Cross disaster chairman for Sonoma County, Calif., and chairman of the then Civilian Defense for that county. Later, he was also active in the county CD program here.

He received his education at Gettysburg College, University of Michigan, and is a graduate of McAllister School of Embalming, New York City. He is licensed in three states, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York.

For 13 years he has been one of the most active members of Allegany Chapter, American Red Cross. For many years he has been Red Cross first aid chairman and attended numerous schools. At one time it was planned to change the first aid textbook and Silcox was asked to advise. He has been in every phase of Red Cross work, an instructor-trainer of instructors as well as with the disaster group of that organization.

The Silcox's have two daughters,

LEE SILCOX

Sue and Jean, both students at Allegany High School.

Six Area Residents On Breakfast Flight

A group of six Cumberlanders flew to Delano, Calif., to attend the annual Breakfast Flight Sunday, October 11, sponsored by the Delano Harvest Holidays Association and Chamber of Commerce.

Flying from here were Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Hinkle, Mexico Farms Airport, RD 4; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jenkins, 200 Glenn Street; and Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Hager, PO Box 117.

The three local couples, according to reports from Delano, cancelled a planned flight to Florida and Cuba when they received the invitation to the Breakfast Flight. They left Cumberland October 3 and arrived in California October 8. It was the second visit by the Hinkles who had been there two years ago. All three couples, Delano reports said, promised to return next year.

Wind Hampers Final Pigeon Race Of Year

The final young bird race of the season for the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club—a 300-mile race from Cincinnati, Ohio, to Cumberland—was flown under such extreme difficulty that only seven of the 26 pigeons racing were reported by the second day.

Club officials said there was a strong east wind along the course which gave the birds a head wind to buck and forced them down and off the course.

None of the 26 birds from seven lofts was reported the first day and only seven pigeons from two lofts were reported the second day.

Red Demon II, from the MacArthur Loft of C. A. Smith and J. H. McAtee was first with an average speed of 591.05 yards per minute. The second, third and fourth birds also came from the MacArthur Loft. They were Miss High, Miss Cay and Tardy Miss.

The fifth, sixth and seventh pigeons all came from the Town View Loft of Galen Beeman at Lonaconing. They were Coney Belle, Coney Bill and Coney Leo. Their speeds were 452.97, 452.80 and 429.69 yards per minute, respectively.

See Gives Charge To Grand Jurors

Judge Ernest A. See, absent from the bench for several months, gave the charge to the grand jurors of the October term of Mineral County Circuit Court in Keyser yesterday.

Jurors include J. Paul Blundon, foreman; Lowell Leatherman, Ray Umstot, S. Smith, Richard Beremer, Reginald Stullenbarger, Van Pritt, John F. Rose, Elmo Clower, Paul C. Rouzer, Abram T. Goldsworthy, Casper Robey, S. M. Bright, Charles Randalls, Edmound Kight and John W. Geoghegan.

Only 12 witnesses were called to appear before the grand jury, which was expected to wind up its investigation yesterday. Ten cases are scheduled.

Judge See will convene court again today to set the docket for the opening of civil and criminal trials on Monday, November 2.

City Ministerial Association Plans Church Data Posters

Posters, which will include the names and addresses of churches in the city as well as the time of services, are being planned by the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren, and publicity committee chairman said plans were made during a regular monthly meeting yesterday morning in Central YMCA.

The posters will be distributed in local hotels, bus stations, railroad stations, Central YMCA and other public places. All churches of the city including the Catholic Churches and synagogues will be included.

Rev. Dr. Crates S. Johnson, retired minister, chairman of the library committee, reported at the meeting that 25 religious books have been placed on the shelves of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Following the business session, Rabbi Samuel Umen, of the B'er Chayim congregation, spoke on "Patterns Of Thought." He pointed out that much of our thinking is following the pattern of thought around us and that only a few individuals actually do original thinking.

An individual does not discover his real self Rabbi Umen added, until he thinks independently of the usual pattern of thought. During his talk, he pointed out a number of individuals who thought independently including Abraham, Moses, Gandhi and Albert Sweitzer. The next meeting of the association will be held at 10 a. m., November 16, in Central YMCA.

Liquor Board Grants Permits

The Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County yesterday issued several licenses.

Viola G. Griffith was granted a beer license for the Bowl-Mor in Barton. A beer license previously held at the same place by Martha J. Kirk was transferred to 136 Railroad Street. The latter place was formerly operated by Alfred J. Schramm, who gave up his permit.

The local Maryland National Guard was granted a one-day permit for the sale of beer October 23.

Hobby Show Opens Next Monday At Public Library

A Hobby Show to be held for three days next week at the Cumberland Free Public Library, is sponsored by the local Business and Professional Women's Club.

Stamp, coin and teapot collections will be among those on display during the show scheduled Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the auditorium on the second floor of the library.

Chairman of the show is Mrs. Karl G. Perry. Last night she said the exhibit is county-wide and that any man or woman interested in displaying collections may make arrangements with her by telephoning 115-W-6.

Purpose of the show is to bring before the public the various types hobbies that interest residents of the county.

Final plans for the show will be made this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Central YMCA.

County Records Are Being Audited

Four auditors from the state auditor's office in Baltimore are at the Court House making their annual check of the books of the clerk of court, register of wills office and other units.

The audit will take about six weeks. All books will be checked which are connected with state monies in any manner.

Big Lines Will Back Up Booster Equipment

Greater fire protection may result from a new procedure adopted by the Cumberland Fire Department.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said all companies have been instructed to "back up" booster lines with 2¼ inch fire lines at all times.

Each pumper used by local fire companies has a booster tank which hold about 110 gallons of water, made available through a one inch hose.

In many cases, this is enough water in the booster tank to quench very minor fires, and the use of the smaller line cuts down water damage.

The use of the booster tank, Chief Parker said, is fine only if large supplies of water, such as are furnished by big 2½ inch lines which tap city city water mains, are available in case a blaze threatens to get out of hand.

Under the new standard operating procedure, firemen using a booster line will be backed up by another fire fighter, holding a 2½ inch line which is connected to a fire hydrant, but uncharged until needed.

Texas, the nation's largest state, also has the most counties, 254. Georgia, with 159 counties, ranks second.

City Ministerial Association Plans Church Data Posters

Posters, which will include the names and addresses of churches in the city as well as the time of services, are being planned by the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren, and publicity committee chairman said plans were made during a regular monthly meeting yesterday morning in Central YMCA.

The posters will be distributed in local hotels, bus stations, railroad stations, Central YMCA and other public places. All churches of the city including the Catholic Churches and synagogues will be included.

Rev. Dr. Crates S. Johnson, retired minister, chairman of the library committee, reported at the meeting that 25 religious books have been placed on the shelves of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Following the business session, Rabbi Samuel Umen, of the B'er Chayim congregation, spoke on "Patterns Of Thought." He pointed out that much of our thinking is following the pattern of thought around us and that only a few individuals actually do original thinking.

An individual does, not discover his real self Rabbi Umen added, until he thinks independently of the usual pattern of thought. During his talk, he pointed out a number of individuals who thought independently including Abraham, Moses, Gandhi and Albert Sweitzer. The next meeting of the association will be held at 10 a. m., November 16, in Central YMCA.

Liquor Board Grants Permits

The Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County yesterday issued several licenses.

Viola G. Griffith was granted a beer license for the Bowl-Mor in Barton. A beer license previously held at the same place by Martha J. Kirk was transferred to 136 Railroad Street. The latter place was formerly operated by Alfred J. Schramm, who gave up his permit.

The local Maryland National Guard was granted a one-day permit for the sale of beer October 23.

Hobby Show Opens Next Monday At Public Library

A Hobby Show to be held for three days next week at the Cumberland Free Public Library, is sponsored by the local Business and Professional Women's Club.

Stamp, coin and teapot collections will be among those on display during the show scheduled Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the auditorium on the second floor of the library.

Chairman of the show is Mrs. Karl G. Perry. Last night she said the exhibit is county-wide and that any man or woman interested in displaying collections may make arrangements with her by telephoning 115-W-6.

Purpose of the show is to bring before the public the various types hobbies that interest residents of the county.

Final plans for the show will be made this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Central YMCA.

County Records Are Being Audited

Four auditors from the state auditor's office in Baltimore are at the Court House making their annual check of the books of the clerk of court, register of wills office and other units.

The audit will take about six weeks. All books will be checked which are connected with state monies in any manner.

Big Lines Will Back Up Booster Equipment

Greater fire protection may result from a new procedure adopted by the Cumberland Fire Department.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said all companies have been instructed to "back up" booster lines with 2¼ inch fire lines at all times.

Each pumper used by local fire companies has a booster tank which hold about 110 gallons of water, made available through a one inch hose.

In many cases, this is enough water in the booster tank to quench very minor fires, and the use of the smaller line cuts down water damage.

The use of the booster tank, Chief Parker said, is fine only if large supplies of water, such as are furnished by big 2½ inch lines which tap city city water mains, are available in case a blaze threatens to get out of hand.

Under the new standard operating procedure, firemen using a booster line will be backed up by another fire fighter, holding a 2½ inch line which is connected to a fire hydrant, but uncharged until needed.

Texas, the nation's largest state, also has the most counties, 254. Georgia, with 159 counties, ranks second.

17,000 To See Middle Title Go In Garden

Bobo Is Solid 11-5 Choice Over Randy In 15-Round Match

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson, from Hawaii and San Francisco, today remained a solid 11 to 5 choice over Britain's unpredictable Randy Turpin in tomorrow's 15-round bout for the world middleweight championship.

The two will meet for the crown, vacated last year by Sugar Ray Robinson, at 10 p.m. (EST) at Madison Square Garden. The nation will watch and listen on CBS-radio and television.

Turpin's sporadic training methods at Grossinger, N. Y. confused writers, managers, trainers and some of his own camp followers. The eager youngster who frequently sparred 15 rounds gave way to a moody fellow who boxed only five times in three weeks. The pick here is Olson.

Although the fight lacks the tremendous appeal of Turpin's first visit to America, two months after he had upset Robinson, it should come close to packing the Garden. More than 60,000 paid about $767,000 to see Turpin in 1951 at the Polo Grounds. This time he'll probably draw 17,000 and about $175,000. Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said the advance sale was "in excess of $110,000."

As in all championship bouts, the eight-count knockdown rule will be waived along with the three-knockdown rule. The boxers will use six-ounce gloves instead of the usual eight-ounce gloves.

Turpin is the uncertain factor. Everybody knows all about Olson. Bobo is a cutey who slips punches, bobs and weaves, hides his face in a peek-a-boo shell and, above all, keeps punching. No great puncher, Olson wears a man down with his steady attack, throwing some of his punches with a half-open glove.

If this is the same Turpin that manhandled Robinson in London the night he won the title, Olson will be in for a rough night, perhaps a knockout. But Turpin never has been the same. He fought Robinson on close to even terms, although he trailed on two of three official cards, until he was stopped by Sugar Ray in the rematch. Against Humez in June he won so easily that nobody could draw an accurate line.

The records are about on a par. Each is 25 years old. Turpin has a 49-3-1 record for 53 starts since 1946. Olson is 53-5 for 58 fights since 1945. Turpin was stopped twice, by Jean Stock of France in 1948 and Robinson. Bobo also was stopped by Robinson in 1950. And he dropped a close fight to Sugar Ray at San Francisco in '52 on a decision.

Chisox Get Richards
That's Somma Team
Arnone To Wichita
Holliday Is The Name

By C. V. BURNS

TOMMY RICHARDS, 18-year-old pitcher-infielder from Carlos, who twirled Beall High to the co-championship of the Bi-State Scholastic Baseball Conference this year, and had a good season with the Frostburg Demons of the Bi-State League, has been signed by the Chicago White Sox and will be assigned to a Class "C" farm team next spring, according to Edward (Ebbie) Finzel, Beall High School baseball mentor.

The youthful righthander received a $1,000 bonus for signing with the White Sox after scouts of the Chicago club had seen him perform in a game against Moorefield at the tailend of the current season. Tommy collected four hits in four trips in that game. He's been signed as an infielder because the ivory hunters liked the way he handled himself at the hot conrner.

Richards worked out with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds late in the season but he was not offered a contract by the Gotham club.

The 18-year-old lad pitched Beall into a tie with Hyndman for the Bi-State Conference crown in the spring, winning 11 and losing three. For Frostburg in the Bi-State loop his record was 6-5. He lost three tough ones in that circuit by scores of 3-2, 5-3 and 2-0. Tommy wound up the season in a blaze of glory, posting five victories in the last six games he pitched.

SOUTHPAW Enordo Arnone is slated to move into faster company next year, according to Finzel.

"Moose" pitched for Anderson in the Class C Tri-State League this year and will graduate into the Class A Western League with Wichita next season.

Arnone, who pitched Beall High School to several conference championships, is the property of Baltimore.

BROTHER JOSEPH, former director of athletics at LaSalle High School, now on the faculty at Central Catholic in Pittsburgh, writes:

"Numbers, alone, don't win high school football games. Here at Central we have 1,700 boys, four coaches and we've lost every game by four touchdowns or more. Donora beat us Friday, 35-0. Could have been 135! LaSalle would beat us this year."

Donora, incidentally, has won six straight games and is among the top contenders for the WPIAL Class AA title this year.

NEW YORK papers are singing the praises of New Dorp (Staten Island) High School's football team.

The New Dorp Centrals, coached by Salvatore (Sal) Somma, a native of Ridgeley, W. Va., pulled a big surprise two weeks ago by holding Lafayette High, defending city PSAL champions to a 13-13 tie. Last weekend New Dorp enhanced its position in the grid scramble by knocking off James Madison High of Brooklyn, 31-6.

In 1949 Somma, a former New York University grid star, was named the "Coach of the Year" for the New York metropolitan area.

"WHO is the only man in baseball history to play in a world series without ever having played a regular season big league game?"

This question was asked prior to the World Series in the Gillette nationwide contest. Ten persons who named the player have received a prize of $100 each. None of the winners are from this section.

The name of the player was Holliday who played for the Chicago White Stockings in the World Series with St. Louis in 1885. Holliday played right field. He was a local amateur who had been playing under the name of Hall.

Hy Turkin received 15,902 postals, letters and telegrams seeking the prize. Almost 200 named the right man but the ten whose replies bore the earliest postmark were rewarded.

Dodgers Voted Five Berths On All-Star Team

Phil Rizzuto Is Only Yankee Named

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Brooklyn's defeated National League champions and St. Louis' third place Cardinals dominated the 1953 Associated Press major league All-Star team, capturing half of the 10 positions.

Seven of the 16 big league clubs, four in the National, were named to the AP's eighth annual All-Star squad, selected today by 179 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The National League had seven players to only three for the American.

The Dodgers and Cardinals were the only clubs with more than one representatives. Oddly enough, the world champion New York Yankees had only one member on the All-Star team—shortstop Phil Rizzuto. And little Phil barely squeezed in by a two-vote margin over Brooklyn's Pee Wee Reese.

Other clubs with single representatives include Washington, Cleveland, Milwaukee and the Philadelphia Phillies.

First base—Mickey Vernon, Senators (.337)

Second base—Red Schoendienst, Cardinals (.342)

Third base—Al Rosen, Indians (.336)

Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees (.271)

Centerfield—Duke Snider, Dodgers (.336)

Right field—Carl Furillo, Dodgers (.344)

Catcher—Roy Campanella, Dodgers (.312)

Righthanded pitcher—Robin Roberts, Phillies (23-16)

Lefthanded pitcher — Warren Spahn, Braves (23-7)

First base—Vernon, Senators 73; Hodges, Dodgers 57; Kluszewski, Redlegs, Rain, Athletics 3.

Second—Schoendienst, Cardinals 163; Goodman, Red Sox, 6; Fox, White Sox 3.

Third—Rosen, Indians 116; Matthews, Braves 59; Kell, Red Sox 3.

Shortstop—Rizzuto, Yankees 60; Reese, Dodgers 58; Kuenn, Tigers 34.

Catcher — Campanella, Dodgers 174 and Berra, Yankees 5.

Pitcher (righthanded)—Roberts, Phillies 132; Porterfield, Senators 30; Erskine, Dodgers 5.

Pitcher (lefthanded) — Spahn, Braves 116; Pierce, White Sox 40; Parnell, Red Sox 11.

Mt. Savage at Valley
Beall at Flintstone

Coach Orville 'Stoney" Jackson's Flintstone High School Aggies deadlocked Valley High of Lonaconing for the leadership of the W.M.I. Soccer league by defeating Mt. Savage High School yesterday at Flintstone by the score of 5-0.

The shutout triumph was the second registered by Flintstone and gave the Aggies a 3-1 record for the first half of the campaign which was concluded yesterday.

Flintstone counted three times in the opening period and added goals in the second and final stanzas.

Fred Bible launched the scoring parade on a pass from Bob Davis. The latter scored the second goal and Jim Fletcher hit the target to make it 3-0. Thornton Robinette took Fletcher's head pass to rack up the fourth point in the second period and Davis connected on a direct shot in the final heat for his second goal of the game.

There Tied For Lead

The goals scored by Robinette and Fletcher tied them with Randall Brown of Valley High for the league leadership, each having scored five points. Flintstone has scored 17 points in four games.

Fullback Lough, Halfbacks Morris, Wilson and Slider and Fred Bible, Robinette and Davis on the forward line played bangup games for the Aggies. Dick Watkins, Ira Watkins and Paul Fiorita stood out for Mt. Savage.

Bruce High's defending champions moved into the thick of the fight by registering their second straight victory at the expense of Beall High School at Frostburg. The score was 1-0.

Kertesz Gets Lone Point

Bob Kertesz, Bruce center halfback, missed a try for penalty goal in the second quarter and came back to boost the only goal of the game in the third period after Welsh had centered the ball.

Goalie Gene Dawson, Kertesz and Bill Salesky were the standouts for Coach Augie Eichhorn's eleven which now owns a 2-2 record in the league. Joe Carter, Robertson and Jack Jones played best for Beall High.

Bob Kirtley, Rickey Harris Named Players Of The Week

BOB KIRTLEY

RICKEY HARRIS

Gridders of Allegany High School and LaSalle High School are sharing player-of-the-week awards for their brilliant performances in contests played here the past weekend.

Robert (Bob) Kirtley, of Allegany, was named the back-of-the-week by the Knights of Columbus Selection Committee for his great showing in last Saturday night's game in which the Campers defeated Montgomery Blair High of Silver Spring by the score of 13-6.

Richard (Rickey) Harris, of Frostburg, who plays guard on the LaSalle team, was honored for his performance against St. Francis Prep of Spring Grove, Pa., which bowed to the Explorers here Friday night to the tune of 34-18. Harris was named lineman-of-the-week yesterday.

Kirtley, a senior, who plays quarterback, guard and linebacker, engineered both touchdowns against the Blazers. He completed four of six passes, three straight in the winning touchdown march of 65 yards and played an excellent game on defense as a guard and linebacker. Bob went into the game in the late stages as quarterback for Jimmy Hoffman to spark both scoring drives. He joins Ed Joyce as Allegany's backs-of-the-week. Other backs named this season were Bob Andrews and Earl Grove, Fort Hill, and Denny Shuck, LaSalle.

Harris turned in the longest run of the season in the St. Francis game when he intercepted a pass and sprinted 82 yards for the score late in the second period. Other linemen of the week named this season were Ronald Lennox and Phil Geatz, LaSalle; George Reynolds and Bernard Beerman, Allegany, and Dick Bittner, Fort Hill.

Black Knights Beat Southern Booters, 7-0

LONACONING, Oct. 20—Valley High School's soccer team defeated Southern High School of Oakland today at Barton by the score of 7-0.

Coach Johnny Meyers' booters collected all of their points on field goals, three of which were scored by Randall Brown, leading point getter in the W.M.I. League.

"Butch" Young, Bob Humphrey and Brown scored in the opening quarter to give the Black Knights a 3-0 lead. Brown booted two goals in the third period and "Cokie" Robertson and Bill Patton connected in the final stanza.

Tommy Robertson, Tod Cuthbertson and Brown were outstanding for the winners while Glotfelty, J. Colaw and D. Pack played best for the Garrett county eleven.

The victory was Valley High's fourth against a single setback. Lineups:

Pos.	Valley (7)	Southern (0)

Chisox Get Richards
Arnone To Wichita
That's Somma Team
Holliday Is The Name

By C. V. BURNS

TOMMY RICHARDS, 18-year-old pitcher-infielder from Carlos, who twirled Beall High to the co-championship of the Bi-State Scholastic Baseball Conference this year, and had a good season with the Frostburg Demons of the Bi-State League, has been signed by the Chicago White Sox and will be assigned to a Class "C" farm team next spring, according to Edward (Ebbie) Finzel, Beall High School baseball mentor.

The youthful righthander received a $1,000 bonus for signing with the White Sox after scouts of the Chicago club had seen him perform in a game against Moorefield at the tailend of the current season. Tommy collected four hits in four trips in that game. He's been signed as an infielder because the ivory hunters liked the way he handled himself at the hot conrner.

Richards worked out with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds late in the season but he was not offered a contract by the Gotham club.

The 18-year-old lad pitched Beall into a tie with Hyndman for the Bi-State Conference crown in the spring, winning 11 and losing three. For Frostburg in the Bi-State loop his record was 6-5. He lost three tough ones in that circuit by scores of 3-2, 5-3 and 2-0. Tommy wound up the season in a blaze of glory, posting five victories in the last six games he pitched.

SOUTHPAW Enordo Arnone is slated to move into faster company next year, according to Finzel.

"Moose" pitched for Anderson in the Class C Tri-State League this year and will graduate into the Class A Western League with Wichita next season.

Arnone, who pitched Beall High School to several conference championships, is the property of Baltimore.

BROTHER JOSEPH, former director of athletics at LaSalle High School, now on the faculty at Central Catholic in Pittsburgh, writes:

"Numbers, alone, don't win high school football games. Here at Central we have 1,700 boys, four coaches and we've lost every game by four touchdowns or more. Donora beat us Friday, 35-0. Could have been 135! LaSalle would beat us this year."

Donora, incidentally, has won six straight games and is among the top contenders for the WPIAL Class AA title this year.

NEW YORK papers are singing the praises of New Dorp (Staten Island) High School's football team.

The New Dorp Centrals, coached by Salvatore (Sal) Somma, a native of Ridgeley, W. Va., pulled a big surprise two weeks ago by holding Lafayette High, defending city PSAL champions to a 13-13 tie. Last weekend New Dorp enhanced its position in the grid scramble by knocking off James Madison High of Brooklyn, 31-6.

In 1949 Somma, a former New York University grid star, was named the "Coach of the Year" for the New York metropolitan area.

"WHO is the only man in baseball history to play in a world series without ever having played a regular season big league game?"

This question was asked prior to the World Series in the Gillette nationwide contest. Ten persons who named the player have received a prize of $100 each. None of the winners are from this section.

The name of the player was Holliday who played for the Chicago White Stockings in the World Series with St. Louis in 1885. Holliday played right field. He was a local amateur who had been playing under the name of Hall.

Hy Turkin received 15,902 postals, letters and telegrams seeking the prize. Almost 200 named the right man but the ten whose replies bore the earliest postmark were rewarded.

Dodgers Voted Five Berths On All-Star Team

Phil Rizzuto Is Only Yankee Named

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Brooklyn's defeated National League champions and St. Louis' third place Cardinals dominated the 1953 Associated Press major league All-Star team, capturing half of the 10 positions.

Seven of the 16 big league clubs, four in the National, were named to the AP's eighth annual All-Star squad, selected today by 179 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The National League had seven players to only three for the American.

The Dodgers and Cardinals were the only clubs with more than one representatives. Oddly enough, the world champion New York Yankees had only one member on the All-Star team—shortstop Phil Rizzuto. And little Phil barely squeezed in by a two-vote margin over Brooklyn's Pee Wee Reese.

Other clubs with single representatives include Washington, Cleveland, Milwaukee and the Philadelphia Phillies.

First base—Mickey Vernon, Senators (.337)

Second base—Red Schoendienst, Cardinals (.342)

Third base—Al Rosen, Indians (.336)

Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees (.271)

Right field—Carl Furillo, Dodgers (.344)

Catcher—Roy Campanella, Dodgers (.312)

Righthanded pitcher—Robin Roberts, Phillies (23-16)

Lefthanded pitcher — Warren Spahn, Braves (23-7)

First base—Vernon, Senators 73; Hodges, Dodgers 57; Kluszewski, Redlegs, Rain, Athletics 3.

Second—Schoendienst, Cardinals 163; Goodman, Red Sox, 6; Fox, White Sox 3.

Third—Rosen, Indians 116; Matthews, Braves 59; Kell, Red Sox 3.

Shortstop—Rizzuto, Yankees 60; Reese, Dodgers 58; Kuenn, Tigers 34.

Catcher — Campanella, Dodgers 174 and Berra, Yankees 5.

Pitcher (righthanded)—Roberts, Phillies 132; Porterfield, Senators 30; Erskine, Dodgers 5.

Pitcher (lefthanded) — Spahn, Braves 116; Pierce, White Sox 40; Parnell, Red Sox 11.

Mt. Savage at Valley
Beall at Flintstone

Coach Orville 'Stoney" Jackson's Flintstone High School Aggies deadlocked Valley High of Lonaconing for the leadership of the W.M.I. Soccer league by defeating Mt. Savage High School yesterday at Flintstone by the score of 5-0.

The shutout triumph was the second registered by Flintstone and gave the Aggies a 3-1 record for the first half of the campaign which was concluded yesterday.

Flintstone counted three times in the opening period and added goals in the second and final stanzas.

Fred Bible launched the scoring parade on a pass from Bob Davis. The latter scored the second goal and Jim Fletcher hit the target to make it 3-0. Thornton Robinette took Fletcher's head pass to rack up the fourth point in the second period and Davis connected on a direct shot in the final heat for his second goal of the game.

There Tied For Lead

The goals scored by Robinette and Fletcher tied them with Randall Brown of Valley High for the league leadership, each having scored five points. Flintstone has scored 17 points in four games.

Fullback Lough, Halfbacks Morris, Wilson and Slider and Fred Bible, Robinette and Davis on the forward line played bangup games for the Aggies. Dick Watkins, Ira Watkins and Paul Fiorita stood out for Mt. Savage.

Bruce High's defending champions moved into the thick of the fight by registering their second straight victory at the expense of Beall High School at Frostburg. The score was 1-0.

Kertesz Gets Lone Point

Bob Kertesz, Bruce center halfback, missed a try for penalty goal in the second quarter and came back to boost the only goal of the game in the third period after Welsh had centered the ball.

Goalie Gene Dawson, Kertesz and Bill Salesky were the standouts for Coach Augie Eichhorn's eleven which now owns a 2-2 record in the league. Joe Carter, Robertson and Jack Jones played best for Beall High.

Bob Kirtley, Rickey Harris Named Players Of The Week

BOB KIRTLEY

RICKEY HARRIS

Gridders of Allegany High School and LaSalle High School are sharing player-of-the-week awards for their brilliant performances in contests played here the past weekend.

Robert (Bob) Kirtley, of Allegany, was named the back-of-the-week by the Knights of Columbus Selection Committee for his great showing in last Saturday night's game in which the Campers defeated Montgomery Blair High of Silver Spring by the score of 13-6.

Richard (Rickey) Harris, of Frostburg, who plays guard on the LaSalle team, was honored for his performance against St. Francis Prep of Spring Grove, Pa., which bowed to the Explorers here Friday night to the tune of 34-18. Harris was named lineman-of-the-week yesterday.

Kirtley, a senior, who plays quarterback, guard and linebacker, engineered both touchdowns against the Blazers. He completed four of six passes, three straight in the winning touchdown march of 65 yards and played an excellent game on defense as a guard and linebacker. Bob went into the game in the late stages as quarterback for Jimmy Hoffman to spark both scoring drives. He joins Ed Joyce as Allegany's backs-of-the-week. Other backs named this season were Bob Andrews and Earl Grove, Fort Hill, and Denny Shuck, LaSalle.

Harris turned in the longest run of the season in the St. Francis game when he intercepted a pass and sprinted 82 yards for the score late in the second period. Other linemen of the week named this season were Ronald Lennox and Phil Geatz, LaSalle; George Reynolds and Bernard Beerman, Allegany, and Dick Bittner, Fort Hill.

Black Knights Beat Southern Booters, 7-0

LONACONING, Oct. 20—Valley High School's soccer team defeated Southern High School of Oakland today at Barton by the score of 7-0.

Coach Johnny Meyers' booters collected all of their points on field goals, three of which were scored by Randall Brown, leading point getter in the W.M.I. League.

"Butch" Young, Bob Humphrey and Brown scored in the opening quarter to give the Black Knights a 3-0 lead. Brown booted two goals in the third period and "Cokie" Robertson and Bill Patton connected in the final stanza.

Tommy Robertson, Tod Cuthbertson and Brown were outstanding for the winners while Glotfelty, J. Colaw and D. Pack played best for the Garrett county eleven.

The victory was Valley High's fourth against a single setback. Lineups:

Pos.	Valley (7)	Southern (0)
Goal	Beeman	Bonner

'Sonny" Valentine, Fred Sharer and Donnie Hammersmith scored touchdowns in the first, second and fourth quarters yesterday to give Fort Hill High School's junior varsity football team an 18-6 victory over LaSalle High's Jayvees at Fort Hill field.

The triumph was the fourth of the season for the Little Sentinels and extended their two-year victory streak to ten games.

Valentine scored the first touchdown by taking a handoff and bolting over the one. A 23-yard pass play, Buddy Clark to Sharer produced the second quarter score that gave the Hilltoppers a 12-0 lead at the halfway mark. Hammersmith went off tackle from the six for the third Fort Hill six-pointer in the final period.

LaSalle recovered a Fort Hill fumble on the Little Sentinels' three in the third quarter and Mickey Bush smashed over from the one for the Little Explorers' lone tally.

Garrett Named Back Of Week

Stanford Player Edges Faloney

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Stanford's Bob Garrett, whose "unconscious" passing attack knocked UCLA out of the undefeated ranks last Saturday, earned the Associated Press "Back of the Week" designation by his 21-point scoring feat.

Garrett edged out Bernie Faloney, Maryland's ball-handling magician, who for the second straight week barely failed to make the No. 1 spot. Faloney suffered an injury early in Maryland's one-sided game against North Carolina and managed to cover it up, but the coaches finally detected it and took him out after he had engineered three touchdowns.

Garrett completed 13 of 15 passes on two touchdown drives, pitched for all three scores and converted three times. He used his decoys skillfully, recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass and did the punting.

Also singled out for special notice were Charley Sumner, William and Mary quarterback, who averaged 7.6 yards on eight rushes completed eight passes for 112 yards and was great on defense as he led the way in a 13-7 upset of Virginia Tech.

Top Ranked Notre Dame Will Test 4th Place Georgia Tech Saturday

Terps 3rd In Poll, West Virginia 8th

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Midwest vs. South football rivalry reaches a showdown stage Saturday when the nation's top-ranked college team, Notre Dame, encounters fourth - ranked Georgia Tech.

Those two sections dominate the Associated Press ranking poll for the fourth week of the 1953 season with Notre Dame clinging to a dwindling lead.

The top ten, chosen by sports writers and broadcasters, includes four Midwestern teams — Notre Dame, Michigan State, Michigan and Illinois; three from the South —Baylor and Oklahoma; and a lone Eastern team—Navy.

Although Notre Dame came from behind to whip Pittsburgh last Saturday for its third straight victory, that performance evidently impressed the experts less than the scoring feats of the next three teams on the list. The Irish polled only 57 out of 134 first place votes compared to last week's 74 and 1,153 points this week.

Michigan State drew 31 first place votes and 1,107 points; Maryland 27 and 1,004 and Georgia Tech 3 and 769.

Two new teams climbed into the first ten, displacing a pair of one-points losers. Oklahoma took ninth place after a 45-0 rout of Kansas and Navy's 65-7 shellacking of Princeton gave the midshipmen tenth.

UCLA, loser to Stanford 21-20, dropped from fourth place to 12th in the rankings and Duke, beaten 14-13 by Army, fell from seventh to a tie with Kentucky for 16th.

The top ten (first place votes in parentheses)

1. Notre Dame (57)
2. Michigan State (31)
3. Maryland (27)
4. Georgia Tech (3)
5. Michigan
6. Baylor (1)
7. Illinois (1)
8. West Virginia (12)
9. Oklahoma
10. Navy

'Sonny" Valentine, Fred Sharer and Donnie Hammersmith scored touchdowns in the first, second and fourth quarters yesterday to give Fort Hill High School's junior varsity football team an 18-6 victory over LaSalle High's Jayvees at Fort Hill field.

The triumph was the fourth of the season for the Little Sentinels and extended their two-year victory streak to ten games.

Valentine scored the first touchdown by taking a handoff and bolting over the one. A 23-yard pass play, Buddy Clark to Sharer produced the second quarter score that gave the Hilltoppers a 12-0 lead at the halfway mark. Hammersmith went off tackle from the six for the third Fort Hill six-pointer in the final period.

LaSalle recovered a Fort Hill fumble on the Little Sentinels' three in the third quarter and Mickey Bush smashed over from the one for the Little Explorers' lone tally.

Garrett Named Back Of Week

Stanford Player Edges Faloney

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Stanford's Bob Garrett, whose "unconscious" passing attack knocked UCLA out of the undefeated ranks last Saturday, earned the Associated Press "Back of the Week" designation by his 21-point scoring feat.

Garrett edged out Bernie Faloney, Maryland's ball-handling magician, who for the second straight week barely failed to make the No. 1 spot. Faloney suffered an injury early in Maryland's one-sided game against North Carolina and managed to cover it up, but the coaches finally detected it and took him out after he had engineered three touchdowns.

Garrett completed 13 of 15 passes on two touchdown drives, pitched for all three scores and converted three times. He used his decoys skillfully, recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass and did the punting.

Also singled out for special notice were Charley Sumner, William and Mary quarterback, who averaged 7.6 yards on eight rushes completed eight passes for 112 yards and was great on defense as he led the way in a 13-7 upset of Virginia Tech.

Top Ranked Notre Dame Will Test 4th Place Georgia Tech Saturday

Terps 3rd In Poll, West Virginia 8th

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Midwest vs. South football rivalry reaches a showdown stage Saturday when the nation's top-ranked college team, Notre Dame, encounters fourth-ranked Georgia Tech.

Those two sections dominate the Associated Press ranking poll for the fourth week of the 1953 season with Notre Dame clinging to a dwindling lead.

The top ten, chosen by sports writers and broadcasters, includes four Midwestern teams — Notre Dame, Michigan State, Michigan and Illinois; three from the South —Baylor and Oklahoma; and a lone Eastern team—Navy.

Although Notre Dame came from behind to whip Pittsburgh last Saturday for its third straight victory, that performance evidently impressed the experts less than the scoring feats of the next three teams on the list. The Irish polled only 57 out of 134 first place votes compared to last week's 74 and 1,153 points this week.

Michigan State drew 31 first place votes and 1,107 points; Maryland 27 and 1,004 and Georgia Tech 3 and 769.

Two new teams climbed into the first ten, displacing a pair of one-points losers. Oklahoma took ninth place after a 45-0 rout of Kansas and Navy's 65-7 shellacking of Princeton gave the midshipmen tenth.

UCLA, loser to Stanford 21-20, dropped from fourth place to 12th in the rankings and Duke, beaten 14-13 by Army, fell from seventh to a tie with Kentucky for 16th.

The top ten (first place votes in parentheses)

1. Notre Dame (57)
2. Michigan State (31)
3. Maryland (27)
4. Georgia Tech (3)
5. Michigan
6. Baylor (1)
7. Illinois (1)
8. West Virginia (12)
9. Oklahoma
10. Navy

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20 (INS)—There's no doubt that Jack Warner is greatly pleased with Robert Wise's direction of "So Big," which may win Jane Wyman another oscar. He proved it when he gave Wise "Helen Of Troy," which will be filmed in Rome.

Wise, a young man, has a brilliant future. He directed "Executive Suite" for MGM, and a very good picture, "Three Secrets," for Warner Brothers.

Virginia Mayo is still the hot favorite for "Helen." I ran into her and her husband, Mike O'Shea, coming out of Schwab's, and she told me she feels fine. Her baby is due Hallowe'en Eve, and since "Helen Of Troy" won't start before early next year, Virginia will be able to do it.

One of the handsomest young men to ever visit our town is Laurence Harvey, whom Yvonne De Carlo introduced to Hollywood last winter.

I have had word from London that young Harvey, who recently completed playing Romeo in the Italian film version of "Romeo And Juliet," has himself a new picture. He'll play opposite Gloria Grahame in "The Good Die Young" in London.

I might add that Laurence will have plenty of competition, what with Richard Basehart and John Ireland also in the picture.

Cornel Wilde and Jean Wallace and the children are so glad to get home after 10 months in Europe they are of no mind to go traveling again right away.

It will be spring before the family packs up again and hits the airways to London where Cornel will make his pet story, "The Byron Story" (Lord Byron, of course).

Byron has long been an ambition of Cornel's but, wisely I think, he wants to do a couple of Hollywood pictures first.

A voice from the past, that of the first Mrs. Ernst Lubitsch, called to tell me that her husband, Evan Lewis, had been selected to pilot the first non-stop flight for T.W.A. to New York Monday night.

Lennie (Mrs. Lubitsch) told me that she recently saw Mary Philbin, star of the silent days. She says Mary is still beautiful and has never married, but is living quietly in Hollywood in the same little house she had when she was a star. Mary had a great love affair when she was younger, which ended unhappily for her, and that's probably the reason she has never married.

Rumor is that Mrs. Ken Dyke, former wife of Collier Young, is preparing to go to the Virgin Islands to get her freedom from Dyke.

Again Susan Hayward and Jeff Chandler were at the Bandbox. They say they're old friends from Brooklyn and it's nothing serious.

"My Life Is Full Of Hope," is the title of the story Dolores Hope is writing about Bob. Very cute, too.

Vic Schoen, Dinah Shore's musical director who was brought here several days ago following an automobile accident on his way to New York, is showing marked improvement.

A nine-point check in purchasing a dress will insure quality and protect your investment. Here it is!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The acquisition of a beautiful, full wardrobe equal to keeping a woman well-dressed for all occasions is a time-consuming pursuit. With the exception of the few women who have unlimited funds, such a wardrobe is accumulated only over a period of years.

It pays any woman to study trends in fashion and fabric and to keep abreast of innovations in materials and techniques of workmanship. By so doing she protects her investment in her wardrobe and makes the most of her clothes allowance. She must know how to recognize quality when she sees it.

Toward that goal, let's check over ways of evaluating a dress:

1. Do you raise and lower your arms before a mirror to make sure that it does not pull or "saw" across the back? If it does, it is too-skimpily cut.

2. Do you check the armhole to make sure that it is not too tight? That's about the first place a dress will give way.

Seam Checks

Market Steady, Late Rally Brings Golds To The Front

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Stock Market was steady today with both soft spots and strong areas appearing in the list.

A late rally brought golds to the fore, and many individual issues were strong. Steels were lower.

Among late prices were:

U. S. Steel off ¼ at 37¼, National Steel off ¼ at 46½, Douglas Aircraft up 1¾ at 74½, American Telephone up ½ at 156¼, Homestake Mining up 2 at 37, Dome Mines up ¾ at 16⅜, General Electric up 1¼ at 80⅛, Pennsylvania Railroad off ¼ at 19¾, and Northern Pacific up 1⅝ at 58½.

Better gains by individuals were shown in aircrafts, electronics, chemicals, coppers, and golds. These groups, however, were not all higher. Railroads were mostly lower with a few outstanding gainers. Steels were down as a group but not very far. Motors and oils were mixed.

Perhaps the most stimulating individual occurrence in the market was the report of high General Electric profits plus the special $1 dividend declaration, the first such payment in three years. And during the day there were numerous other good showings on profits and dividends.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 20 cents at $106.70. The industrial and utility components of the average each gained 20 cents while the railroads held unchanged.

Today was the fifth straight advancing session, and the average price level now stands well above the mid-Stepmber low of the year but considerably below the January peaks. Volume came to 1,280,000 shares as compared with 1,190,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Electric was the day's most active issue up 1⅛ at 80 with 23,100 shares traded.

Earnings Are Up

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Higher profits and unchanged tax rates gave corporations about 5½ billion dollars in retained earnings in the first half of this year, the Department of Commerce said today.

That was 750 million dollars more than in the first half of 1952.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!
Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.
Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20 (INS)—There's no doubt that Jack Warner is greatly pleased with Robert Wise's direction of "So Big," which may win Jane Wyman another oscar. He proved it when he gave Wise "Helen Of Troy," which will be filmed in Rome.

Wise, a young man, has a brilliant future. He directed "Executive Suite" for MGM, and a very good picture, "Three Secrets," for Warner Brothers.

Virginia Mayo is still the hot favorite for "Helen." I ran into her and her husband, Mike O'Shea, coming out of Schwab's, and she told me she feels fine. Her baby is due Hallowe'en Eve, and since "Helen Of Troy" won't start before early next year, Virginia will be able to do it.

One of the handsomest young men to ever visit our town is Laurence Harvey, whom Yvonne De Carlo introduced to Hollywood last winter.

I have had word from London that young Harvey, who recently completed playing Romeo in the Italian film version of "Romeo And Juliet," has himself a new picture. He'll play opposite Gloria Grahame in "The Good Die Young" in London.

I might add that Laurence will have plenty of competition, what with Richard Basehart and John Ireland also in the picture.

Cornel Wilde and Jean Wallace and the children are so glad to get home after 10 months in Europe they are of no mind to go traveling again right away.

It will be spring before the family packs up again and hits the airways to London where Cornel will make his pet story, "The Byron Story" (Lord Byron, of course).

Byron has long been an ambition of Cornel's but, wisely I think, he wants to do a couple of Hollywood pictures first.

A voice from the past, that of the first Mrs. Ernst Lubitsch, called to tell me that her husband, Evan Lewis, had been selected to pilot the first non-stop flight for T.W.A. to New York Monday night.

Lennie (Mrs. Lubitsch) told me that she recently saw Mary Philbin, star of the silent days. She says Mary is still beautiful and has never married, but is living quietly in Hollywood in the same little house she had when she was a star. Mary had a great love affair when she was younger, which ended unhappily for her, and that's probably the reason she has never married.

Rumor is that Mrs. Ken Dyke, former wife of Collier Young, is preparing to go to the Virgin Islands to get her freedom from Dyke.

Again Susan Hayward and Jeff Chandler were at the Bandbox. They say they're old friends from Brooklyn and it's nothing serious.

"My Life Is Full Of Hope," is the title of the story Dolores Hope is writing about Bob. Very cute, too.

Vic Schoen, Dinah Shore's musical director who was brought here several days ago following an automobile accident on his way to New York, is showing marked improvement.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The acquisition of a beautiful, full wardrobe equal to keeping a woman well-dressed for all occasions is a time-consuming pursuit. With the exception of the few women who have unlimited funds, such a wardrobe is accumulated only over a period of years.

It pays any woman to study trends in fashion and fabric and to keep abreast of innovations in materials and techniques of workmanship. By so doing she protects her investment in her wardrobe and makes the most of her clothes allowance. She must know how to recognize quality when she sees it.

Toward that goal, let's check over ways of evaluating a dress:

1. Do you raise and lower your arms before a mirror to make sure that it does not pull or "saw" across the back? If it does, it is too-skimpily cut.

2. Do you check the armhole to make sure that it is not too tight? That's about the first place a dress will give way.

Seam Checks

3. Do you examine the seams to make sure that they are ample? Skimpy seams pull out quickly. They do not provide sufficient material for re-sewing.

4. Do you check to see whether seams are pinked, bound or overcast to prevent raveling? Easily-frayed seams shorten the life of any dress.

5. Do you always seat yourself in the dress to make sure that there is ample hip room? You pay two penalties if there is not. One is the stretching of seams. Another is your discomfort in wearing the dress because it will never look right when you are seated.

Straight Shoulder Seams

6. Do you check to see that the shoulder seam runs straight across the shoulder? The dress will never hang right unless it does.

7. Do you note the fastenings to make sure all closings are neat and trim?

8. Do you examine buttons and button holes to see that they are durable, free from both shoddiness and shoddy workmanship?

9. Do you carefully evaluate the material to note its lasting value and to determine its cleaning problems?

Impulsive buying can be very costly. It is also a great disappointment to find that a most becoming dress is unequal to the wear you would like to have from it. This nine-point quality check will help you get the most from the money you invest in dresses!

Earnings Are Up

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Higher profits and unchanged tax rates gave corporations about 5½ billion dollars in retained earnings in the first half of this year, the Department of Commerce said today.

That was 750 million dollars more than in the first half of 1952.

SOOTHING RELIEF FOR COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE 95 YEARS IN USE

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge ... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Mr. And Mrs. Charles Nine Observe Golden Wedding

LONACONING — The golden wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nine, Watercliffe Street, with open house and reception at their home, decorated for the ocassion with a four-tiered wedding cake with golden wedding bells and autumn flowers.

Mr. Nine and Miss Agnes Brown, of Lonaconing, were married October 13, 1903, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Salem Nine, at Midland, by Rev. Wilt Olland. Their attendants were the late Robert Dawson of Piedmont and Miss Mary Tusing of Mt. Savage.

Their wedding vows were renewed at their golden anniversary celebration. Rev. E. C. Hunt, pastor of the First Pentecostal Church, performed the ceremony at 2 o'clock at the family gathering. Attendants were Mrs. Mary Donald and Mr. Douglas Wright.

Family members and friends who were present at the anniversary reception were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nine, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Nine, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenny, Syracuse, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clark, Bel Air, Mrs. Alice Nine, Westernport; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nine, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vernon Nine, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Nine, Newport, R. I.

Mrs. James Keating, Cumberland; Mrs. Mary Donald, Gilmore; Mrs. Charles Dohme and son, Gilmore; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Best, Bayard, W. Va.; Douglas Wright, Eckhart; Mrs. Margaret Green, Westernport; James Nichols, Baltimore; Mrs. William Klink, Sharon, Pa.; Mrs. Charles Robertson, Knapps Meadow; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Linn, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Llewellyn, Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gowans and Tommy Gowans; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Woods; Mrs. Edward Llewellyn, Mrs. Roland Staup, Mrs. Edna Brown, Vernard Winner, Mrs. Katherine Freeman, Jack Foote, Thomas P. Staup and Mrs. Werner Trost.

Mr. and Mrs. Nine have 12 children, 35 grand children and 15 great grandchildren.

Keyser Personals

Mrs. Eileen Yocum, 148 D. Street, Keyser, recently underwent surgery at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland.

Miss Mary Hardesty, Deer Park, is visiting at the home of Mayor and Mrs. John C. Freeland on D Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Hawkins and two daughters, Clarksburg, are house guests of Mayor and Mrs. John C. Freeland and are calling on other local friends and relatives.

Miss Mackay To Be Bride

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Mackay, 130 Mechanic Street, Frostburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lois, to Cpl. John P. Elliott Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Elliott, Dudley Street, Lonaconing.

Miss Mackay is a graduate of Beall High School and of Frostburg State Teachers College, class of 1953, and is a member of the faculty of Beall Elementary School in Frostburg.

Cpl. Elliott is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, and State Teachers College, class of 1953. He is stationed with the Army at Camp Gordon, Ga.

The ceremony will be an event of late fall, and will be solemnized at the First Methodist Church, Frostburg.

Frostburg Rotary Club Hears Talk On Fingerprints

Lilya Gives History Of Identification

FROSTBURG—Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator for the States Attorney's office, Cumberland, spoke before the Frostburg Rotary Club Monday evening on the subject of identification by means of fingerprinting.

He outlined the earlier attempts to use body measurements and similar systems of individual identification, and stated that the Chinese many centuries ago used fingerprinting.

However it was only about 60 years ago that the head of London's Scotland Yard devised a method of classifying and indexing fingerprints so reference could be made to them, once filed.

This "Henry System," named for the inventar, is still in use with modifications suggested by experience.

Lilya stated that the F. B. I. central files in Washington contain approximately 100,000,000 prints, not all criminal, of course. By means of these, quick identification of unknown persons usuall; can be made by local police in cooperation with the F. B. I.

Lilya discussed application of these methods to several local cases of bodies found without visible means of identification, and explained how successful use of these methods often assisted survivors in insurance claims.

The meeting, held in the dining hall of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, East Main Street, was attended by guests from Cumberland, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Bethesda and Florida.

Wayne Hill, principal of Beall High School, was received as a new member, the initiation being in charge of Robert Jones. Dr. Maurice Matteson, vice president, presided.

The style of high heels originated with King Louis XIV of France.

Mrs. Long Heads Young Women In Lonaconing

Mrs. James Named New Treasurer

LONACONING — Mrs. James Long was elected president and Mrs. Melvin James treasurer of the Young Women's club of Lonaconing Monday evening at Central Elementary School.

Mrs. William Fazenbaker, vice president; Mrs. Price Duckworth, secretary, and Mrs. Gary Cooper, corresponding secretary, continue in their official capacity along with the newly-elected officers.

Taken into club membership at this meeting were Mrs. Daniel Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Jack A. Petry and Miss Betsy Gannon. Mrs. Wilbur Lancaster was a guest in attendance.

Mrs. George Grove and Mrs. Arthur Phillips attended the County Achievement Day dinner at the Centre Street Methodist Church, Cumberland, representing the club. A report was given by Mrs. Phillips.

Club members interested in joining the Miners Hospital Auxiliary are urged to contact Mrs. Howard VanHorn. An appeal was received from the Welfare chairman for clothing for needy children for the community.

Achievement Day meeting will be Monday November 23, at the Central Elementary School. The Young Women's Club will bring articles and recipes prepared for display.

Refreshments were served following the business session by Mrs. Nelson Keyes, chairman, and her committee. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Lydia B. Reeves, retiring president.

Mrs. Roeder Will Address Homemakers

MIDLAND—Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property at Cumberland, will address the Midland Homemakers Club at a dinner this evening at 6 o'clock at Red Men's Hall.

Members will bring antiques to the meeting and will recount the history of the pieces in answering roll call.

A. F. & A. M. To Meet

FROSTBURG — Mt. Lodge No. 99, A. F. and A. M., will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

In addition to ritualistic work the lodge will complete plans for a social night program to be held Tuesday, October 27. Timothy G. Fuller, a past master of the lodge, is chairman of the event, which will be featured by refreshments.

Poultry Processing Plant Opens

PETERSBURG—The S&S Poultry Processing Plant, owned by O. J. Schaffer of Sidman, Pa. and managed by David Sussman, began operations last week with between 35 and 40 employees.

Turkeys processed last week averaged 27 pounds live weight, and an average of 28,000 pounds daily were processed. The plant is equipped to dress 5,000 turkeys daily but at present, stressing quality rather than quantity, and due to the large size of the birds being processed, maximum production has not been reached.

The process, New York dressing, is started by placing the turkeys on assembly line pulleys and then killing them with an electric knife which causes shock, thus the birds do not struggle and bruise themselves.

After they have had their throats cut, turkeys are passed through a tank of hot water where they are thoroughly washed. They are then sent through a series of picking machines and the final picking is done by hand. Thorough inspections are made at several points in the processing to insure a quality finished product.

After having been picked the birds are placed in a tank of cold water for seven hours then packed in ice and shipped by truck to New York the same day they are processed.

Schaffer states that they will soon start processing broiler turkeys and plans are being made to process chickens and possibly guineas.

Frostburg Rotary Club Hears Talk On Fingerprints

Lilya Gives History Of Identification

FROSTBURG—Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator for the States Attorney's office, Cumberland, spoke before the Frostburg Rotary Club Monday evening on the subject of identification by means of fingerprinting.

He outlined the earlier attempts to use body measurements and similar systems of individual identification, and stated that the Chinese many centuries ago used fingerprinting.

However it was only about 60 years ago that the head of London's Scotland Yard devised a method of classifying and indexing fingerprints so reference could be made to them, once filed.

This "Henry System," named for the inventar, is still in use with modifications suggested by experience.

Lilya stated that the F. B. I. central files in Washington contain approximately 100,000,000 prints, not all criminal, of course. By means of these, quick identification of unknown persons usuall; can be made by local police in cooperation with the F. B. I.

Lilya discussed application of these methods to several local cases of bodies found without visible means of identification, and explained how successful use of these methods often assisted survivors in insurance claims.

The meeting, held in the dining hall of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, East Main Street, was attended by guests from Cumberland, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Bethesda and Florida.

Wayne Hill, principal of Beall High School, was received as a new member, the initiation being in charge of Robert Jones. Dr. Maurice Matteson, vice president, presided.

The style of high heels originated with King Louis XIV of France.

Mrs. Long Heads Young Women In Lonaconing

Mrs. James Named New Treasurer

LONACONING — Mrs. James Long was elected president and Mrs. Melvin James treasurer of the Young Women's club of Lonaconing Monday evening at Central Elementary School.

Mrs. William Fazenbaker, vice president; Mrs. Price Duckworth, secretary, and Mrs. Gary Cooper, corresponding secretary, continue in their official capacity along with the newly-elected officers.

Taken into club membership at this meeting were Mrs. Daniel Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Jack A. Petry and Miss Betsy Gannon. Mrs. Wilbur Lancaster was a guest in attendance.

Mrs. George Grove and Mrs. Arthur Phillips attended the County Achievement Day dinner at the Centre Street Methodist Church, Cumberland, representing the club. A report was given by Mrs. Phillips.

Club members interested in joining the Miners Hospital Auxiliary are urged to contact Mrs. Howard VanHorn. An appeal was received from the Welfare chairman for clothing for needy children for the community.

Achievement Day meeting will be Monday November 23, at the Central Elementary School. The Young Women's Club will bring articles and recipes prepared for display.

Refreshments were served following the business session by Mrs. Nelson Keyes, chairman, and her committee. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Lydia B. Reeves, retiring president.

Mrs. Roeder Will Address Homemakers

MIDLAND—Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property at Cumberland, will address the Midland Homemakers Club at a dinner this evening at 6 o'clock at Red Men's Hall.

Members will bring antiques to the meeting and will recount the history of the pieces in answering roll call.

A. F. & A. M. To Meet

FROSTBURG — Mt. Lodge No. 99, A. F. and A. M., will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

In addition to ritualistic work the lodge will complete plans for a social night program to be held Tuesday, October 27. Timothy G. Fuller, a past master of the lodge, is chairman of the committee in charge of the event, which will be featured by refreshments.

Poultry Processing Plant Opens

PETERSBURG—The S&S Poultry Processing Plant, owned by O. J. Schaffer of Sidman, Pa. and managed by David Sussman, began operations last week with between 35 and 40 employees.

Turkeys processed last week averaged 27 pounds live weight, and an average of 28,000 pounds daily were processed. The plant is equipped to dress 5,000 turkeys daily but at present, stressing quality rather than quantity, and due to the large size of the birds being processed, maximum production has not been reached.

The process, New York dressing, is started by placing the turkeys on assembly line pulleys and then killing them with an electric knife which causes shock, thus the birds do not struggle and bruise themselves.

After they have had their throats cut, turkeys are passed through a tank of hot water where they are thoroughly washed. They are then sent through a series of picking machines and the final picking is done by hand. Thorough inspections are made at several points in the processing to insure a quality finished product.

After having been picked the birds are placed in a tank of cold water for seven hours then packed in ice and shipped by truck to New York the same day they are processed.

Schaffer states that they will soon start processing broiler turkeys and plans are being made to process chickens and possibly guineas.

Frostburg Briefs And Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Skidmore and children Roma and Karen, and Mrs. Skidmore's father, David Jenkins, were guests last week of Mr and Mrs. Donald Jeffries, Charlotte, N. C., former residents of Frostburg.

KEYSER—Among the speakers and visitors to the 46th annual convention of West Virginia State Nurses' Association, to be held November 4, 5 and 6, in Charleston, will be several prominent leaders in the nursing profession.

District 9, which includes all registered nurses in Cabell, Logan, Mingo, Mason, Wayne and Lincoln Counties, will serve as hostess to the convention. Mrs. Eloise Hayes, Huntington, is president of the district and Mrs. Ruth Blair, chairman of publicity.

Harold P. Mold, of the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Company, Minneapolis, will speak on "The Value of an In-Service Program," to the general assembly November 4. He and This session will be open to the public. Music will be sung by the Student Nurses Glee Club of the Charleston Schools of Nursing.

Speakers on November 5 will include Miriam Robider, Baltimore, member of the board of directors of the American Nurses' Association and chairman of the national private duty section, who will discuss "Nursing With Understanding;" Bernadine Striegel, nursing consultant in occupational and public health for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York, whose topic will be "Nursing In Occupational Health." Mrs. Judith Gage Whitaker, deputy executive secretary of the American Nurses' Association, New York, will discuss "Coordination and Activities of the ANA Sections."

From her discussion on Thursday afternoon all nurses will gain better understanding in the new nursing structure, adopted in Atlantic City in 1952.

Among the principal speakers at the Friday sessions will be Margaret McLaughlin, nurse consultant from the U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, who will talk on "Changing Patterns in Public Health Nursing Practice," and Miss Elizabeth Fink, former assistant professor of Nursing Education, West Virginia University Extension Services, associate professor of Nursing Education at Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich. Her subject will be "Teamwork with Nurses and Other Health Personnel." Miss Betty Hilton, Philadelphia, advisor to the National Student Nurses' Association, will speak on "Gathering Momentum."

Industrial nurses will hold their luncheon Thursday and both public and student nurses will have their's the following day. All nurses may attend the annual banquet Thursday evening in the Daniel Boone Hotel. Laurence Hall, humorist and philosopher of Cleveland, will address the group on "Humor, a Resource." Group singing will be led by Mrs. Fritzie Bell, well known music director of Clarksburg. Dinner music, with special novelty numbers, will be played by the St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing Orchestra.

Huntington was to have been the convention site, but the meeting was moved to Charleston because Huntington hotels announced it was impossible for them to provide accomodation.

Man Is Fined $100 On Weapons Count

A Keyser man, Jerald W. Conrad, was fined $100 and given a suspended sentence of a year in jail by Judge Richard Snyder in Bedford County Court Monday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Conrad was also ordered to pay the costs of the case.

Conrad was arrested last Monday on the charge of another Keyser resident, Mrs. Betty Lou (Hicks) Evans Conrad, 18, whom he is said to have married illegally. Mrs. Hicks-Conrad told Bedford police he had threatened her life.

The young woman was taken off a bus in Bedford after authorities there had received a telephone call that she had stolen some money. The report was found to be untrue and she was allowed to return home with her first husband, Henry Owen Hicks, also of Keyser.

She was arrested on a bigamy charge on her return to Keyser, but was released under $1,000 bond while Mineral County authorities are investigating the marriage report.

B&O Veterans Will Honor Superintendent

KEYSER—Plans are being made by Division 27, B & O Railroad Veterans Association, and the C. W. VanHorn Ladies Auxiliary on November 20, to honor Superintendent and Mrs. A. W. Conley, Cumberland, and Roy E. Collins, president of the National group of the Veterans Association and his wife.

Leo Wilcox, president of the local veterans division announced that arrangements are being made for presenting 50-year service pins to five members who have accumulated sufficient service to receive the honor.

The veterans met recently and the auxiliary had its first time to meet in the new room which was remodeled and prepared for them. The ladies served refreshments at the meeting under direction of Mrs. James E. Gift, president.

Keyser Church Women Attend Annual Fall Tea

80 Women Attend Sunday Function

KEYSER—The Keyser Council of Church Women held its annual Fall Tea Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. L. Craig, South Mineral Street.

Tea was served at 3 p. m. with approximately 80 members present. It continued until 5 p. m., the guests being received at the door by Miss Mary Lou Rhodes. They were brought to the line by Mrs. Donald D. Anderson, where Miss Rhodes, Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Fred Bowman, president of the club, welcomed them.

The guests were directed to the dining room by Miss Carol Lynn Craig. Mrs. Earl Boyd, past president, and Mrs. Parker C. Black, poured tea.

Chrysanthemums and fall roses in beautiful floral arrangement, were the decorations in the home, the decorations being made by Mrs. J. C. Sanders and Mrs. Gerould Klinestiver. Mrs. A. G. Springer and her committee of Mrs. R. A. Stoutamyer, Mrs. Martin Watson and Mrs. E. A. See, formed the committee in charge of general arrangements. Dining room aides were Misses Nancy Coffman, Sharon Wilson, Agnes Dayton and Ellen Carvey. Attending the registration was Miss Judy Liller.

Rooftop Signs Misdirect Fliers

HANCOCK, Md., Oct. 20 (AP)—Airplane pilots flying over Hancock can't trust the signs for directions.

A large sign atop a roof says they're over Sandy Hook.

Sandy Hook is 30 miles southeast of Hancock.

What apparently caused the foulup is that there are two Shamrock Inns in Washington County. Owners of both were asked permission by a "man in uniform" to paint a guide for fliers on their roofs. Both gave permission.

Walters Mills, owner of the Hancock Shamrock Inn, said the man in uniform painted Sandy Hook on his roof.

"It was all very confusing to me and all the more to airplane pilots who didn't know where they were," said Mills.

Mills said the man in uniform returned and promised to correct the mistake. That was months ago and there's been no correction.

Kazin O'Neill, owner of the Shamrock Inn at Sandy Hook, said the painter never has returned to letter his roof.

Both inns are near Route 40 and along the Potomac River which would add to the confusion of pilots.

Richard A. Jamison, the state director of aeronautics, said he didn't know who made the painting mistake, but that he would investigate.

Piedmont Seeks Abandoned Railroad Land For Parking

PIEDMONT — An answer to a letter to the Western Maryland Railway Company was read by Mayor Allan L. Hill at a meeting of the City Council Monday evening in which the city was seeking to lease the portion of ground where the former tracks of Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad are laid between Third Street to Child's Avenue.

The land the city is interested in is covered by rails of the company which are not now in use. The city plans to use it for parking if proper arrangements can be made.

The letter stated proceedings for the abandonment of the old C. and P. tracks through Piedmont have not advanced far enough to make definite commitments.

It also stated the request will be given proper consideration by the company, which will advise when proceedings have been concluded.

Complaints have been received of cattle running on Piedmont Hill and proper action in handling the situation was discussed.

Three applications for the position of street superintendent have been received. They were John Munsie, former water superintendent of the city; Charles Chaney and Raymond Stevenson.

W. Edward Clark, street superintendent, died suddenly on October 10.

Complaints of unusual noise and disturbance in the vicinity of the K. of P. Armory on Water Street, was reported.

It was ordered that the Potomac Edison Company be requested to place a pole and light of 1,000 lumes on the City's parking lot at Ashfield and Third Street.

It was decided to reduce the power of the light in the vicinity of Piedmont High School from 6,000 lumes to 1,000 lumes and the other two lights there from 2,500 lumes to 1,000 lumes each.

Councilman Joseph Maybury reported that John R. Williams, of the Johnson and Williams consulting engineers of Washington, D. C., had conferred with him about willing to enter into a contract with his company and the town of making preliminary survey for a disposal project.

Some time ago, the company agreed to do this work for $1,800. It would take about six months for the survey and the report.

Maybury said Williams stated his company would make the contract with the city, with a provision unless the city receives a grant from the federal government for the work, the contract would be void.

Williams will meet with the city officials at any time for a discussion of the problem, Maybury said. Action was delayed until the next meeting.

Mayor Hill announced that there would be a meeting of the West Virginia Police Municipal Association in Clarksburg November 11.

The interior of the clerk's office of the city building is being repainted. New lighting fixtures are also being installed.

Conrad was arrested last Monday on the charge of another Keyser resident, Mrs. Betty Lou (Hicks) Evans Conrad, 18, whom he is said to have married illegally. Mrs. Hicks-Conrad told Bedford police he had threatened her life.

The young woman was taken off a bus in Bedford after authorities there had received a telephone call that she had stolen some money. The report was found to be untrue and she was allowed to return home with her first husband, Henry Owen Hicks, also of Keyser.

She was arrested on a bigamy charge on her return to Keyser, but was released under $1,000 bond while Mineral County authorities are investigating the marriage report.

B&O Veterans Will Honor Superintendent

KEYSER—Plans are being made by Division 27, B & O Railroad Veterans Association, and the C. W. VanHorn Ladies Auxiliary on November 20, to honor Superintendent and Mrs. A. W. Conley, Cumberland, and Roy E. Collins, president of the National group of the Veterans Association and his wife.

Leo Wilcox, president of the local veterans division announced that arrangements are being made for presenting 50-year service pins to five members who have accumulated sufficient service to receive the honor.

The veterans met recently and the auxiliary had its first time to meet in the new room which was remodeled and prepared for them. The ladies served refreshments at the meeting under direction of Mrs. James E. Gift, president.

Sunday School Teachers, Officers, Will Meet

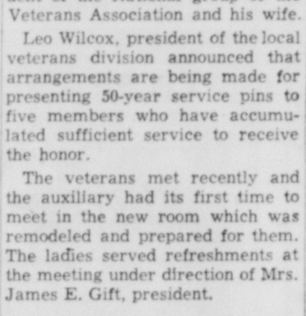

LONACONING — The Sunday School teachers and officers will hold an important meeting today at 7:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church.

Activities for the next three months, including the holiday festivities, will be planned at the meeting tonight. Felix Foote Jr., superintendent of the church Sunday School, has called this meeting to organize the plans for the remainder of 1953 program.

Dr. Reese Talks To Civic Club

PIEDMONT—Dr. Harold Reese, head of the education department at the Frostburg State Teachers College, was the principal speaker at the dinner meeting of the Westernport and Luke Civic Club held recently in Trinity Methodist Church recreation hall.

A musical program was presented by Miss Ann Dixon, lyric soprano from the college, vocal soloist, accompanied by Miss Annette Delamater, also of the College. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Malcolm.

A short business meeting followed the dinner and plans were made for a Halloween party to be held Thursday, October 29, 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Albert Kaiser.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, November 10, at the Westernport Library. Mrs. Paul McCoy will have charge of the program.

Parking Lot Opened In Piedmont

PIEDMONT — The new municipal parking lot at the intersection of Ashfield Street and Third Street was opened last week. Five hour meters have been placed on the parking lot at the rate of 5 cents per hour. Trucks weighing more than a half ton are not allowed on the lot.

Parking is not permitted on the west side of Ashfield Street. The street employes removed the meters from the posts.

Tucker Countians Will Be Inducted

PARSONS, W. Va. — Cleon W. Raese, clerk of the Tucker County Selective Service Board announced that four men have received their notice to report for induction into the armed forces on October 27th. They are Henry Allen Sell and Richard Delano Crawford of Thomas and Davis; Ira Hansford Williams Jr. of St. George, and William Clinto Murphy, of Parsons.

Keyser Church Women Attend Annual Fall Tea

KEYSER—The Keyser Council of Church Women held its annual Fall Tea Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. L. Craig, South Mineral Street.

Tea was served at 3 p. m. with approximately 80 members present. It continued until 5 p. m., the guests being received at the door by Miss Mary Lou Rhodes. They were brought to the line by Mrs. Donald D. Anderson, where Miss Rhodes, Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Fred Bowman, president of the club, welcomed them.

The guests were directed to the dining room by Miss Carol Lynn Craig. Mrs. Earl Boyd, past president, and Mrs. Parker C. Black, poured tea.

Chrysanthemums and fall roses in beautiful floral arrangement, were the decorations in the home, the decorations being made by Mrs. J. C. Sanders and Mrs. Gerould Klinestiver. Mrs. A. G. Springer and her committee of Mrs. R. A. Stoutamyer, Mrs. Martin Watson and Mrs. E. A. See, formed the committee in charge of general arrangements. Dining room aides were Misses Nancy Coffman, Sharon Wilson, Agnes Dayton and Ellen Carvey. Attending the registration was Miss Judy Liller.

Rooftop Signs Misdirect Fliers

HANCOCK, Md., Oct. 20 (AP)—Airplane pilots flying over Hancock can't trust the signs for directions.

What apparently caused the foulup is that there are two Shamrock Inns in Washington County. Owners of both were asked permission by a "man in uniform" to paint a guide for fliers on their roofs. Both gave permission.

Walters Mills, owner of the Hancock Shamrock Inn, said the man in uniform painted Sandy Hook on his roof.

"It was all very confusing to me and all the more to airplane pilots who didn't know where they were," said Mills.

Mills said the man in uniform returned and promised to correct the mistake. That was months ago and there's been no correction.

Kazin O'Neill, owner of the Shamrock Inn at Sandy Hook, said the painter never has returned to letter his roof.

Both inns are near Route 40 and along the Potomac River which would add to the confusion of pilots.

Richard A. Jamison, the state director of aeronautics, said he didn't know who made the painting mistake, but that he would investigate.

Piedmont Seeks Abandoned Railroad Land For Parking

PIEDMONT — An answer to a letter to the Western Maryland Railway Company was read by Mayor Allan L. Hill at a meeting of the City Council Monday evening in which the city was seeking to lease the portion of ground where the former tracks of Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad are laid between Third Street to Child's Avenue.

The land the city is interested in is covered by rails of the company which are not now in use. The city plans to use it for parking if proper arrangements can be made.

The letter stated proceedings for the abandonment of the old C. and P. tracks through Piedmont have not advanced far enough to make definite commitments.

It also stated the request will be given proper consideration by the company, which will advise when proceedings have been concluded.

Complaints have been received of cattle running on Piedmont Hill and proper action in handling the situation was discussed.

Three applications for the position of street superintendent have been received. They were John Munsie, former water superintendent of the city; Charles Chaney and Raymond Stevenson.

W. Edward Clark, street superintendent, died suddenly on October 10.

Complaints of unusual noise and disturbance in the vicinity of the K. of P. Armory on Water Street, was reported.

It was ordered that the Potomac Edison Company be requested to place a pole and light of 1,000 lumes on the City's parking lot at Ashfield and Third Street.

It was decided to reduce the power of the light in the vicinity of Piedmont High School from 6,000 lumes to 1,000 lumes and the other two lights there from 2,500 lumes to 1,000 lumes each.

Councilman Joseph Maybury reported that John R. Williams, of the Johnson and Williams consulting engineers of Washington, D. C., had conferred with him about willing to enter into a contract with his company and the town of making preliminary survey for a disposal project.

Some time ago, the company agreed to do this work for $1,800. It would take about six months for the survey and the report.

Maybury said Williams stated his company would make the contract with the city, with a provision unless the city receives a grant from the federal government for the work, the contract would be void.

Such action for grants are expected to be included in a bill at the next session of Congress Williams told Maybury.

Williams will meet with the city officials at any time for a discussion of the problem, Maybury said. Action was delayed until the next meeting.

Mayor Hill announced that there would be a meeting of the West Virginia Police Municipal Association in Clarksburg November 11.

The interior of the clerk's office of the city building is being repainted. New lighting fixtures are also being installed.

Radio And Television
by John Crosby

Letter From The Far East

Gee, I remember way back when "Dragnet" was a summer sustaining radio program in grave fear of its life. NBC brass came within an inch or so of loping it off the network, after deciding that it didn't sound like anything in their experience. Then came the favorable notices, a reprieve, the transfer to television and now, bless my soul, it's a national institution.

John Crosby

It just goes to show, doesn't it, but just what it goes to show, I'm not sure. I was one of the earliest enthusiasts — I think the earliest — for "Dragnet" and now I'm a little alarmed. Just about everyone on earth has parodied "Dragnet." There are a million "Dragnet" jokes. "Dragnet" has become a jukebox tune. In fact, there was a lot of speculation about what would happen when the tune got among the top seven hit tunes. Would the Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" play it, celebrating, as it does, a rival cigaret? (Chesterfield). It got there. They played it.

I just got a letter from my favorite U. S. Army private, Matt Melko, who has been shipped — since I heard from him last — out to the Far East. He's still thinking hard, though, which is why, I guess, he's still a private.

"Being that there wasn't any radio to listen to I got to reading Tocqueville's second volume on American democracy," writes Pvt. Melko, "which shows the desperate lengths you can be driven to by the lack of modern conveniences.

"Tocqueville writes 700 pages about America without mentioning television, no mean feat in itself, but he does mention a difference in tastes for drama. Europeans, he says, have been interested in the great and the beautiful, Shakespeare's plays, for instance, revolving around kings and European art around religious or mythological themes.

"But Americans seem satisfied with the commonplace. Our art, Tocqueville thought, produced accurate reproductions of things we had already seen too much of and our drama is too often a copy of what has been happening to us all day long. Right away it made me think of this 'Dragnet' program you critics have praised so highly. Seventy-five hundred miles I have to travel to get an inspiration about 'Dragnet' but that's the way it happens sometimes.

"Because this program seems to be the next to the last step in the trend about which Tocqueville had a polite foreboding over 100 years ago. What happens on 'Dragnet?' This guy tells you his name is Friday and his partner's name is Smith and you expect, from the way he says it, that he's about to throw in that line of Jack Benny's 'There'll be a slight pause while everyone says "Who cares?"'

"They run down a lot of routine clues which, by the middle of the case, have led to nothing. Then they start from scratch, run down a lot more routine clues which lead inevitably to a routine solution. No surprises, just weariness. The criminal is tired. Friday and Smith go home to bed. Everyone in between is thoroughly irritated about being asked at 3 in the morning if they know Howard Winslow.

"In the good old days, the detectives would have asked a beautiful redhead and she would have screamed and jumped out the window. But on 'Dragnet' they ask a middle-aged old harridan and she says 'Nah, I never heard of 'em whaddaya botherin' me for' and slams the door in poor weary Friday's face.

"Well, if the trend toward realism — or what we conceive to be realism — is what we want, why pick police files? The subject matter doesn't lend itself to being at the same time realistic and inert. Find the proper subject matter and you have the formula, the final step in producing the typical American contribution to world literature.

"Supposing for instance that the

Daily Bridge Lesson
by Shepard Barclay

TAKE OUT THAT DOUBLE

TAKING OUT of your partner's business double is a great subject for the cartoonists and jokesters. But in a real game there are many times such a double should be taken out. This is especially the case when your side is vulnerable and your opponents are not. If the information given by your partner's double tells you there is probably a vulnerable game in the cards for your side, and that there would be only an insignificant score against the opponent's doubled bid, your job is to go after the larger total.

	♠ 7 4 ♥ A J 9 6 2 ♦ J 10 5 4 ♣ Q 5
♠ 8 5 2 ♥ K Q 10 4 3 ♦ A K 8 7 ♣ 9	N W E S	♠ Q J 10 9 ♥ 8 7 ♦ 6 3 ♣ J 10 8 6 3
	♠ A K 6 3 ♥ 5 ♦ Q 9 2 ♣ A K 7 4 2

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	Dbl	Pass
3 NT

West laid down his diamond K in order to take a look at the dummy and his partner's card. What he saw made him shift to the spade 8, on which South played low to let East win with the 9. The Q came back to the K. Able to count only eight sure tricks, with two in spades, one in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs, he then planned some more card-counting.

He gave up the diamond Q to the A, won the spade 2 return with the A, then scored the diamond J and 10. The fall of the cards showed that West originally had three spades, four diamonds and enough hearts to bid, either four or five, probably the latter, and so only one or two clubs. Since the clubs were marked as not breaking, he decided to resort to one of the simplest of throw-in plays. The club Q, K and A depleted West's hand of everything except hearts. Then he led his only heart, the 5, and let West win upon putting in the Q. The defender then had to lead into the dummy's A-J to give the declarer the last two tricks.

With vulnerability as it was, South would have been a terrible player if he had passed his partner's double of 1-Heart. Such a double at a low level must be viewed as more of an information-giver than as an expression of the desire to play against the opponent's doubled bid.

Radio And Television

Letter From The Far East

Gee, I remember way back when "Dragnet" was a summer sustaining radio program in grave fear of its life. NBC brass came within an inch or so of loping it off the network, after deciding that it didn't sound like anything in their experience. Then came the favorable notices, a reprieve, the transfer to television and now, bless my soul, it's a national institution.

John Crosby

It just goes to show, doesn't it, but just what it goes to show, I'm not sure. I was one of the earliest enthusiasts — I think the earliest — for "Dragnet" and now I'm a little alarmed. Just about everyone on earth has parodied "Dragnet." There are a million "Dragnet" jokes. "Dragnet" has become a jukebox tune. In fact, there was a lot of speculation about what would happen when the tune got among the top seven hit tunes. Would the Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" play it, celebrating, as it does, a rival cigaret? (Chesterfield). It got there. They played it.

I just got a letter from my favorite U. S. Army private, Matt Melko, who has been shipped — since I heard from him last — out to the Far East. He's still thinking hard, though, which is why, I guess, he's still a private.

"Being that there wasn't any radio to listen to I got to reading Tocqueville's second volume on American democracy," writes Pvt. Melko, "which shows the desperate lengths you can be driven to by the lack of modern conveniences.

"Tocqueville writes 700 pages about America without mentioning television, no mean feat in itself, but he does mention a difference in tastes for drama. Europeans, he says, have been interested in the great and the beautiful, Shakespeare's plays, for instance, revolving around kings and European art around religious or mythological themes.

"But Americans seem satisfied with the commonplace. Our art, Tocqueville thought, produced accurate reproductions of things we had already seen too much of and our drama is too often a copy of what has been happening to us all day long. Right away it made me think of this 'Dragnet' program you critics have praised so highly. Seventy-five hundred miles I have to travel to get an inspiration about 'Dragnet' but that's the way it happens sometimes.

"Because this program seems to be the next to the last step in the trend about which Tocqueville had a polite foreboding over 100 years ago. What happens on 'Dragnet?' This guy tells you his name is Friday and his partner's name is Smith and you expect, from the way he says it, that he's about to throw in that line of Jack Benny's 'There'll be a slight pause while everyone says "Who cares?"'

"They run down a lot of routine clues which, by the middle of the case, have led to nothing. Then they start from scratch, run down a lot more routine clues which lead inevitably to a routine solution. No surprises, just weariness. The criminal is tired. Friday and Smith go home to bed. Everyone in between is thoroughly irritated about being asked at 3 in the morning if they know Howard Winslow.

"In the good old days, the detectives would have asked a beautiful redhead and she would have screamed and jumped out the window. But on 'Dragnet' they ask a middle-aged old harridan and she says 'Nah, I never heard of 'em whaddaya botherin' me for' and slams the door in poor weary Friday's face.

"Well, if the trend toward realism — or what we conceive to be realism — is what we want, why pick police files? The subject matter doesn't lend itself to being at the same time realistic and inert. Find the proper subject matter and you have the formula, the final step in producing the typical American contribution to world literature.

"Supposing for instance that the

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

TAKE OUT THAT DOUBLE

TAKING OUT of your partner's business double is a great subject for the cartoonists and jokesters. But in a real game there are many times such a double should be taken out. This is especially the case when your side is vulnerable and your opponents are not. If the information given by your partner's double tells you there is probably a vulnerable game in the cards for your side, and that there would be only an insignificant score against the opponent's doubled bid, your job is to go after the larger total.

	♠ 7 4 ♥ A J 9 6 2 ♦ J 10 5 4 ♣ Q 5
♠ 8 5 2 ♥ K Q 10 4 3 ♦ A K 8 7 ♣ 9	N W E S	♠ Q J 10 9 ♥ 8 7 ♦ 6 3 ♣ J 10 8 6 3
	♠ A K 6 3 ♥ 5 ♦ Q 9 2 ♣ A K 7 4 2

(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	Dbl	Pass
3 NT

West laid down his diamond K in order to take a look at the dummy and his partner's card. What he saw made him shift to the spade 8, on which South played low to let East win with the 9. The Q came back to the K. Able to count only eight sure tricks, with two in spades, one in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs, he then planned some more card-counting.

He gave up the diamond Q to the A, won the spade 2 return with the A, then scored the diamond J and 10. The fall of the cards showed that West originally had three spades, four diamonds and enough hearts to bid, either four or five, probably the latter, and so only one or two clubs. Since the clubs were marked as not breaking, he decided to resort to one of the simplest of throw-in plays. The club Q, K and A depleted West's hand of everything except hearts. Then he led his only heart, the 5, and let West win upon putting in the Q. The defender then had to lead into the dummy's A-J to give the declarer the last two tricks.

With vulnerability as it was, South would have been a terrible player if he had passed his partner's double of 1-Heart. Such a double at a low level must be viewed as more of an information-giver than as an expression of the desire to play against the opponent's doubled bid.

ORDINANCE NO. 1975

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 1776, THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, AS AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1895, AND THE ZONING DISTRICT MAP WHICH IS A PART THEREOF, BY CHANGING THE BOUNDARIES OF CERTAIN DISTRICTS AS SHOWN ON THE ZONING DISTRICT MAP."

WHEREAS, the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission for the City of Cumberland, Maryland, has made a preliminary report with reference to changing the boundaries of certain districts as shown on the "Zoning District Map," and has held public hearing thereon and has submitted its final recommendations as to such changes; and

WHEREAS, in accordance with Section 29 of Ordinance No. 1776, the City Council has held a public hearing at which all parties in interest and citizens have had an opportunity to be heard in relation to such proposed changes, and the Mayor and City Council has given fifteen (15) days notice of the time and place of said hearing in a paper of general circulation in the City, and has also posted notices on the properties affected by the proposed change, in accordance with instructions from the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, and has otherwise complied with Section 29.

SECTION 1. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, That Ordinance No. 1776 entitled, "The Zoning Ordinance of the City of Cumberland," and the Zoning District Map which is a part thereof, as previously amended by Ordinance No. 1895, be and the same are hereby amended to provide the following changes in boundaries of certain of the Zoning Districts as shown on the "Zoning District Map" to reclassify certain areas as "Residential A" and certain areas as "Business":

1. Make easterly side of Fayette Street "Residential A" between Washington and Greene Streets.

SECTION 2. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That the "Zoning District Map" forming a part of Ordinance No. 1776 be and the same is hereby amended as provided in Section 1 hereof, and the said map, as amended, is hereby declared to be a part of this ordinance, and the districts designated on said amended map are hereby established and made a part hereof.

SECTION 3. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Passed this 21st day of September, 1953.

3 County Masons Get 33rd Degree

Area Methodists Hear Plans For Building Drive

Bishop Oxnam Speaks At Meeting Here

The church is a fundamental part of any free and strong society, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam told Western Maryland Methodists who gathered here last night to discuss an $800,000 church-building campaign.

The bishop, who heads the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, explained the purpose of the 20-month Church Extension Crusade which will open November 15 in the Baltimore Conference.

Attending last night's meeting at Centre Street Methodist Church were representatives and other members of churches in the Hagerstown District, which includes the Cumberland Subdistrict.

To Build Seven Churches

The Baltimore Conference, said Bishop Oxnam, wants to use $200,000 of the money to be raised for the expansion and improvement of overcrowded Westminster Theological Seminary.

Seven new churches and eight parsonages are to be built and 17 sites for proposed churches are to be bought with the remaining $600,000. This would include construction of a new church at LaVale, where land already has been purchased.

Dr. F. Olen Hunt, member of the Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Church and director of the extension crusade, announced that 64 churches in the conference already have pledged $220,440.

Youth's Needs Emphasized

William Groseclose, president of the conference Methodist Youth Fellowship, declared the church is all-important to young people.

"If there are areas where there are no churches," said Groseclose, "then there will be other things in their place."

Dr. Harry C. Marsh, Hagerstown District superintendent, presided at the program. Dr. Earl Ferguson, professor at Westminster, led a responsive reading, and the Westminster Singers presented several hymns.

Other speakers were Dr. J. Luther Neff, superintendent of the Baltimore East District; Dr. Norman L. Trott, acting president of Westminster Seminary, and D. Stewart Patterson, conference lay leader. Rev. Howard M. Amoss was host pastor.

Reed, Hunter, Webster Are Elevated

Three prominent Allegany County residents are among 369 men from 33 states who yesterday were elected in Washingtcn by the Supreme Council 33rd Degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons of the Southern jurisdiction, to receive the 33rd degree honorary.

They are Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, J. Stanley Hunter of Frostburg, industrial arts teacher at Beall High School and A. Wayne Reed, also of Frostburg, a staff member of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in Luke.

Others Honored

The Southern Jurisdiction, meeting in Washington, includes the 33 states south of the Mason-Dixon line and Ohio River and west of the Mississippi River, and the territories.

Among those on whom the 33rd degree will be conferred Friday night are U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson and Rep. Errett P. Scrivner of Kansas; Secretary of Navy Robert Anderson; former Gov. William Tuck of Virginia; and John William Davis of New York, American Bar Association president.

Different Lodges

Although the three county men belong to different Masonic lodges, they all are members of the Orient Consistory of Scottish Rite and Ali Ghan Shrine.

Webster became a member of Columbia Lodge No. 58 in Frederick while he was a teacher there before coming to Allegany County. Like the other two new 33rd degree Masons, he has been a venerable master of the Scottish Rite Lodge in Cumberland.

Hunter, who joined Mountain Lodge No. 99 in Frostburg November 24, 1924, became master of that lodge in 1941. He is now a member of the board of trustees and treasurer of Mountain Lodge. Hunter also is worshipful grand standard bearer of the Grand Lodge of Maryland. He also is commander of the Council of Kadosh, composed of past venerable masters of Scottish Rite.

Reed, a past potentate of Ali Ghan Shrine, began his Masonic activities many years ago as a member of Hiram Lodge No. 103 in Westernport.

Webster, Hunter and Reed were given the rank and decoration of knight commander of the Court of Honour four years ago.

Four Others Here

As 33rd degree Masons, they will join a group of only four other local men who have attained that honor. They are City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, Dr. J. Russell Cook, dentist; Thomas E. Gilchrist, hardware store proprietor, and Harold C. Wickard, a teacher at Allegany High School.

Honored are Grant A. Wiebel, 423 Franklin Street, and Roy V. Ringler, 216 South Walnut Street, who have been awarded the designation of Knight of the York Cross of Honour, an honorary degree conferred only on those who have held the highest offices in each of the four bodies of the York Rite.

Wiebel has been master of Fort Cumberland Lodge of Masons, 1923; high priest of Salem Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, 1953; master of Salem Council, Royal and Select Masons, 1938, and commander of Antioch Commandery, Knights Templar, 1925. He also was grand commander of the Knights Templar of Maryland in 1938.

Ringler served as master of East Gate Lodge, Masons, in 1940; high priest of Salem Chapter, 1943; master of Salem Council, 1949, and commander of Antioch Commandery, 1952.

Wiebel was the 4,795th, and Ringler the 4,796th, to have received the award in the past 24 years in North America, although there are nearly four million members of the fraternity.

Both were elected to membership in the Francis Scott Key Priory, and their election confirmed by Convent General of the order. There are 50 priories of the order in North America, with a membership of 3,800 persons.

Forest Wardens Continue Anxious Vigil Against Fire

Chief State Forester Henry C. Buckingham said foresters were going after all fires with full crews.

"We're digging deep troughs around all fires," he said. "People may say we're overly cautious, but with conditions as dry as they are, we can't take any chances."

Other small fires under observation included three in Garrett County and one each in Prince Georges, Calvert, Allegany, Wicomico and St. Mary's Counties.

Earlier, Buckingham said if a fire broke out in a stiff wind, he feared his crews could not control it.

The Weather Bureau said October has been the driest since 1924 so far. There has been no good, general rain in Maryland since Sept. 21.

District Forester William H. Johnson reported two small fires in Allegany and Garrett counties yesterday.

One broke out late Monday night in the Town Creek section, but was controlled by Forest Guard Thomas Dixon after it had burned over about three-quarters of an acre. Dixon said he believed the fire was of an incendiary nature.

Another, at Shallmar in Garrett County, was blamed on careless smokers. It burned about one-tenth of an acre before Forest Guard Myrl Wilt put it out.

Baltimore Pike and Bowman's Addition volunteer fire companies reported another forest blaze yesterday morning in the Christie Road section. Baltimore Pike firemen went back to the scene last night when the fire broke out a second time. It destroyed about an acre of forest.

Organized Labor Pledges Aid In Industrial Drive

Offers Fair Day's Work For Fair Wage

Leaders of Allegany County's labor unions have pledged full cooperation in the continuing drive to secure new industries for the Cumberland area.

A resolution which pledges the aid of organized labor toward all community groups working for economic growth, and particularly toward the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, was endorsed recently by some 60 top labor leaders of this area.

Ratification Slated

William G. Rice, president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America, (CIO), who served as chairman at the ratification meeting last Friday, said some of the local unions have already voted formal endorsement of the program.

Other unions, he added, are expected to authorize the resolution at their next membership meeting, and unanimous endorsement is expected within two weeks.

The resolution points out that organized labor of Allegany County appreciate, as workers, home owners, parents and citizens, the need for new and diversified industry in this area.

Organized labor of the area, through the resolution, pledged "a fair day's work for a fair day's wages" and offered full cooperation toward development agencies and any firms which are considering locating here.

Want Free Enterprise

Labor, it added, is keenly conscious of the necessity for management to operate profitably in the best tradition of American private enterprise so that the community and the country may grow.

Industrial harmony in this area, it adds, is a goal which should be maintained wherever and whenever possible.

New industries, the resolution adds, will find in the Cumberland area organized labor which will function cooperatively at the collective bargaining table and will give their full measure for full productivity, and a community where working families genuinely back, hope for and contribute to the prosperity of the industrial life of the area.

Top members of AFL, CIO, Railroad and independent unions of Allegany County were present when the resolution was unanimously endorsed, Rice said.

City Requests Complete Appraisal Of Local Flood Protection Costs

Changes In Plans To Be Discussed Here Thursday

The City of Cumberland yesterday formally requested the Corps of Engineers to prepare a complete appraisal of its obligation in connection with the completion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Project.

The request was made yesterday as officials of the Army Engineers, headed by Jack D. Burdette, chief of the Washington District's real estate division, met in City Hall with officials of Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Burdette and his delegation are in Cumberland to begin the appraisal of properties which will be needed to complete the project.

These include about 150 parcels of land, including 43 properties in Ridgeley, on which are located 42 dwellings and 12 garages, and 23 properties on the West Side of Cumberland, comprising 13 houses on Water Street and about eight on Paca Street.

Survey Slated Today

A "horseback" or gross appraisal of the value of these properties will be made today.

The city problems were pointed out by Thomas B. Finan. He said that so far property acquisition has been done without resulting in too much dislocation, but that the city is concerned with both the cost and the number of people who may be dislocated in the final phases of the flood work.

Funds to finish the work are also a problem, Finan said. He pointed out that about $1,020,000 remains of the $2,500,000 raised as the city's share of the work.

And the city is committed to replace three Wills Creek bridges at a cost of about $600,000, Finan said, and $25,000 for the approaches to the new bridge across the Potomac.

When the $370,000 estimated by the Corps of Engineers as the city's share of remaining construction costs are added, only about $30,000 remains.

Finan said the city does not know the cost of the remaining property acquisition, but that it will be "substantial."

Economies Wanted

The rough survey slated today may give a better picture of this problem.

He said the city wants to know if there can be any economies made in the future plans of the project, to keep from acquiring all of the property.

The construction picture of the work was outlined by Clarence W. Owens, Jr., of the Design department.

Meeting Set Thursday

Further details of the construction phases of the work and the possibilities of changing the design to save some of the threatened properties, will come Thursday at 1:45 p. m. when Col. Ray Adams, chief engineer, and Robert L. Wadsworth, chief of the Reports and Planning Branch of the Washington District, meet with city officials.

These Corps of Engineers officials plan to be here tomorrow to inspect the project, and will meet with city officials on the local problems.

Owens reported the next phase of the project, slated to be let next fall, would be Phase 1 of the Potomac River channel work. This would include flood walls and levees on the Ridgeley side from opposite the Potomac Edison plant to Carpenter Avenue and on the Cumberland side from Water Street to Riverside Park.

Creek Work Is Last

In response to queries as to why Wills Creek is not finished first, Owens said this would not be feasible, since the mouth of Wills Creek must be lowered before the water can flow freely.

Pumping stations, he added, will not be needed until the rest of the work is done and connections provided.

Mt. Savage Man Convicted As Criminal Appeals Heard

A number of criminal appeals were disposed of yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Dale Campbell of Mt. Savage was found guilty by Associate Judge George Henderson, of disturbing the peace and destroying private property. When he first was arraigned before Magistrate Fred Crowe in Frostburg, Campbell asked for a jury trial which resulted in the case being referred to Circuit Court. Judge Henderson did not pass sentence in the case.

In another case, Judge Henderson found Joseph McIntyre not guilty of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace in Luke. He had appealed after having been fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Carl Shaffer in Westernport.

Joseph Koelker, 214 Charles Street, was found guilty of violating his parole by being an habitual drunkard. He had appealed a decision of Magistrate Mason which gave him one year in the House of Correction. Judge Henderson did not pass sentence.

Several other cases were dismissed by the state. One of them involved Harry Francis Stewart, 65 East Main Street, Frostburg, who had been fined $25 by Magistrate Mason on a charge of exceeding 50 miles per hour while driving. Also dropped was the case against George H. Sanged, 316 Park Street, who had been fined $5 by Magistrate Mason on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Valley Street Bridge Meeting Postponed

Mayor Roy W. Eves reported yesterday that a meeting planned here Thursday with officials of the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore, has been postponed, due to the inability of company officials to attend.

The meeting was called to discuss final plans for the Valley Street Bridge.

Extradition Hearing Scheduled For Today

An extradition hearing involving Harold J. Rosenmarkle, formerly of this city, is scheduled before Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio in Columbus at 2:30 p. m. today.

Wildcat Hollow Road Injunction Signed By Judge

In another development in the Wildcat Hollow Road dispute, Associate Judge George Henderson yesterday granted a perpetual injunction ordering Mrs. Geraldine M. Messersmith and her agents not to interfere with the free use of the road by Michael H. Pryor and Margaret B. Pryor, her next-door neighbors.

Besides the injunction, Judge Henderson also signed a decree ordering Mrs. Messersmith and her agents, especially James Bonner, who boards at her house, to return the road to the same condition it was before certain illegal acts were committed on the road.

Back on September 25, Judge Henderson had filed an opinion in Circuit Court dismissing Mrs. Messersmith's bill of complaint to close the road. In that same opinion, Judge Henderson granted the Pryors' request for an injunction to allow them use of the road.

Although he decided that the Wildcat Hollow Road was not a public road, Judge Henderson did rule that the Pryors and the public had a right to use it.

Because of Judge Henderson's previous ruling that the road was not public, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher yesterday dismissed two criminal appeals brought to Circuit Court by James Bonner.

Bonner had been given a 30-day suspended jail sentence by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason on a charge that he uttered loud and profane language on a public highway. On a second charge of obstructing traffic on a public road Bonner had been fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Mason.

Methodist Young People To Attend Subdistrict Rally

Young people from 20 area Methodist churches will assemble tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at Central Methodist Church for a rally of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Cumberland Subdistrict.

Miss Peggy Dye is president and Rev. Kenneth W. Grove is adult counsellor.

A feature of this youth rally will be a pledge service for the Methodist Youth Fund. This fund represents the giving of Methodist youth to mission projects at home and abroad, as well as for activities within the Conference and local Districts.

Plans are also to be considered for the annual Booth Festival to be held in Centre Street Methodist Church sometime next month.

Will Is Probated

The will of Otto Stanley Higgins, who died May 18, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court. The document, dated February 10, 1950, left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Lucy Bell Higgins, 218 Columbia Street. She qualified as executrix of the estate under a $100 bond.

Railway Engineer Retires

J. E. Durr, of Cresaptown, (right) who has retired as a railway engineer on the Western Maryland Railway, was honored by friends and fellow employes at a party and presentation affair last night. He was presented with a set of luggage. On the left is John D. Kein, secretary-treasurer of Cumberland Local, Railroad Industrial Union; while in the center is Elmer E. Davis, national president of the organization.

Hotel Boiler Stressed At Smoke Meet

Too Much Draft Termed Trouble

A preliminary inspection of the Queen City Hotel boiler shows that its chief difficulty is too much draft, Deputy Smoke Inspector Charles F. Owens said yesterday afternoon at the Cumberland Terminal Smoke meeting in City Hall.

Owens said the opinion came from Rodney W. Selders, a mechanical engineer who is fuel combustion adviser to the Maryland Bureau of Mines. Although the boiler is 30 years old, Selders believes it is sound enough to supply power for the hotel if properly fired.

Selders and Owens will take carbon dioxide readings probably Friday and then will have definite recommendations for improving the boiler.

A Baltimore and Ohio representative at the meeting said that new pilot jets are being installed on the boiler. It was emphasized that the railroad leases the hotel to the Murphy Corporation of Chicago which employes the men who fire the boilers.

Owens stressed that the Queen City Station with its repainting has been transformed into a beautiful building. He expressed a hope that the boiler difficulties can be solved before cold weather comes so that smoke will not mar the appearance of the structure.

During the meeting, the Cumberland Terminal's first since April, reports on railroad observations were read. The September report showed 14 observations on the Western Maryland Railway and all were clear stacks.

The caution was chalked up against Engine No. 5059 on September 10. One of the two bad stacks was against Engine No. 1159, which on 16 other occasions last month had clear stacks. The other bad stack was made on Engine 6205 at a time when the locomotive was getting up steam to get back on the track after a derailment.

Owens told those attending the meeting that the big mystery he still is trying to solve is the origin of "black snow" which was reported in South Cumberland September 2 after an absence of nearly 11 months. Although seven occurrences of "black snow" were reported in 1952, there had been none since October until last month.

Harry Dixon, road foreman of engines for the Western Maryland Railway, served as acting chairman at yesterday's session. Others attending were A. E. Beckman, master mechanic; E. H. Martin, general foreman of the Bolt and Forge reclamation plant; Erich M. Scherch, shop superintendent; Frank Hotchkiss, road foreman of engines, and Walter Wheeler, shop representative, all from the B&O; Owens and Miss Ruth V. Morgan, secretary.

Grant County Teachers Given Dire Warning

Ordered To Guard Against Kidnaping

In a county wide teachers meeting at Petersburg, W. Va., County School Superintendent A. Neil Frye warned the teachers to refuse any child permission to leave the school property with any person calling at the school, unless the teacher personally knows the person calling upon the pupil.

Superintendent Frye cautioned that "even in Grant county some person or crank might try to kidnap a pupil, and we could have a similar case to the one in the midwest unless we comply with this regulation."

Later in the session the teachers split into two sections, the elementary and secondary, where they conducted workshops in the fields of Music and Language arts. The elementary teachers with Mrs. Mary Jane Glasscock as consultant from Ginn & Company publishers, devoted the morning to working out methods and manners of improving the music program in grades 1-6.

Mrs. Glasscock emphasized that even an untrained teacher in music could have a good program if she has enough interest in the field to devote her time to it. Another point stressed was the use by the pupil and teacher of the state adopted textbook in the field of music.

Two representatives from Scott, Foresman publishers acted as consultants for the secondary workshop in language arts. Miss Margaret Irwin and George Blanford pointed out that teaching reading and writing is a twelve-year program and not a four or five-year project.

"A weakness in the field of language is the fact that pupils don't understand the phoenetic symbols and therefore can't learn the word and its use", said Miss Irwin, as she mentioned to the secondary staff that it was vital that the pupils learn to understand these symbols.

The afternoon session was devoted to an address by C. D. Sions, exchange teacher returned from Ireland. Sions briefly outlined the history of Ireland, and spoke of the customs, music, habits and religion of the Irish people.

A short business session conducted by association president Harold Shaffer closed the meeting.

Luke Residents Protest High Assessments

About 10 Luke property owners presented their complaint over greatly increased assessments to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners at a special meeting yesterday afternoon.

George B. Wolfe, an electrician at the Luke mill, was chief spokesman for the group. He said the property owners in most cases have purchased their homes from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company since 1950. The plant completed the sale of these properties in about one year.

Wolfe exhibited a tax bill for 1953 showing the assessment of his property to be $1,950. A notice he received recently from the county lists the reassessment of his property at $3,550.

William H. Lemmert, president of the county commissioners, said the board promised to give full consideration to the complaint of the taxpayers.

The meeting was held after a petition with the signatures of 78 property owners in Luke was presented to the commissioners.

Instrument Company Purchases Property

The Allegany Instrument Company, Inc., has purchased property at the northeast corner of Oldtown Road and New Hampshire Avenue, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

This property was bought from William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman. The firm has been located at 1000 Oldtown Road, several blocks from the purchased property.

Another deed recorded yesterday listed the purchase of property on the north side of National Turnpike, opposite Allegany Grove, by the LaVale Baptist Church from Hugh M. Wolf and Evelyn June Wolfe. This is the property where a golf driving range has been located and is across the highway from the building presently occupied by the church. It includes a frame dwelling which will be used for a parsonage.

Popularity Of Farm Ponds In Maryland Increases In Interest Of Conservation

Farm ponds for water control, fire protection, stock watering and recreation are becoming increasingly more numerous in the Maryland countryside, according to a survey by the Committee for Conservation Now.

The best indicator of the growing pond interest is the steady increase in recent years in the number of farm ponds stocked and the number of fish supplied by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Soil conservation districts, whose U. S. Soil Conservation Service technicians help farmers with pond planning, also report increasing requests for assistance. Nearly 1,000 have been built with such help since 1937.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission records show 322 ponds with 134 acres of surface stocked with 142,016 fish in the year ending June 30, 1952. This is the most ever stocked in one year. Commission officials estimate about 20 per cent more ponds are built each year on which they don't have records.

The 1953 record compares with 175 ponds of 121 acres and 66,302 fish stocked in the year ending June 30, 1952. As of June 30, 1951, there had been 239 ponds, 32 acres and 99,233 fish; June 1950, 205 ponds, 190 acres and 104,283 fish; June 1949, 55 ponds, 61 acres and 63,000 fish; and 1948, 57 ponds, 43 acres and 23,806 fish.

Because ponds have a conservation value, conservation district technicians will help plan and lay them out. Requests for such help have been so heavy in most counties that assistance priorities have been established.

The June 30, 1953, annual record of number of ponds stocked by the Game and Inland Fish Commission by counties was:

Allegany, six; Anne Arundel, nine; Baltimore, 12; Caroline, six; Carroll, 32; Cecil, 17; Charles, four; Frederick, 73; Garrett, 19; Harford, 22; Howard, 17; Kent, 27; Montgomery, 56; Prince George's, nine; Queen Anne's, one, St. Mary's, four; and Washington, eight.

Ponds are stocked by the state under three conditions, that farmers comply with state fishing laws, that they allow a reasonable amount of public fishing at their discretion, and that they permit the removal of surplus fish when removal becomes desirable.

Tire Presidents Meet

City Requests Complete Appraisal Of Local Flood Protection Costs

Changes In Plans To Be Discussed Here Thursday

The City of Cumberland yesterday formally requested the Corps of Engineers to prepare a complete appraisal of its obligation in connection with the completion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Project.

The request was made yesterday as officials of the Army Engineers, headed by Jack D. Burdette, chief of the Washington District's real estate division, met in City Hall with officials of Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Burdette and his delegation are in Cumberland to begin the appraisal of properties which will be needed to complete the project.

These include about 150 parcels of land, including 43 properties in Ridgeley, on which are located 42 dwellings and 12 garages, and 23 properties on the West Side of Cumberland, comprising 13 houses on Water Street and about eight on Paca Street.

Survey Slated Today

A "horseback" or gross appraisal of the value of these properties will be made today.

The city problems were pointed out by Thomas B. Finan. He said that so far property acquisition has been done without resulting in too much dislocation, but that the city is concerned with both the cost and the number of people who may be dislocated in the final phases of the flood work.

Funds to finish the work are also a problem, Finan said. He pointed out that about $1,020,000 remains of the $2,500,000 raised as the city's share of the work.

And the city is committed to replace three Wills Creek bridges at a cost of about $600,000, Finan said, and $25,000 for the approaches to the new bridge across the Potomac.

When the $370,000 estimated by the Corps of Engineers as the city's share of remaining construction costs are added, only about $30,000 remains.

Finan said the city does not know the cost of the remaining property acquisition, but that it will be "substantial."

Economies Wanted

The rough survey slated today may give a better picture of this problem.

He said the city wants to know if there can be any economies made in the future plans of the project, to keep from acquiring all of the property.

The construction picture of the work was outlined by Clarence W. Owens, Jr., of the Design department.

Meeting Set Thursday

Further details of the construction phases of the work and the possibilities of changing the design to save some of the threatened properties, will come Thursday at 1:45 p. m. when Col. Ray Adams, chief engineer, and Robert L. Wadsworth, chief of the Reports and Planning Branch of the Washington District, meet with city officials.

These Corps of Engineers officials plan to be here tomorrow to inspect the project, and will meet with city officials on the local problems.

Owens reported the next phase of the project, slated to be let next fall, would be Phase 1 of the Potomac River channel work. This would include flood walls and levees on the Ridgeley side from opposite the Potomac Edison plant to Carpenter Avenue and on the Cumberland side from Water Street to Riverside Park.

Creek Work Is Last

In response to queries as to why Wills Creek is not finished first, Owens said this would not be feasible, since the mouth of Wills Creek must be lowered before the water can flow freely.

Pumping stations, he added, will not be needed until the rest of the work is done and connections provided.

3 County Masons Get 33rd Degree

Area Methodists Hear Plans For Building Drive

Bishop Oxnam Speaks At Meeting Here

The church is a fundamental part of any free and strong society, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam told Western Maryland Methodists who gathered here last night to discuss an $800,000 church-building campaign.

The bishop, who heads the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, explained the purpose of the 20-month Church Extension Crusade which will open November 15 in the Baltimore Conference.

Attending last night's meeting at Centre Street Methodist Church were representatives and other members of churches in the Hagerstown District, which includes the Cumberland Subdistrict.

To Build Seven Churches

The Baltimore Conference, said Bishop Oxnam, wants to use $200,000 of the money to be raised for the expansion and improvement of overcrowded Westminster Theological Seminary.

Seven new churches and eight parsonages are to be built and 17 sites for proposed churches are to be bought with the remaining $600,000. This would include construction of a new church at LaVale, where land already has been purchased.

Dr. F. Olen Hunt, member of the Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Church and director of the extension crusade, announced that 64 churches in the conference already have pledged $220,440.

Youth's Needs Emphasized

William Groseclose, president of the conference Methodist Youth Fellowship, declared the church is all-important to young people.

"If there are areas where there are no churches," said Groseclose, "then there will be other things in their place."

Dr. Harry C. Marsh, Hagerstown District superintendent, presided at the program. Dr. Earl Ferguson, professor at Westminster, led a responsive reading, and the Westminster Singers presented several hymns.

Other speakers were Dr. J. Luther Neff, superintendent of the Baltimore East District; Dr. Norman L. Trott, acting president of Westminster Seminary, and D. Stewart Patterson, conference lay leader. Rev. Howard M. Amoss was host pastor.

Reed, Hunter, Webster Are Elevated

Three prominent Allegany County residents are among 369 men from 33 states who yesterday were elected in Washington by the Supreme Council 33rd Degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons of the Southern jurisdiction, to receive the 33rd degree honorary.

They are Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, J. Stanley Hunter of Frostburg, industrial arts teacher at Beall High School and A. Wayne Reed, also of Frostburg, a staff member of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in Luke.

Others Honored

Another 1,065 were given the rank and decoration of knight commander of the Court of Honour.

The Southern Jurisdiction, meeting in Washington, includes the 33 states south of the Mason-Dixon line and Ohio River and west of the Mississippi River, and the territories.

Among those on whom the 33rd degree will be conferred Friday night are U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson and Rep. Errett P. Scrivner of Kansas; Secretary of Navy Robert Anderson; former Gov. William Tuck of Virginia; and John William Davis of New York, American Bar Association president.

Different Lodges

Although the three county men belong to different Masonic lodges, they all are members of the Orient Consistory of Scottish Rite and Ali Ghan Shrine.

Webster became a member of Columbia Lodge No. 58 in Frederick while he was a teacher there before coming to Allegany County. Like the other two new 33rd degree Masons, he has been a venerable master of the Scottish Rite Lodge in Cumberland.

Hunter, who joined Mountain Lodge No. 99 in Frostburg November 24, 1924, became master of that lodge in 1941. He is now a member of the board of trustees and treasurer of Mountain Lodge. Hunter also is worshipful grand standard bearer of the Grand Lodge of Maryland. He also is commander of the Council of Kadosh, composed of past venerable masters of Scottish Rite.

Reed, a past potentate of Ali Ghan Shrine, began his Masonic activities many years ago as a member of Hiram Lodge No. 103 in Westernport.

Webster, Hunter and Reed were given the rank and decoration of knight commander of the Court of Honour four years ago.

Four Others Here

As 33rd degree Masons, they will join a group of only four other local men who have attained that honor. They are City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, Dr. J. Russell Cook, dentist; Thomas E. Gilchrist, hardware store proprietor, and Harold C. Wickard, a teacher at Allegany High School.

Meanwhile, two local men have been awarded honorary degrees in the York Rite of Freemasonry.

Honored are Grant A. Wiebel, 423 Franklin Street, and Roy V. Ringler, 216 South Walnut Street, who have been awarded the designation of Knight of the York Cross of Honour, an honorary degree conferred only on those who have held the highest offices in each of the four bodies of the York Rite.

Wiebel has been master of Fort Cumberland Lodge of Masons, 1923; high priest of Salem Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, 1953; master of Salem Council, Royal and Select Masons, 1933, and commander of Antioch Commandery, Knights Templar, 1925. He also was grand commander of the Knights Templar of Maryland in 1938.

Ringler served as master of East Gate Lodge, Masons, in 1940; high priest of Salem Chapter, 1943; master of Salem Council, 1949, and commander of Antioch Commandery, 1952.

Wiebel was the 4,795th, and Ringler the 4,796th, to have received the award in the past 24 years in North America, although there are nearly four million members of the fraternity.

Both were elected to membership in the Francis Scott Key Priory, and their election confirmed by Convent General of the order. There are 50 priories of the order in North America, with a membership of 3,800 persons.

Forest Wardens Continue Anxious Vigil Against Fire

No relief from the hot, dry weather is in sight. Forecasters saw only a "possibility" of showers by the week end.

Foresters reported nine forest and brush fires burning Tuesday in the state, the largest a 5.1 acre blaze near Joppa, in Harford County.

Chief State Forester Henry C. Buckingham said foresters were going after all fires with full crews.

"We're digging deep troughs around all fires," he said. "People may say we're overly cautious, but with conditions as dry as they are, we can't take any chances."

Other small fires under observation included three in Garrett County and one each in Prince Georges, Calvert, Allegany, Wicomico and St. Mary's Counties.

Earlier, Buckingham said if a fire broke out in a stiff wind, he feared his crews could not control it.

Only a good, soaking rain can alleviate the danger to woodlands, foresters said.

The Weather Bureau said October has been the driest since 1924 so far. There has been no good, general rain in Maryland since Sept. 21.

Afternoon temperatures Tuesday were generally near or above 80 degrees, setting records for the date in several localities.

District Forester William H. Johnson reported two small fires in Allegany and Garrett counties yesterday.

One broke out late Monday night in the Town Creek section, but was controlled by Forest Guard Thomas Dixon after it had burned over about three-quarters of an acre. Dixon said he believed the fire was of an incendiary nature.

Another, at Shallmar in Garrett County, was blamed on careless smokers. It burned about one-tenth of an acre before Forest Guard Myrl Wilt put it out.

Baltimore Pike and Bowman's Addition volunteer fire companies reported another forest blaze yesterday morning in the Christie Road section. Baltimore Pike firemen went back to the scene last night when the fire broke out a second time. It destroyed about an acre of forest.

Organized Labor Pledges Aid In Industrial Drive

Offers Fair Day's Work For Fair Wage

Leaders of Allegany County's labor unions have pledged full cooperation in the continuing drive to secure new industries for the Cumberland area.

A resolution which pledges the aid of organized labor toward all community groups working for economic growth, and particularly toward the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, was endorsed recently by some 60 top labor leaders of this area.

Ratification Slated

William G. Rice, president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America, (CIO), who served as chairman at the ratification meeting last Friday, said some of the local unions have already voted formal endorsement of the program.

Other unions, he added, are expected to authorize the resolution at their next membership meeting, and unanimous endorsement is expected within two weeks.

The resolution points out that organized labor of Allegany County appreciate, as workers, home owners, parents and citizens, the need for new and diversified industry in this area.

Organized labor of the area, through the resolution, pledged "a fair day's work for a fair day's wages" and offered full cooperation toward development agencies and any firms which are considering locating here.

Want Free Enterprise

Labor, it added, is keenly conscious of the necessity for management to operate profitably in the best tradition of American private enterprise so that the community and the country may grow.

Industrial harmony in this area, it adds, is a goal which should be maintained wherever and whenever possible.

New industries, the resolution adds, will find in the Cumberland area organized labor which will function cooperatively at the collective bargaining table and will give their full measure for full productivity, and a community where working families genuinely back, hope for and contribute to the prosperity of the industrial life of the area.

Top members of AFL, CIO, Railroad and independent unions of Allegany County were present when the resolution was unanimously endorsed, Rice said.

Luke Residents Protest High Assessments

About 10 Luke property owners presented their complaint over greatly increased assessments to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners at a special meeting yesterday afternoon.

George B. Wolfe, an electrician at the Luke mill, was chief spokesman for the group. He said the property owners in most cases have purchased their homes from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company since 1950. The plant completed the sale of these properties in about one year.

Wolfe exhibited a tax bill for 1953 showing the assessment of his property to be $1,950. A notice he received recently from the county lists the reassessment of his property at $3,550.

William H. Lemmert, president of the county commissioners, said the board promised to give full consideration to the complaint of the taxpayers.

Instrument Company Purchases Property

The Allegany Instrument Company, Inc., has purchased property at the northeast corner of Oldtown Road and New Hampshire Avenue, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

This property was bought from William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman. The firm has been located at 1000 Oldtown Road, several blocks from the purchased property.

Another deed recorded yesterday listed the purchase of property on the north side of National Turnpike, opposite Allegany Grove, by the LaVale Baptist Church from Hugh M. Wolf and Evelyn June Wolfe. This is the property where a golf driving range has been located and is across the highway from the building presently occupied by the church. It includes a frame dwelling which will be used for a parsonage.

Popularity Of Farm Ponds In Maryland Increases In Interest Of Conservation

Farm ponds for water control, fire protection, stock watering and recreation are becoming increasingly more numerous in the Maryland countryside, according to a survey by the Committee for Conservation Now.

The best indicator of the growing pond interest is the steady increase in recent years in the number of farm ponds stocked and the number of fish supplied by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Soil conservation districts, whose U. S. Soil Conservation Service technicians help farmers with pond planning, also report increasing requests for assistance. Nearly 1,000 have been built with such help since 1937.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission records show 322 ponds with 134 acres of surface stocked with 142,016 fish in the year ending June 30, 1952. This is the most ever stocked in one year. Commission officials estimate about 20 per cent more ponds are built each year on which they don't have records.

The 1953 record compares with 175 ponds of 121 acres and 66,302 fish stocked in the year ending June 30, 1952. As of June 30, 1951, there had been 239 ponds, 32 acres and 99,233 fish; June 1950, 205 ponds, 190 acres and 104,283 fish; June 1949, 55 ponds, 61 acres and 63,000 fish; and 1948, 57 ponds, 43 acres and 23,806 fish.

Because ponds have a conservation value, conservation district technicians will help plan and lay them out. Requests for such help have been so heavy in most counties that assistance priorities have been established.

The June 30, 1953, annual record of number of ponds stocked by the Game and Inland Fish Commission by counties was:

Allegany, six; Anne Arundel, nine; Baltimore, 12; Caroline, six; Carroll, 32; Cecil, 17; Charles, four; Frederick, 73; Garrett, 19; Harford, 22; Howard, 17; Kent, 27; Montgomery, 56; Prince George's, nine; Queen Anne's, one, St. Mary's, four; and Washington, eight.

Ponds are stocked by the state under three conditions, that farmers comply with state fishing laws, that they allow a reasonable amount of public fishing at their discretion, and that they permit the removal of surplus fish when removal becomes desirable.
